Commander John Rodgers, good sailor, says commercial aviation should have strong government backing and a subsidy.

Grant the subsidy by all means, if needed, but it won't be needed, for men that make things go are now interested.

Ford is manufacturing planes and in New York, Rodman Wanamaker, in his big store, began last week retailing Ford flying machines at $25,000 apiece, first come, first served, with every prospect of lower prices later.

Mr. Wanamaker will hang on to the Ford flying machine business. His store had, long years ago, the exclusive agency for Ford automobiles, just starting in all New Jersey, Long Island, New York City and a great part of New York state. But automobiles took up much space, so the agency was dropped.

What do you think that agency would be worth today? Ten million dollars a year would not buy it.

Nathan Straus owned a hotel that didn't pay. He said afterwards: "If anybody offered the finest hotel in the world for nothing I would insult him."

Mr. Wanamaker probably would say: "If anybody offered at any price to buy my Ford flying machine business from me I would insult him."

The learned ladies of Smith college seek to "co-ordinate women's interests". In other words, they want "to reconcile a normal life of marriage and motherhood with a life of intellectual activity, professional or otherwise."

What trouble is there about such a reconciliation? Intellectual activity stimulates the brain and the woman with the best brain has the best children.

An intelligent woman in professional life can give children affection which is more important than food. She can let somebody else do the cooking and wash the clothes just as well.

Every woman ought to have children and every woman ought to have an intellectual life.

No woman ought to work merely

NO PROBE OF BOAT DISASTER

MELBOURNE, Fla., Oct. 13.—Dispensing with an inquest on the grounds that blame for the disaster could not be placed on any one's shoulders, authorities today superintended the placing of 12 victims of the capsized Clara B aboard a train and sent them to their respective homes.

Fishermen and members of the coast guard still were searching early today for two missing members of the party that went down when the pleasure launch was turned over by giant breakers near Sebastian inlet Sunday afternoon.

M'KECHNIE'S MEN HOPE TO REPEAT YESTERDAY'S VICTORY OVER SENATORS

Ray Kremer Will Do Mound Duty for Fighting Pirates, While Manager "Bucky" Harris Will Use Either Ferguson or Reuther In Attempt to End Classic Today.

JOHNSON'S INJURED LEG MAY DISABLE HIM FOR REMAINDER OF SERIES

Betting Odds Favor Washington 5 to 4 for Series With Even Money On Tuesday's Clash — Capacity Crowd of 45,000 Pack Stands—Scalpers Reap Harvest.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

FORBES FIELD, PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13.—The game that will win or lose the world series, the money game of the entire proposition, found the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Washington Senators fighting like a pair of strange bulldogs over a bone this afternoon.

It was the sixth game of the series. There was a strong under current of sentiment which said that the club which won today was the club which would win the Scotch cakes.

This perforce, held true in the case of the Senators. They started the day with three victories against two defeats and needed only one more game to fall heir to their second championship in as many years.

In the case of the Pirates, all that was necessary was to win today and then turn around and repeat tomorrow. This was tantamount to saying that it will be an exceedingly fine day if it doesn't rain.

Speaking of rain, there was none. The sun was round, as usual, and the temperature quite mellow. The field, however, was a trifle heavy from yesterday's rain.

Johnson May Be Done.

It was considerably heavier than Stanley Harris' supply of pitchers. This was the reason that most of the boys figured that defeat for the Senators today meant defeat in the series. Walter Johnson, who was expected to pitch the seventh and final game, if any, has bogged down with a torn muscle and the last word on his condition was that he was through for the series.

This meant that either Dutch Ruether or Alex Ferguson would pitch today, and, in all probability, a prominent bootblack, or some such, tomorrow if tomorrow ever comes.

Reuther was the logical choice today, in spite of the fact that the Pirates are rather fond of left handers and Dutch is left-handed exactly twenty-four hours a day. He is a fine money pitcher, however, and Ferguson is not or, at least, wasn't ten minutes ago.

Pittsburgh on Edge.

The return of the series to Pittsburgh had the entire town on mental tip toe again. As the Cub reporter said, there was much excitement but one could learn nothing.

The odds were five to four on Washington and even money was the price on today's game.

Another capacity crowd of 45,000 stepped out for the occasion, ticket scalpers raising a golden harvest. Some of them got as much as $25 for a single seat, which was about $23.75 more than their Washington colleagues collected yesterday, if at all. The latter were left holding the well-known bag and it was quite empty.

The Pirates came on the field at 12:30 and Kremer took his place in the batting practice. The Pirates did a lot of free hitting with Culloton serving them up and seemed to be in possession of their collective goat for the first time in several days.

Dies In Automobile.

BRICKLAYER IS HURT IN FALL

James Riley, 28, Moore Street Removed to City Hospital.

James Riley, 28, Moore street, bricklayer, is confined in the City hospital as a result of internal injuries received yesterday when he fell through a floor on a building along the Lincoln highway, on which he was working.

Riley, it is stated, missed his footing and dropped to the floor below where he was wedged between two heavy pieces of timber. He was rushed to the hospital where he was attended by Dr. A. J. Michaels.

His condition is not believed serious.

JEWEL ROBBERS BEING SOUGHT

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Thieves who made a careful study of the movements of Domingo Merry Del Val, diplomatic messenger of King Alfonso of Spain, were believed today to have been the raiders who looted his apartment of $50,000 worth of jewels and decorations during a holiday absence in the country.

Merry Del Val is a brother of the cardinal, secretary of state to Pope Pius and a brother of the Spanish ambassador to Great Britain. He discovered his loss, which included several valuable decorations from European rulers, on his return last night from his country visit.

His loss included diamond ornamented personal jewelry as well as the insignia of a commander of the order of the British empire and the order of St. Isabella the Catholic queen, the highest Spanish decoration.

PASTORS MEET TODAY TO AIR CHARGE AGAINST REV. J. L. SHAW

Presbytery Seeks to Expel Former Toronto Minister.

WELL KNOWN HERE

Predict That Complaint Will Be Referred to Committee.

Rev. J. Lyle Shaw, former pastor of the First United Presbyterian church of Toronto, who began his evangelistic career in East Liverpool just two years ago, was present at the fall meeting of the Steubenville Presbytery at the Grant's Hill church, five miles southwest of Salineville today, ready to defend himself against charges filed against him by the Cleveland Presbytery of the United Presbyterian church.

Rev. Mr. Shaw, who has been conducting revival meetings in Cleveland for about a year and one half, is charged with following "a policy contrary to the peace, good order and reputation of the United Presbyterian church" in connection with his faith healing activities. Inasmuch as he is a member of the Steubenville Presbytery, the charges were filed with that organization.

Rev. Shaw Attends Meeting.

The Presbytery met at 10 o'clock this morning and indications before the opening of the meeting were that a committee would be named to investigate the charges, filed at Cleveland, before the Presbytery is asked to pass upon the status of the former Toronto minister.

Rev. Mr. Shaw was present at today's meeting, ready to defend himself, should the charges be brought to the floor of the Presbytery. A committee of three pastors from the Cleveland Presbytery made up of Rev. O. A. Keach of the First church, Akron; Rev. J. W. Giffin of the First Church, Cleveland and Rev. W. H. Hubbell of

Church Council to Name Officers at Columbus Meeting

COLUMBUS, Oct. 13.—Election of officers and submission of committee report featured today's program at the annual meeting here of the Ohio council of churches. A two day session of the women's department with Mrs. Dan F. Bradley, Cleveland, presiding, opened this afternoon.

A movement looking to the re-election of H. S. Firestone, Akron, as president appeared to be gaining headway despite the fact that Firestone, who has served three years in his capacity, announced he did not desire the election.

A constitutional amendment, just adopted admits women in the council on an equal basis with the men.

RUSH TROOPS TO PANAMA CITY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—American troops were rushed to Panama City to quell disorders that arose over rents being charged by landlords, Maj. Gen. William Lassiter, commanding general in the Canal zone, reported today to the war department.

CRITICISM OF NATION'S AVIATION POLICY DRAWS REPLY FROM ARMY HEAD

SAYS "DOUGH-BOY" WON WORLD WAR

Testifies That All Army Organizations are Under-Manned Because of Economy Policy Which Has Been Put Into Effect.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13. — Voicing the war department's official reply to criticism of its present military aviation policy, Brig. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, assistant chief of staff, today denounced before the president's air board all proposals for a separated air service as certain to bring a crushing defeat to America in her next war.

Drum spoke for the war department, as his statement was prepared in advance by the general staff as a rebuttal to the two weeks' testimony given the board by army and navy fliers. He flayed the proposals both of Colonel Billy Mitchell, stormy petrel of the army air service, and of General Mason M. Patrick, as "a jumble of ideas," unsound in strategical value, worthless to the national defense and intended only to give aviators more special privileges, higher pay and quicker promotion than go to America's other fighting units.

Infantry Won War.

MEXICAN ACTRESS TO REMAIN HERE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13. — "After careful consideration," it was announced at the department of labor today, immigration authorities will "take no action" in the complaint filed with them that Senorita Gloria Faure, an actress of Mexico City, accompanied Alberto J. Pani, Mexican minister of finance, into the United States.

The Mexican finance minister is now in New York on a mission for his government with American bankers. He arrived there two weeks ago on his private car Hidalgo, which also, according to the complaint, carried Senorita Faure.

TWO KILLED AS AUTO IS WRECKED

LAKELAND, Fla., Oct. 13.—Two persons were instantly killed and two others seriously injured when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by an Atlantic Coast Line freight train at Ruskin, near Sun City, today. The car was destroyed by fire following the smash.

The dead: Miss Mattie Riles of Sarasota, and Earl Warren of St. Petersburg.

Miss Thelma Woods and Terry Joyner, both of Ellington, were seriously injured, and it was said in a Tama hospital today that Joyner's injuries may prove fatal.

Woman Killed in Fall.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—In an effort to obtain fresh air Mrs. Elsie Nieve, aged 31, leaned too far from a fifth story window at her home in the Bronx and fell into the courtyard below and was instantly killed.

Dentists Disagree Over Advisability Of Teeth Extraction

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—To pull or not to pull.

That was the question, and over 2,000 dentists listened as Dr. Weston A. Price, of Cleveland, and Dr. John P. Buckley, of Hollywood, Cal., argued the proposition with an ardor which made the convention of dentists appear more like a national political convention last night.

Dr. Price insists that all pulpless teeth should be extracted, while Dr. Buckley accuses Dr. Price of being responsible for the "criminal and ridiculous" practice of doing so. As a result some dentists will continue the practice of extraction, while others will follow the advice of Dr. Buckley and merely sterilze them.

ROTARY CLUB HEARS WELLS

Pottery Manufacturer Discusses "Business Ethics" at Meet.

Questioning the right of criticism, if any, of the nation's business men, and big business especially, and pointing out the great draft of laws and regulations designed annually as hobbles for the feet of aggressive business leaders, which, in some measure, are responsible for a considerable portion of this criticism, W. E. Wells, secretary-treasurer of the Homer Laughlin China company, endeavored to list some of the American business man's problems as well as his duties and obligations, in a short talk on "Business Ethics" today at the noon luncheon meeting of the Rotary club at the Y. M. C. A.

President F. L. Wells was in charge of the meeting. He announced that District Governor Leonard Skeggs, who originally had been scheduled to speak to East Liverpool Rotarians today, at the last moment had been called to the western part of the district, and, as a result, was unable to fill the engagement. However, District Governor Skeggs has arranged to appear here on Dec 1, when B. J. Ross will be chairman.

Club singing was lead by Blaine Cochran, accompanied by Mrs. Danks Cochran.

"Within the past 30 or 40 years," said W. E. Wells, "there has been as much of an advance in the conduct of business as there has been in the evo-

ARMY AIR BRIGADE MOVES TO CAPITAL

MITCHELL FIELD, N. Y., Oct. 13.—Movement of the first air brigade of the army air service to Washington started today.

The third attack group, composed of fifteen planes from Kelly Field, San Antonio, under command of Captain George Davison, took off at 8:30.

Other attack groups left later.

The brigade, the first in the history of United States aviation, was formed here and its first maneuvers will be held over Washington. Later today the brigade will go to Langley Field, Va., where it will carry out a series of maneuvers over Chesapeake bay during the next few days.

WEEKS RESIGNS CABINET POST; DWIGHT DAVIS HIS SUCCESSOR

Massachusetts Man Retires Because of Ill Health.

AT LAST MEETING

Davis, Mellon, Hoover Only Harding Appointees Remaining.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—John W. Weeks, stepped out of the cabinet today and Dwight F. Davis of Missouri, stepped in as the new secretary of war.

Formal announcement of Weeks' resignation because of ill health and the appointment of Davis as his successor was made at the White House confirming a cabinet shift that had long been anticipated in the capital.

Davis has been secretary of war in everything but name for nearly six months. He assumed the duties of acting secretary last spring when a nearly fatal attack of illness compeled Weeks to leave Washington.

Native of St. Louis.

The retirement of Secretary Weeks, after five and one-half years of service, leaves only three members of the original Harding cabinet still in office—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, Secretary of Commerce Hoover, and Secretary of Labor Davis. Death and resignation have claimed the rest.

The new secretary is a native of St. Louis, aged 46 years old. He held many quasi-public posts in St. Louis prior to his entrance into the official life of Washington several years ago as a member of the war finance corporation. His name is indelibly linked with tennis as the donor of the famous Davis international cup.

Secretary Weeks attended his last cabinet meeting at the White House today and made his farewells in person. His resignation was already in Mr. Coolidge's hands, effective immediately.

Weeks plans to depart soon on a trip to South America. He has been warned by his physician to give up business entirely.

Youthful Slayer Attributes Crime To Use of Liquor

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 13. — Fifteen-year-old Joseph Boworski, confined to a cell in the county jail awaiting sentence for the murder of Walter Kowalski, 20, today attributed his crime to liquor.

"I had been drinking with some friends," the boy declared. "They showed me a new revolver and later I left the party without returning the weapon. After that, all is vague in my memory. I met Kowalski and remember having trouble with him. I was struck several times, but do not recall the shooting."

The boy pleaded guilty to a second degree murder charge. Sentence will be passed next Friday, it being the first time in criminal court history here that a boy of Borowski's age paid the penalty for murder.

Gliding Records Broken.

FEODOSIA, Russia, Oct. 13. — A world record for gliding, bettering by three times the former mark, was set today by the German pilot, Nehring, when he traveled 24 kilometers, 400 meters, or better than 15 miles, in his engineless glider.

This is the best mark made at the international gliding tournament under way here.

BY KATHARINE BRUSH.

(Special to Review-Tribune.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—President Coolidge left this afternoon's ball game sometime during the second inning. Perhaps he didn't want to see the Senators beaten. Then again, perhaps he had some little chore or other to do up at the White House. Whatever his reasons, he proved conclusively that the newspapers have not misled us; ours is indeed a calm, collected president. Any man who can voluntarily rise from his seat when a breathless ball game like that one is yet in the bloom of its youth, can be depended on not to let anything under the sun excite him.

The rest of the 35,000 spectators wouldn't have left for anything short of sudden death, in the family and I venture to say that some of the more rabid ones would have remained on even then, on the theory that dead is dead and can wait an hour or two. The Pirates, gleeful, and the Senators, not anywhere nearly so gleeful as they were at this time yesterday, hurried through the necessary showers and packing and rushed to the station to take a 6 o'clock train back to Pittsburgh again. Newspaper scribes and fans leave on the special trains between 10 and 11 o'clock tonight.

Here are the notes I scribbled during the game. If you won't forgive me for their deficiencies, it's simply because you weren't at this game.

Quarter of two! Let's see who I can see from this aerial bower wherein the press are situated. There's Bucky Harris' proud mother and his brother, Muriel Harris, with his wife in a box beside the Senators dugout. They've been there every day since the games in Washington started, and near them Mrs. Walter Johnson, in a blue hat and a coonskin coat. I just heard today that she is the daughter of ex-Congressman Roberts of Nevada.

Coolidge must be coming. The box where he sits on the rare occasions when he favors baseball with his presence is decked in red, white and blue. Soon, we'll hear the bugles blow, announcing his appearance.

Coolidge Arrives.

Here is the army band from the Washington barracks and playing ragtime. There seem to be more women fans at these Washington ball games than there were at Pittsburgh. Maybe that's because there are about four women to every man in Washington. All the government workers are women and how they can shriek. They make the Washington cheering soprano where the Pittsburgh was more or less bass. The players have removed the black arm bands they wore for three days in memory of the departed Matty.

Here comes Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge, and up rush the camera men to snap them as they sit down. Mrs. Coolidge wears a big black picture hat very attractive, smiles and bows. Again the president throws the first ball. His pitching arm isn't exactly what you could call Johnsonian.

And now the game begins. Wild howls from the Washington rooters, who firmly believe it will be the last game of the series.

The press stand is half way to heaven and covered with a lot of chicken wire. I'm glad it is not being one of these fans who were so anxious to get a world series ball to hand down to posterity that they're willing to risk getting hit right smack in the eye.

The man who announces the batteries has a voice that sounds the way I think the voice of doom is going to sound. The Pittsburgh contingent hopes it is the voice of doom to the Senators when it yells that Victor Aldridge is going to pitch. To the victor belongs the spoils—but will he get them?

First inning ends with score one to nothing favor of Washington. These capitol fans have good lungs, haven't they? There's a terrible clatter of typewriters and telegraph instruments in the press stand all around me. It breaks out after half inning like the talk at a family dinner after the blessing is said.

And a radio announcer sits in the row in front with an assistant beside him and jots down suggestions on slips of paper and pastes them to his hat. You have to have a quick eye and ready wit to be a radio announcer. And I bet they see a million ears in their nightmares. Smith, the Pirate catcher, full of little tricks to annoy his enemies. Goslin at bat swings so hard he falls down, and Smith counts over him like the referee of a fight.

Carey Knocked Out.

There is stuffy McInnes at first base. His appearance in the world series is the first, so far. Bluege comes to bat and gets a tremendous hand. Why shouldn't he? He escaped eternal sleep the other day. Ray Chapman, of Cleveland, died of a blow inflicted just two inches from the spot where Aldridge's smoke ball hit Bluege. And he is back in the game again.

Speaking of accidents, Carey of the Pirates steals a base, in making it is knocked out. He lies prone on second and for some moments is to be seen only as a prostrate figure among a thicket of stocky red and blue legs. There, he's getting up. Atta, boy.

Pittsburgh makes two runs in the first of the third, not much noise from the stands. You certainly can tell which town this is. There goes Mr. Coolidge home again. Wonder who marcels Bucy Harris' hair?

Ring Lardner, typewriting madly, three rows down in the press stand, and there's McGowan, the American league umpire, whose writing play-by-play stories of the game. Looks worried and why not? His wife was knocked unconscious in a taxi smash this morning.

I'd like one of the red and black Pirate sweaters myself. The Washington rooters aren't content with mere voices and hands to signify appreciation. They have tin whistles and little cow bells. Perfect uproar whenever any Washington man does anything.

Don't think they show very good

SURRENDER

The Story Of A Girl Who Dared

By Edgar Poe Norris

CHAPTER 67.

Home, sweet home! Amoura stood at the French windows which exposed her bedroom to the warm rays of the sun that dressed the Ainsley mansion in Westland in a ruddy hue in the late afternoon. The sun was ridding the valley and the western slope of Indian Hill of the haze a rain had brought a few hours before. A window was opened slightly, and she could drink in the cool, invigorating, rain-washed air as she rinsed with the glass as her crystal. She hadn't come home with the intention of staying, but she wasn't so sure that she could go back to Chicago. She had retained the apartment in Apple Tree Road, and paid a month's rent in advance, but she doubted now if she would ever live in it again. What was she going to do now? She didn't want to think. But why worry?"

There was a rap at the door. Her sister, without waiting for a response, entered. "Why, Amoura, why aren't you in bed?"

Cynthia regarded her sister's straight, clean cut body, silhouetted by the light in a lovely boudoir gown of yellow printed over with Pompadour bouquets in bright colors.

"Oh, I am all right. It was silly of mother to make me go to bed. I just laid there with my eyes wide open. I slept all day yesterday.'

Amoura crossed the room and curled up on a chaise-lounge faced with her favorite color, pale lavender.

Cecilia followed her and took a chair. "Papa is talking mother into taking a South American trip with you and Robert and me. . . . Brazil and Argentina and Peru and Panama and Siam."

Amoura rendered mock applause. "What a head you have for geography, Cecie! Only Siam is in Asia."

Her sister's lip curled. "It is apparent that you haven't learned how to be agreeable. I thought these experiences of yours would get some of the wool out of your head, but I might have known better than to entertain such a hope."

"Cecie, you're still a little, a little—.' Amoura held up her hands in despair, without feeling it.

"Oh, why can't you behave like a lady sometime! You're nothing but a barbarian—."

The door opened and Mrs. J. Reginald Ainsley entered. Her ears caught Cecilia's last words. "That is enough, daughter! You ought to realize—."

Amour interrupted. "Oh, I'm all right, mother. If she wants to fight, let her.

Cecilia's face flushed. "Mother, she—.'

"That's enough! you two are still children. You're the same today as you were ten years ago. When are you going to grow up?"

Cecilia, sulking over a rebuke she deemed unjustifiable, left the room.

"Mother, I didn't—," Amoura tried to explain.

Mrs. Reginald silenced her with an upraised hand. "You must be quiet and rest yourself.'

"I'm perfectly all right, now, mother. Really, I am. I think I'll dress and go for a ride on good old Prince."

"I would not venture out, Amoura. Everyone will be gawking at you. All sorts of curious persons have been coming around all day. And the reporters were about to drive me crazy until your father instructed Filkins to refuse admittance to every one."

"Oh! I suppose it will be impossible for me to go anywhere now."

"You needn't worry about that. Your father is arranging a South American trip for us. Did Cecilia tell you? By the time we return all this will be forgotten."

"Is FATHER going?"

Mrs. J. Reginald's composure was slightly ruffled by Amoura's eyes. What did her daughter know? What had Reginald gotten into in Chicago?

"I imagine he is; I understood him to say so." She did not meet Amoura's eyes as she replied.

"I just wondered," her daughter responded, indifferently. Then, after a pause: "I don't think I'll go, mother."

The elder woman stirred uncomfortably. "I think, Amoura,' she said, endeavoring to be biting, "that you have had ADVENTURES enough. Surely you don't intend to add more acts to this farce."

A reply was on Amoura's tongue, but she forebore speaking it, and switched the subject: "Is Philip still rushing the Reagan girl?"

"I'm sure I don't know. He has been in New York for weeks, some one said. The day after we got the news about you, we received a telegram from him in New York, asking if there was any way he could aid us. I suppose your father forgot to wire an acknowledgement and thang him—your father is so forgetful."

"Good old Phil! Westland is unchanged, except for one thing. I miss having Phil underfoot. . . . I wonder if I'm in love with him after all?" She laughed.

Mrs. J. Reginald regarded Amoura without answering. She was beginning to feel a little resentful toward her daughter for causing her so much worry and discomfort. For days Mrs. Ainsley, whose whole life had been spent in retaining her stiff composure, had been completely unpossessed, worrying while the world sought her kidnaped daughter. This experience had left her with a feeling that she was bereft of her dignity, and therefore, nude.

Commander John Rodgers, good sailor, says commercial aviation should have strong government backing and a subsidy.

Grant the subsidy by all means, if needed, but it won't be needed, for men that make things go are now interested.

Ford is manufacturing planes and in New York, Rodman Wanamaker, in his big store, began last week retailing Ford flying machines at $25,000 apiece, first come, first served, with every prospect of lower prices later.

Mr. Wanamaker will hang on to the Ford flying machine business. His store had, long years ago, the exclusive agency for Ford automobiles, just starting in all New Jersey, Long Island, New York City and a great part of New York state. But automobiles took up much space, so the agency was dropped.

What do you think that agency would be worth today? Ten million dollars a year would not buy it.

Nathan Straus owned a hotel that didn't pay. He said afterwards: "If anybody offered the finest hotel in the world for nothing I would insult him."

Mr. Wanamaker probably would say: "If anybody offered at any price to buy my Ford flying machine business from me I would insult him."

The learned ladies of Smith college seek to "co-ordinate women's interests". In other words, they want "to reconcile a normal life of marriage and motherhood with a life of intellectual activity, professional or otherwise."

What trouble is there about such a reconciliation? Intellectual activity stimulates the brain and the woman with the best brain has the best children.

An intelligent woman in professional life can give children affection which is more important than food. She can let somebody else do the cooking and wash the clothes just as well.

Every woman ought to have children and every woman ought to have an intellectual life.

No woman ought to work merely

NO PROBE OF BOAT DISASTER

MELBOURNE, Fla., Oct. 13.—Dispensing with an inquest on the grounds that blame for the disaster could not be placed on any one's shoulders, authorities today superintended the placing of 12 victims of the capsized Clara B aboard a train and sent them to their respective homes.

Fishermen and members of the coast guard still were searching early today for two missing members of the party that went down when the pleasure launch was turned over by giant breakers near Sebastian inlet Sunday afternoon.

M'KECHNIE'S MEN HOPE TO REPEAT YESTERDAY'S VICTORY OVER SENATORS

JOHNSON'S INJURED LEG MAY DISABLE HIM FOR REMAINDER OF SERIES

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

FORBES FIELD, PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13.—The game that will win or lose the world series, the money game of the entire proposition, found the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Washington Senators fighting like a pair of strange bulldogs over a bone this afternoon.

It was the sixth game of the series. There was a strong under current of sentiment which said that the club which won today was the club which would win the Scotch cakes.

This perforce, held true in the case of the Senators. They started the day with three victories against two defeats and needed only one more game to fall heir to their second championship in as many years.

In the case of the Pirates, all that was necessary was to win today and then turn around and repeat tomorrow. This was tantamount to saying that it will be an exceedingly fine day if it doesn't rain.

Speaking of rain, there was none. The sun was round, as usual, and the temperature quite mellow. The field, however, was a trifle heavy from yesterday's rain.

Johnson May Be Done.

It was considerably heavier than Stanley Harris' supply of pitchers. This was the reason that most of the boys figured that defeat for the Senators today meant defeat in the series. Walter Johnson, who was expected to pitch the seventh and final game, if any, has bogged down with a torn muscle and the last word on his condition was that he was through for the series.

This meant that either Dutch Ruether or Alex Ferguson would pitch today, and, in all probability, a prominent bootblack, or some such, tomorrow if tomorrow ever comes.

Reuther was the logical choice today, in spite of the fact that the Pirates are rather fond of left handers and Dutch is left-handed exactly twenty-four hours a day. He is a fine money pitcher, however, and Ferguson is not or, at least, wasn't ten minutes ago.

Pittsburgh on Edge.

The return of the series to Pittsburgh had the entire town on mental tip toe again. As the Cub reporter said, there was much excitement but one could learn nothing.

The adds were five to four on Washington and even money was the price on today's game.

Another capacity crowd of 45,000 stepped out for the occasion, ticket scalpers raising a golden harvest. Some of them got as much as $25 for a single seat, which was about $23.75 more than their Washington colleagues collected yesterday, if at all. The latter were left holding the well known bag and it was quite empty.

The Pirates came on the field at 12:30 and Kremer took his place in the batting practice. The Pirates did a lot of free hitting with Culloton serving them up and seemed to be in possession of their collective goat for the first time in several days.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Former Deputy Police Commissioner James E. Dillon was found dead at the wheel of his automobile early today. Heart failure is believed to have caused his death.

BRICKLAYER IS HURT IN FALL

James Riley, 28, Moore Street Removed to City Hospital.

James Riley, 28, Moore street, bricklayer, is confined in the City hospital as a result of internal injuries received yesterday when he fell through a floor on a building along the Lincoln highway, on which he was working.

Riley, it is stated, missed his footing and dropped to the floor below where he was wedged between two heavy pieces of timber. He was rushed to the hospital where he was attended by Dr. A. J. Michaels.

His condition is not believed serious.

JEWEL ROBBERS BEING SOUGHT

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Thieves who made a careful study of the movements of Domingo Merry Del Val, diplomatic messenger of King Alfonso of Spain, were believed today to have been the raiders who looted his apartment of $50,000 worth of jewels and decorations during a holiday absence in the country.

Merry Del Val is a brother of the cardinal, secretary of state to Pope Pius and a brother of the Spanish ambassador to Great Britain. He discovered his loss, which included several valuable decorations from European rulers, on his return last night from his country visit.

His loss included diamond ornamented personal jewelry as well as the insignia of a commander of the order of the British empire and the order of St. Isabella the Catholic queen, the highest Spanish decoration.

PASTORS MEET TODAY TO AIR CHARGE AGAINST REV. J. L. SHAW

Presbytery Seeks to Expel Former Toronto Minister.

WELL KNOWN HERE

Predict That Complaint Will Be Referred to Committee.

Rev. J. Lyle Shaw, former pastor of the First United Presbyterian church of Toronto, who began his evangelistic career in East Liverpool just two years ago, was present at the fall meeting of the Steubenville Presbytery at the Grant's Hill church, five miles southwest of Salineville today, ready to defend himself against charges filed against him by the Cleveland Presbytery of the United Presbyterian church.

Rev. Mr. Shaw, who has been conducting revival meetings in Cleveland for about a year and one half, is charged with following "a policy contrary to the peace, good order and reputation of the United Presbyterian church" in connection with his faith healing activities. Inasmuch as he is a member of the Steubenville Presbytery, the charges were filed with that organization.

Rev. Shaw Attends Meeting.

The Presbytery met at 10 o'clock this morning and indications before the opening of the meeting were that a committee would be named to investigate the charges, filed at Cleveland, before the Presbytery is asked to pass upon the status of the former Toronto minister.

Rev. Mr. Shaw was present at today's meeting, ready to defend himself, should the charges be brought to the floor of the Presbytery. A committee of three pastors from the Cleveland Presbytery made up of Rev. O. A. Keach of the First church, Akron; Rev. J. W. Giffin of the First Church, Cleveland and Rev. W. H. Hubbell of COLUMBUS, Oct. 13.—Election of officers and submission of committee report featured today's program at the annual meeting here of the Ohio council of churches. A two day session of the women's department with Mrs. Dan F. Bradley, Cleveland, presiding, opened this afternoon.

A movement looking to the re-election of H. S. Firestone, Akron, as president appeared to be gaining headway despite the fact that Firestone, who has served three years in his capacity, announced he did not desire the election.

A constitutional amendment, just adopted admits women in the council on an equal basis with the men.

SAYS "DOUGH-BOY" WON WORLD WAR

Testifies That All Army Organizations are Under-Manned Because of Economy Policy Which Has Been Put Into Effect.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13. — Voicing the war department's official reply to criticism of its present military aviation policy, Brig. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, assistant chief of staff, today denounced before the president's air board all proposals for a separated air service as certain to bring a crushing defeat to America in her next war.

Drum spoke for the war department, as his statement was prepared in advance by the general staff as a rebuttal to the two weeks' testimony given the board by army and navy fliers. He flayed the proposals both of Colonel Billy Mitchell, stormy petrel of the army air service, and of General Mason M. Patrick, as "a jumble of ideas," unsound in strategical value, worthless to the national defense and intended only to give aviators more special privileges, higher pay and quicker promotion than go to America's other fighting units.

Infantry Won War.

MEXICAN ACTRESS TO REMAIN HERE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13. — "After careful consideration," it was announced at the department of labor today, immigration authorities will "take no action" in the complaint filed with them that Senorita Gloria Faure, an actress of Mexico City, accompanied Alberto J. Pani, Mexican minister of finance, into the United States.

The Mexican finance minister is now in New York on a mission for his government with American bankers. He arrived there two weeks ago on his private car Hidalgo, which also, according to the complaint, carried Senorita Faure.

TWO KILLED AS AUTO IS WRECKED

LAKELAND, Fla., Oct. 13.—Two persons were instantly killed and two others seriously injured when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by an Atlantic Coast Line freight train at Ruskin, near Sun City, today. The car was destroyed by fire following the smash.

The dead: Miss Mattie Riles of Sarasota, and Earl Warren of St. Petersburg.

Miss Thelma Woods and Terry Joyner, both of Ellington, were seriously injured, and it was said in a Tama hospital today that Joyner's injuries may prove fatal.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—In an effort to obtain fresh air Mrs. Elsie Nieve, aged 31, leaned too far from a fifth story window at her home in the Bronx and fell into the courtyard below and was instantly killed.

Dentists Disagree Over Advisability Of Teeth Extraction

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—To pull or not to pull.

That was the question, and over 2,000 dentists listened as Dr. Weston A. Price, of Cleveland, and Dr. John P. Buckley, of Hollywood, Cal., argued the proposition with an ardor which made the convention of dentists appear more like a national political convention last night.

Dr. Price insists that all pulpless teeth should be extracted, while Dr. Buckley accuses Dr. Price of being responsible for the "criminal and ridiculous" practice of doing so. As a result some dentists will continue the practice of extraction, while others will follow the advice of Dr. Buckley and merely sterilze them.

ROTARY CLUB HEARS WELLS

Pottery Manufacturer Discusses "Business Ethics" at Meet.

Questioning the right of criticism, if any, of the nation's business men, and big business especially, and relating out the great draft of laws and regulations designed ostensibly as hobbles for the feet of aggressive business leaders, which, in some measure, are responsible for a considerable portion of this criticism, W. E. Wells, secretary-treasurer of the Homer Laughlin China company, endeavored to list some of the American business man's problems as well as his duties and obligations, in a short talk on "Business Ethics" today at the noon luncheon meeting of the Rotary club at the Y. M. C. A.

President F. L. Wells was in charge of the meeting. He announced that District Governor Leonard Skeggs, who originally had been scheduled to speak to East Liverpool Rotarians today, at the last moment had been called to the western part of the district, and, as a result, was unable to fill the engagement. However, District Governor Skeggs has arranged to appear here on Dec 1, when B. J. Ross will be chairman.

Club singing was lead by Blaine Cochran, accompanied by Mrs. Danks Cochran.

"Within the past 30 or 40 years," said W. E. Wells, "there has been as much of an advance in the conduct of business as there has been in the evo-

ARMY AIR BRIGADE MOVES TO CAPITAL

MITCHELL FIELD, N. Y., Oct. 13.—Movement of the first air brigade of the army air service to Washington started today.

The third attack group, composed of fifteen planes from Kelly Field, San Antonio, under command of Captain George Davison, took off at 8:30.

Other attack groups left later.

The brigade, the first in the history of United States aviation, was formed here and its first maneuvers will be held over Washington. Later today the brigade will go to Langley Field, Va., where it will carry out a series of maneuvers over Chesapeake bay during the next few days.

WEEKS RESIGNS CABINET POST; DWIGHT DAVIS HIS SUCCESSOR

Davis, Mellon, Hoover Only Harding Appointees Remaining.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—John W. Weeks, stepped out of the cabinet today and Dwight F. Davis of Missouri, stepped in as the new secretary of war.

Formal announcement of Weeks' resignation because of ill health and the appointment of Davis as his successor was made at the White House confirming a cabinet shift that had long been anticipated in the capital.

Davis has been secretary of war in everything but name for nearly six months. He assumed the duties of acting secretary last spring when a nearly fatal attack of illness compeled Weeks to leave Washington.

Native of St. Louis.

The retirement of Secretary Weeks, after five and one-half years of service, leaves only three members of the original Harding cabinet still in office—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, Secretary of Commerce Hoover, and Secretary of Labor Davis. Death and resignation have claimed the rest.

The new secretary is a native of St. Louis and is 46 years old. He held many quasi-public posts in St. Louis prior to his entrance into the official life of Washington several years ago as a member of the war finance corporation. His name is indelibly linked with tennis as the donor of the famous Davis international cup.

Secretary Weeks attended his last cabinet meeting at the White House today and made his farewells in person. His resignation was already in Mr. Coolidge's hands, effective immediately.

Weeks plans to depart soon on a trip to South America. He has been warned by his physician to give up business entirely.

Youthful Slayer Attributes Crime To Use of Liquor

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 13. — Fifteen-year-old Joseph Boworski, confined to a cell in the county jail awaiting sentence for the murder of Walter Kowalski, 20, today attributed his crime to liquor.

"I had been drinking with some friends," the boy declared. "They showed me a new revolver and later I left the party without returning the weapon. After that, all is vague in my memory. I met Kowalski and remember having trouble with him. I was struck several times, but do not recall the shooting."

The boy pleaded guilty to a second degree murder charge. Sentence will be passed next Friday, it being the first time in criminal court history here that a boy of Borowski's age paid the penalty for murder.

Gliding Records Broken.

FEODOSIA, Russia, Oct. 13. — A world record for gliding, bettering by three times the former mark, was set today by the German pilot, Nehring, when he traveled 24 kilometers, 400 meters, or better than 15 miles, in his engineless glider.

This is the best mark made at the international gliding tournament under way here.

BY KATHARINE BRUSH.
(Special to Review-Tribune.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—President Coolidge left this afternoon's ball game sometime during the second inning. Perhaps he didn't want to see the Senators beaten. Then again, perhaps he had some little chore or other to do up at the White House. Whatever his reasons, he proved conclusively that the newspapers have not misled us; ours is indeed a calm, collected president. Any man who can voluntarily rise from his seat when a breathless ball game like that one is yet in the bloom of its youth, can be depended on not to let anything under the sun excite him.

The rest of the 35,000 spectators wouldn't have left for anything short of sudden death, in the family and I venture to say that some of the more rabid ones would have remained on even then, on the theory that dead is dead and can wait an hour or two. The Pirates, gleeful, and the Senators, not anywhere nearly so gleeful as they were at this time yesterday, hurried through the necessary showers and packing and rushed to the station to take a 6 o'clock train back to Pittsburgh again. Newspaper scribes and fans leave on the special trains between 10 and 11 o'clock tonight.

Here are the notes I scribbled during the game. If you won't forgive me for their deficiencies, it's simply because you weren't at this game.

Quarter of two! Let's see who I can see from this aerial bower wherein the press are situated. There's Bucky Harris' proud mother and his brother, Muriel Harris, with his wife in a box beside the Senators dugout. They've been there every day since the games in Washington started, and near them Mrs. Walter Johnson, in a blue hat and a coonskin coat. I just heard today that she is the daughter of ex-Congressman Roberts of Nevada.

Coolidge must be coming. The box where he sits on the rare occasions when he favors baseball with his presence is decked in red, white and blue. Soon, we'll hear the bugles blow, announcing his appearance.

Coolidge Arrives.

Here is the army band from the Washington barracks and playing ragtime. There seem to be more women fans at these Washington ball games than there were at Pittsburgh. Maybe that's because there are about four women to every man in Washington. All the government workers are women and how they can shriek. They make the Washington cheering soprano where the Pittsburgh was more or less bass. The players have removed the black arm bands they wore for three days in memory of the departed Matty.

Here comes Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge, and up rush the camera men to snap them as they sit down. Mrs. Coolidge wears a big black picture hat very attractive, smiles and bows. Again the president throws the first ball. His pitching arm isn't exactly what you could call Johnsonian.

And now the game begins. Wild howls from the Washington rooters, who firmly believe it will be the last game of the series.

The press stand is half way to heaven and covered with a lot of chicken wire. I'm glad it is not being one of these fans who were so anxious to get a world series ball to hand down to posterity that they're willing to risk getting hit right smack in the eye.

The man who announces the batteries has a voice that sounds the way I think the voice of doom is going to sound. The Pittsburgh contingent hopes it is the voice of doom to the Senators when it yells that Victor Aldridge is going to pitch. To the victor belongs the spoils—but will he get them?

First inning ends with score one to nothing favor of Washington. These capitol fans have good lungs, haven't they? There's a terrible clatter of typewriters and telegraph instruments in the press stand all around me. It breaks out after half inning like the talk at a family dinner after the blessing is said.

And a radio announcer sits in the row in front with an assistant beside him and jots down suggestions on slips of paper and pastes them to his hat. You have to have a quick eye and ready wit to be a radio announcer. And I bet they see a million ears in their nightmares. Smith, the Pirate catcher, full of little tricks to annoy his enemies. Goslin at bat swings so hard he falls down, and Smith counts over him like the referee of a fight.

Carey Knocked Out.

There is stuffy McInnes at first base. His appearance in the world series is the first, so far. Bluege comes to bat and gets a tremendous hand. Why shouldn't he? He escaped eternal sleep the other day. Ray Chapman, of Cleveland, died of a blow inflicted just two inches from the spot where Aldridge's smoke ball hit Bluege. And he is back in the game again.

Speaking of accidents, Carey of the Pirates steals a base, in making it is knocked out. He lies prone on second and for some moments is to be seen only as a prostrate figure among a thicket of stocky red and blue legs. There, he's getting up. Atta, boy.

Pittsburgh makes two runs in the first of the third, not much noise from the stands. You certainly can tell which town this is. There goes Mr. Coolidge home again. Wonder who marcels Bucy Harris' hair?

Ring Lardner, typewriting madly, three rows down in the press stand, and there's McGowan, the American league umpire, whose writing play-by-play stories of the game. Looks worried and why not? His wife was knocked unconscious in a taxi smash this morning.

I'd like one of the red and black Pirate sweaters myself. The Washington rooters aren't content with mere voices and hands to signify appreciation. They have tin whistles and little cow bells. Perfect uproar whenever any Washington man does anything.

Don't think they show very good

THIEVES LOOT GAS STATION

Get Away With Money and Auto Accessories

Police today continued their search for the bandits who Sunday night broke into the Third street filling station of the Ohio Valley Oil company, and got away with approximately $8 in cash and a number of automobile accessories.

That the robbery was the work of youths is the opinion expressed by employes of the company.

Several small panes of glass, it is said, were broken out of a door in the station, which is located next to the railroad swith, between Broadway and Commerce street. The aperture is believed to have given the thieves sufficient space to enter the small building.

The money had been left in the cash register the night previous.

I don't know how I get it. I only know that is comes to me through what they call a Fruity Shampoo.

Very wonderful men perfected it for me, but they never would give me the formula. They say that one ingredient gives that matchless glint, but they never would tell me what it is.

But they make it for me to supply to you, just as they made it for me. It is the greatest shampoo in existence. I say that after trying scores o fthem, and searching the world for the best.

I want you to try it. I want you to see the lustre it adds to hair. I would not take a fortune for what it has done for mine.

I cannot tell you the secrets of its wizard-like results. They have never been told to me. But those results will amaze and delight you. Ask any toilet counter for Edna Wallace Hopper's Fruity Shampoo, and you'll get exactly what I use. The price is 60 cents. And your dealer will return your money if you think that any other shampoo comes within a mile of this. For your own sake, see what it does.

SURRENDER

The Story Of A Girl Who Dared

By Edgar Poe Norris

CHAPTER 67.

Home, sweet home! Amoura stood at the French windows which exposed her bedroom to the warm rays of the sun that dressed the Ainsley mansion in Westland in a ruddy hue in the late afternoon. The sun was ridding the valley and the western slope of Indian Hill of the haze a rain had brought a few hours before. A window was opened slightly, and she could drink in the cool, invigorating, rain-washed air as she mixed with the glass as her crystal. She hadn't come home with the intention of staying, but she wasn't so sure that she could go back to Chicago. She had retained the apartment in Apple Tree Road, and paid a month's rent in advance, but she doubted now if she would ever live in it again. What was she going to do now? She didn't want to think. But why worry?"

There was a rap at the door. Her sister, without waiting for a response, entered. "Why, Amoura, why aren't you in bed?"

Cynthia regarded her sister's straight, clean cut body, silhouetted by the light in a lovely boudoir gown of yellow printed over with Pompadour bouquets in bright colors.

"Oh, I am all right. It was silly of mother to make me go to bed. I just laid there with my eyes wide open. I slept all day yesterday.'

Amoura crossed the room and curled up on a chaise-lounge faced with her favorite color, pale lavender.

Cecilia followed her and took a chair. "Papa is talking mother into taking a South American trip with you and Robert and me. . . . Brazil and Argentina and Peru and Panama and Siam."

Amoura rendered mock applause. "What a head you have for geography, Cecie! Only Siam is in Asia."

Her sister's lip curled. "It is apparent that you haven't learned how to be agreeable. I thought these experiences of yours would get some of the wool out of your head, but I might have known better than to entertain such a hope."

"Cecie, you're still a little, a little—.' Amoura held up her hands in despair, without feeling it.

"Oh, why can't you behave like a lady sometime! You're nothing but a barbarian—"

The door opened and Mrs. J. Reginald Ainsley entered. Her ears caught Cecilia's last words. "That is enough, daughter! You ought to realize—."

Amour interrupted. "Oh, I'm all right, mother. If she wants to fight, let her.

Cecilia's face flushed, "Mother, she—.'

"That's enough! You two are still children. You're the same today as you were ten years ago. When are you going to grow up?"

Cecilia, sulking over a rebuke she deemed unjustifiable, left the room.

"Mother, I didn't—," Amoura tried to explain.

Mrs. Reginald silenced her with an upraised hand. "You must be quiet and rest yourself.'

"I'm perfectly all right, now, mother. Really, I am. I think I'll dress and go for a ride on good old Prince."

"I would not venture out, Amoura. Everyone will be gawking at you. All sorts of curious persons have been coming around all day. And the reporters were about to drive me crazy until your father instructed Filkins to refuse admittance to every one."

"Oh! I suppose it will be impossible for me to go anywhere now."

"You needn't worry about that. Your father is arranging a South American trip for us. Did Cecilia tell you? By the time we return all this will be forgotten."

"Is FATHER going?"

Mrs. J. Reginald's composure was slightly ruffled by Amoura's eyes. What did her daughter know? What had Reginald gotten into in Chicago?

"I imagine he is; I understood him to say so." She did not meet Amoura's eyes as she replied.

"I just wondered," her daughter responded, indifferently. Then, after a pause: "I don't thing I'll go, mother."

The elder woman stirred uncomfortably. "I think, Amoura,' she said, endeavoring to be biting, "that you have had ADVENTURES enough. Surely you don't intend to add more acts to this farce."

A reply was on Amoura's tongue, but she forebore speaking it, and switched the subject: "Is Philip still rushing the Reagan girl?"

"I'm sure I don't know. He has been in New York for weeks, some one said. The day after we got the news about you, we received a telegram from him in New York, asking if there was any way he could aid us. I suppose your father forgot to wire an acknowledgement and thang him—your father is so forgetful."

"Good old Phil! Westland is unchanged, except for one thing. I miss having Phil underfoot. . . . I wonder if I'm in love with him after all?" She laughed.

Mrs. J. Reginald regarded Amoura without answering. She was beginning to feel a little resentful toward her daughter for causing her so much worry and discomfort. For days Mrs. Ainsley, whose whole life had been spent in retaining her stiff composure, had been completely unpossessed, worrying while the world sought her kidnaped daughter. This experience had left her with a feeling that she was bereft of her dignity, and therefore, nude.

So popular has become the occupation of lady's companion in England that employment agencies have "waiting lists" and long waiting lines of those hoping for an opening.

A home made marcel waver recently introduced consists of six combs that set the waves, which afterwards are held by hairpins until the hair is dry.

Where The Dog Is King

The automobile and airplane are rapidly bringing to an end the horse's usefulness and popularity except for racing and riding. So far, however, neither auto nor airship has ousted the dog from the far north.

"The dog is still king of the Arctic," says Commander Donald B. MacMillan, recently returned to this country after a futile attempt to explore in the polar regions with airplanes.

"Planes will be useful in the exploration of the interior of Labrador and Baffin Land, or, in fact, any land south of the Arctic circle. The great difficulty with planes is in landing. No plane has yet been designed with a landing speed of less than 40 miles an hour, and to attempt landing on water strewn with field ice as such a speed is sure destruction for the plane."

The elimination of this great difficulty may be only a matter of time, and aircraft may yet be made practicable in the Arctic. When that times comes the huskies may lose their job because the airplane can go so much faster than they can.

Until then, however, "the dog is king," and man cannot go far or do much north of the Arctic circle without the dog's companionship and labor.

Beauty And The Brute

To be beautiful is to be misunderstood. The various American beauties recently raised to the pinnacle of national fame, from "Miss America" down, have a particularly hard time of it. Armand T. Nichols, who has been director of the Atlantic City beauty pageant for four years, and who ought to have more discretion, has been saying brutally that American girls are "beautiful but dumb."

"Most of the pretty girls I have met," he says, "have heads as empty as their faces are beautiful."

To which the beauties, as might be expected, have made prompt reply. First came Miss Fay Lanphier, as is the right of one who has been crowned America's fairest girl, saying:

"Mr. Nichols is pleased to be facetious," which is surely a word that a "dumb" girl wouldn't know how to use. "Three or four of the Atlantic City beauties are college graduates. All the rest were more intelligent than their sisters of yesteryear, and far healthier, too."

After whom came Miss Edith Higgins, alias "Miss Bronx," testifying:

"Girls of today are not dumb, but clever. It would seem conceit if I declared that I was highly intelligent; but speaking of other girls, I've found that the most beautiful are also the most brilliant mentally."

And that, it might be added, is what a lot of men have found —or supposed to have found.

But really, such discussions are superfluous and futile. They never convince anybody. They never prove anything. And what if they did?

Wise men seldom expect to find two such rarities as beauty and intelligence in the same package. Foolish men—this is to say, the majority of men—in the presence of beauty forget that there is such a thing as intelligence.

Who's To Blame For Tips?

The tipping evil seems hard to overcome. Many a person who, at home, holds that tipping is all wrong and presents logical reasons for his opinion, succumbs to the habit when traveling.

Such travelers insist that it is expected, that as long as any one tips or any one receives tips all must do so. Every now and then an organization of hotel employes or writers or some other customarily "tipped" group expostulates against the system. They would rather receive a regular, competent and self-respecting wage, they say, than be forced to rely on tips for some of their income. On the other hand, occasionally clubs and similar organizations protest that it is unfair to tip the waiter and the check-room girl when all the unseen employes of the organization—in kitchen or heating plant or office—are giving equally faithful service without so much as a thank-you and certainly without tips from those whom they serve.

But whenever any reform is attempted it promptly fails. The head of a great system of hotels blames this perennial failure on the traveling public. It would be far easier to end the whole system if only the tipped had to be consulted. Protesting but spineless tippers are to blame for their own thraldom.

A Radio Mystery

A recent radio questionnaire in Chicago showed that 50 per cent more of the people answering wanted classical music than wanted jazz. The second choice was opera. After that came jazz and old-time songs, with an equal demand for each.

Similar questionnaires last year in New York and other important radio centers brought about the same results. There doesn't seem to be any question about what kind of music the public prefers to hear.

But you'd never suspect this from listening to the stuff coming through the air. Night after night, station after station fills the other with jazz noises just the same. And jazz costs more, too, since broadcasters have to pay the composer.

What modern civization needs is a self-opening can that will open itself.

Mickey (Himself) McGuire— By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The eminent George Jean Nathan recently lifted his voice to inquire the whereabouts of the man who wrote the Frank Merriwell novels under the name of Burt L. Standish. Nathan, wondering who Standish is, thinks his autobiography would be important. Frank Merriwell was a weekly 5-cent novel hero during the 80's and 90's.

Then he vanished. The movies played a part in his banishment. Merriwell was a square-shooter. He neither smoked, drank nor swore. His life was an example. I, too, was a Merriwell fan and waited at the little candy shop for the weekly arrival. I then wondered who Standish might be.

About eight years ago a group used to foregather in a New York hotel every Saturday afternoon to play Kelly pool. Among them were Berton Braley, Clare Briggs, Ray Rohn, William Johnston and Ewing Galloway. One day Rohn brought a stranger.

He introduced him as "Gil Patten." He was a strapping fellow with a shock of iron gray hair who had just come down from a Maine camp. He had a decided down east twang. He joined our game. Between shots Rohn told us the stranger was the same man who wrote the Frank Merriwell novels.

Gil Patten was and is Burt L. Standish, his pen name. I could not have been more thrilled had I been summoned suddenly to meet Arthur Brisbane. He was a regular after that in our game and we became fast friends, although I have seen him little of late due to his absence in Maine.

A big publishing house founded a fortune on the Frank Merriwell novels. In that time I don't suppose Patten made more than $125 a week. He is comfortably fixed but I do not believe rich. He is still writing under the name of Burt L. Standish.

He is about 50 years old and is the most modest of men. Nathan says and deservedly so: "Standish was one of America's most peculiarly eminent practitioners of the art of fiction. His curious song deserves to be sung." But Gil Patten will never sing it. He is entirely too shy.

Walking is not entirely a lost art in New York despite the chorus girl custom of crossing the street in taxicabs. One of the greatest walkers in New York is John H. Finley, an educator and one of the editors of the New York Times. He often walks the entire length of the island during the day just for a bit of exercise. He has the build of a corsair.

Three mercantile establishments on Fifth Avenue are owned by men who formerly clerked in them. There is an idea—especially among clerks themselves—that they haven't much chance to succeed. Perhaps that is why some are inclined to be snippy. Thousands of successful men started as clerks. I am reminded of this after a talk with a clerk today who declared that even if opportunity came he was not sufficiently educated. Also a chunk of bunk. Among New Yorkers who never went to college are Richard Croker, Thomas A. Edison, John D. Rockefeller, James Stillman, Andrew Carnegie and Cornelius N. Bliss. Those boys got along fairly well. I'll murmur.

There is a blatant curiosity about New York often grewsome. An ambulance clanged up to a Broadway building. Someone had been mangled in an elevator. The crowd lined up 20 deep on either side of the entrance and waited, so the corner policeman said, for a half hour to see the hapless victim carried out on a stretcher.

Greenwich Village is returning to its pristine putty. The highbrows—a word coined by Will Irwin incidentally—are leaving the attics and vulgar wealth is making over old homes into elegant mansions. It is becoming swank to live in the Village. Many of the new apartments are barring pianos, radios, victrolas and typewriters and married couples must show their licenses.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The public today is ruly on the "inside" of what the Government is doing. This is due to the splendid system built up for the dissemination of news of an official character. The relations that exist between the press of the nation and Government agencies were never so cordial as they are today.

Actually it may be said that Govrenment officials have the latch-strings on the outside. The utmost effort is made by those controlling Government news sources to see that press and public are taken into the Government's confidence on all matters of public interest.

This wide open policy, however, does not mean that in matters affecting diplomatic relations with foreign Governments everything that transpires can find its way into public print at the same time negotations of one kind or another are in progress. In questions of an internal character it is not always expedient to broadcast the details, for in so many instances secrecy is essential to the successful conclusion of such parleys. And often in the public interest this secrecy must not be violated.

The President and all members of his cabinet maintain the closest relations with the press through regular press conferences. The chiefs of Government boards, bureaus and commissions are accessible at all times to the members of the press.

Besides, all departments of the Government and many of the independent bureaus maintain information or publicity offices, through which they may clear to the public statements or other material of public importance.

There are hundreds of active newspaper correspondents in Washington. These men are the eyes of 110,000,000 American people. They can be depended upon to know what is going on in Washington. Frequently they know news before they can publish it, for it often happens that they are taken into confidence of high official news sources, and can not break that confidence until they are authorized to do so.

President Coolidge's conferences with the press at the White House are held twice each week, on Tuesdays and Friday's. These conferences are attended by from one hundred to two hundred newspaper correspondents representing papers in all parts of the United States.

The President never permits other appointments to conflict with these regular press conference hours. The conferences are restricted rigidly to members of the press. Great pains are taken by the secret service officers and other attaches of the White House to exclude curiosity seekers or other outsiders.

President Never Quoted

The rule is preserved that the President is never to be quoted. In advance of the conference the correspondents always in writing the questions they want propounded to the President. Usually the Executive has these questions a half hour or more before the correspondents assemble in the executive office.

When the newspaper men appear the President has the questions before him on his desk. He probably has had time to look them over casually and decide which ones he should answer. Mr. Coolidge will proceed very slowly and deliberately, repeating the questions and answering them, perhaps supplementing his answers with any additional statements he desired to make.

The President sometimes will ignore some of the written questions, particularly if they relate to matters of a diplomatic character that may be pending, and the discussion of which might disturb negotations that are in progress. One of the virtues of the written question is that if the President fails to answer it, only the writer of the question will know it.

In some political situations, the mere failure of the President to answer, may hold great significance. Frequently the President permits verbal questioning. On some questions of wide public importance, about which the President may be asked, and upon which me may be desirous of having the public fully informed, he invites further questioning from the correspondents.

There is maintained at the White House executive offices a press room fully equipped for the news writers. This press room is something of a headquarters for members of the press who cover the White House, and through this medium all statements issued by the White House are given publicly. Representatives of the press associations and leading newspapers of the country are stationed there at all times, and have ready access to the office of the private secretary of the President. The correspondents therefore are in constant touch with the President, through his secretary, at times outside the President's regular press conferences.

Interviewing Cabinet Members.

The greatest freedom prevails in press talks between Cabinet members and correspondents. Each Cabinet member must be prepared for a volley of questions on a wide range of subjects that come within his immediate jurisdiction. There is seldom an attempt to dodge questions. The Cabinet member knows the value of publicity, and knows the correspondent, is his best friend in letting the public in on what he is doing. His attitude is one of frankness. The correspondent, as the spokesman for the public, expects nothing else. He wants the facts and usually gets them. Often the Cabinet member imposes confidence. These confidences are never broken. That is why high officials find it the best policy to be open and above board in their dealings with the press, for usually the members of the press, public spirited and laboring in the public's welfare, expect from public officers only that which it is as absolutely proper to print.

Two of the largest Cabinet press conferences are those given by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Secretary of Commerce Hoover. Questions of business and finance are uppermost in the public mind and the correspondents find these two Cabinet officers among the most productive sources of live news. Both Mr. Mellon and Mr. Hoover consider the hours thus spent with the correspondents the most refreshing of their entire daily schedule. Both seem to relish these interchanges with the press.

Much of the news that emanates from Washington and finds its way to the first pages of newspapers is based upon carefully prepared statements issued by department heads. Frequently newspaper correspondents are notified in advance that these so-called "handouts", as they are termed by the writers, will be forthcoming. Possibly they have been the basis of discussion at press conferences.

Pests have so destroyed the fruit of the Bahama Islands that it is believed the people there must depend on the tourist trade entirely for their living.

Makes Pumping Up Tires Unnecessary.

L. G. Hughes of 2510 Monroe, Chicago, Ill., has perfected a new air-tight valve cap that enables auto owners to pump up their tires once and never touch them again until punctured or worn out. Leading tire manufacturers, after thorough tests, have approved Mr. Hughes' invention and banished the old theory that air escapes through rubber. One inflation lasts the life of a tire, and tire mileage is doubled. These caps retail for $1.25 for set of five. The inventor wants agents and will send proof and sample Free. Write him today.

THIEVES LOOT GAS STATION

Get Away With Money and Auto Accessories

Police today continued their search for the bandits who Sunday night broke into the Third street filling station of the Ohio Valley Oil company, and got away with approximately $8 in cash and a number of automobile accessories.

That the robbery was the work of youths is the opinion expressed by employes of the company.

Several small panes of glass, it is said, were broken out of a door in the station, which is located next to the railroad swith, between Broadway and Commerce street. The aperture is believed to have given the thieves sufficient space to enter the small building.

The money had been left in the cash register the night previous.

I don't know how I get it. I only know that is comes to me through what they call a Fruity Shampoo.

Very wonderful men perfected it for me, but they never would give me the formula. They say that one ingredient gives that matchless glint, but they never would tell me what it is.

But they make it for me to supply to you, just as they made it for me. It is the greatest shampoo in existence. I say that after trying scores o fthem, and searching the world for the best.

I want you to try it. I want you to see the lustre it adds to hair. I would not take a fortune for what it has done for mine.

I cannot tell you the secrets of its wizard-like results. They have never been told to me. But those results will amaze and delight you. Ask any toilet counter for Edna Wallace Hopper's Fruity shampoo, and you'll get exactly what I use. The price is 60 cents. And your dealer will return your money if you think that any other shampoo comes within a mile of this. For your own sake, see what it does.

STATE CONVICTS WORK ON ROADS

Another step in the fulfillment of Governor Gore's promise that state prisoners would be employed to build highways was actually realized yesterday when Warden S. P. Smith selected 12 men and assigned them to duty at the Wetzel county road camp.

The convicts will assist in preparing the casino in Paden City park as headquarters for 100 men who will spend a year or more in building nine miles of hard surface road south of New Martinsville, under the supervision of Former Senator W. F. Burgess, the governor's personal representative in charge of convict labor road construction camps.

Guard Emmett Nanna was placed in charge of the first group of men and by the end of this week 25 or 30 more prisoners will be turned over to him. Actual construction work will be started within a few days. Most of the equipment has been placed on the scene.

HERE AT LAST IS REAL RELIEF FROM EXCESS FAT!

"I am the shadow of my former self," writes Mrs. N——, beautiful Brooklyn girl. "Silph Reducing Gum is wonderful!"

Silph Reducing Chewing Gum—

latest scientific discovery takes New York by storm—Everyone is chewing it and POUNDS of FAT ARE ROLLING OFF!

No longer need you suffer from excess fat. No longer need you be humiliated by sarcastic looks or remarks. No longer need you starve yourself to distraction or tire yourself out with exercises. With Silph Reducing Chewing Gum, the latest and most wonderful discovery ever made, every man, woman and child can today safely, quickly and easily reduce. Silph Reducing Gum is the result of years of scientific study and experiments—it is different from anything ever advised to take off FAT. It is simple, safe, cheap and easy. It is almost like telling you to eat candies to reduce. It is just as pleasant and as harmless.

Silph Reducing Gum is not a drug nor a laxative—it contains juice extract of sea plants known for years to possess wonderful reducing properties but until now it was impossible to obtain sufficient quantities of these plant extracts to supply a public demand. Today a group of scientists have found a way to obtain it and to incorporate it in a delicious, refreshing chewing gum. When mixed with the gastric juices, through the flow of saliva it eliminates fat forming elements in the system—at the same time it is great for stomach or intestinal trouble. The quick and amazing results already obtained with Silph have simply been overwhelming. Silph sells for 50 cents a box, enough for one week, at all good drug stores. Remember that to "CHEW SILPH IS TO BE SYLPH-LIKE," that's New York's latest slogan.

In case your druggist is out of Silph you can get it from the Silph Medical Co., 9 W. 60th St. N. Y. City. Silph sells for 50c. per box or two full weeks' supply, $1.00.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS

Silph is the name of the original and genuine reducing gum, THE ONLY ONE WE PERSONALLY GUARANTEE TO BE SAFE AND HARMLESS.

The former sheriff contended that Federal Judge McClintic was prejudiced, and that he had been denied a fair trial by refusal of the judge to withdraw. The government won in the lower court on its plea that that charge of prejudice had not been made in time.

Where The Dog Is King

The automobile and airplane are rapidly bringing to an end the horse's usefulness and popularity except for racing and riding. So far, however, neither auto nor airship has ousted the dog from the far north.

"The dog is still king of the Arctic," says Commander Donald B. MacMillan, recently returned to this country after a futile attempt to explore in the polar regions with airplanes.

"Planes will be useful in the exploration of the interior of Labrador and Baffin Land, or, in fact, any land south of the Arctic circle. The great difficulty with planes is in landing. No plane has yet been designed with a landing speed of less than 40 miles an hour, and to attempt landing on water strewn with field ice as such a speed is sure destruction for the plane."

The elimination of this great difficulty may be only a matter of time, and aircraft may yet be made practicable in the Arctic. When that times comes the huskies may lose their job because the airplane can go so much faster than they can.

Until then, however, "the dog is king," and man cannot go far or do much north of the Arctic circle without the dog's companionship and labor.

Beauty And The Brute

To be beautiful is to be misunderstood. The various American beauties recently raised to the pinnacle of national fame, from "Miss America" down, have a particularly hard time of it. Armand T. Nichols, who has been director of the Atlantic City beauty pageant for four years, and who ought to have more discretion, has been saying brutally that American girls are "beautiful but dumb."

"Most of the pretty girls I have met," he says, "have heads as empty as their faces are beautiful."

To which the beauties, as might be expected, have made prompt reply. First came Miss Fay Lanphier, as is the right of one who has been crowned America's fairest girl, saying:

"Mr. Nichols is pleased to be facetious," which is surely a word that a "dumb" girl wouldn't know how to use. "Three or four of the Atlantic City beauties are college graduates. All the rest were more intelligent than their sisters of yesteryear, and far healthier, too."

After whom came Miss Edith Higgins, alias "Miss Bronx," testifying:

"Girls of today are not dumb, but clever. It would seem conceit if I declared that I was highly intelligent; but speaking of other girls, I've found that the most beautiful are also the most brilliant mentally."

And that, it might be added, is what a lot of men have found —or supposed to have found.

But really, such discussions are superfluous and futile. They never convince anybody. They never prove anything. And what if they did?

Wise men seldom expect to find two such rareties as beauty and intelligence in the same package. Foolish men—this is to say, the majority of men—in the presence of beauty forget that there is such a thing as intelligence.

Who's To Blame For Tips?

The tipping evil seems hard to overcome. Many a person who, at home, holds that tipping is all wrong and presents logical reasons for his opinion, succumbs to the habit when traveling.

Such travelers insist that it is expected, that as long as any one tips or any one receives tips all must do so. Every now and then an organization of hotel employes or writers or some other customarily "tipped" group expostulates against the system. They would rather receive a regular, competent and self-respecting wage, they say, than be forced to rely on tips for some of their income. On the other hand, occasionally clubs and similar organizations protest that it is unfair to tip the waiter and the check-room girl when all the unseen employes of the organization—in kitchen or heating plant or office—are giving equally faithful service without so much as a thank-you and certainly without tips from those whom they serve.

But whenever any reform is attempted it promptly fails. The head of a great system of hotels blames this perennial failure on the traveling public. It would be far easier to end the whole system if only the tipped had to be consulted. Protesting but spineless tippers are to blame for their own thraldom.

A Radio Mystery

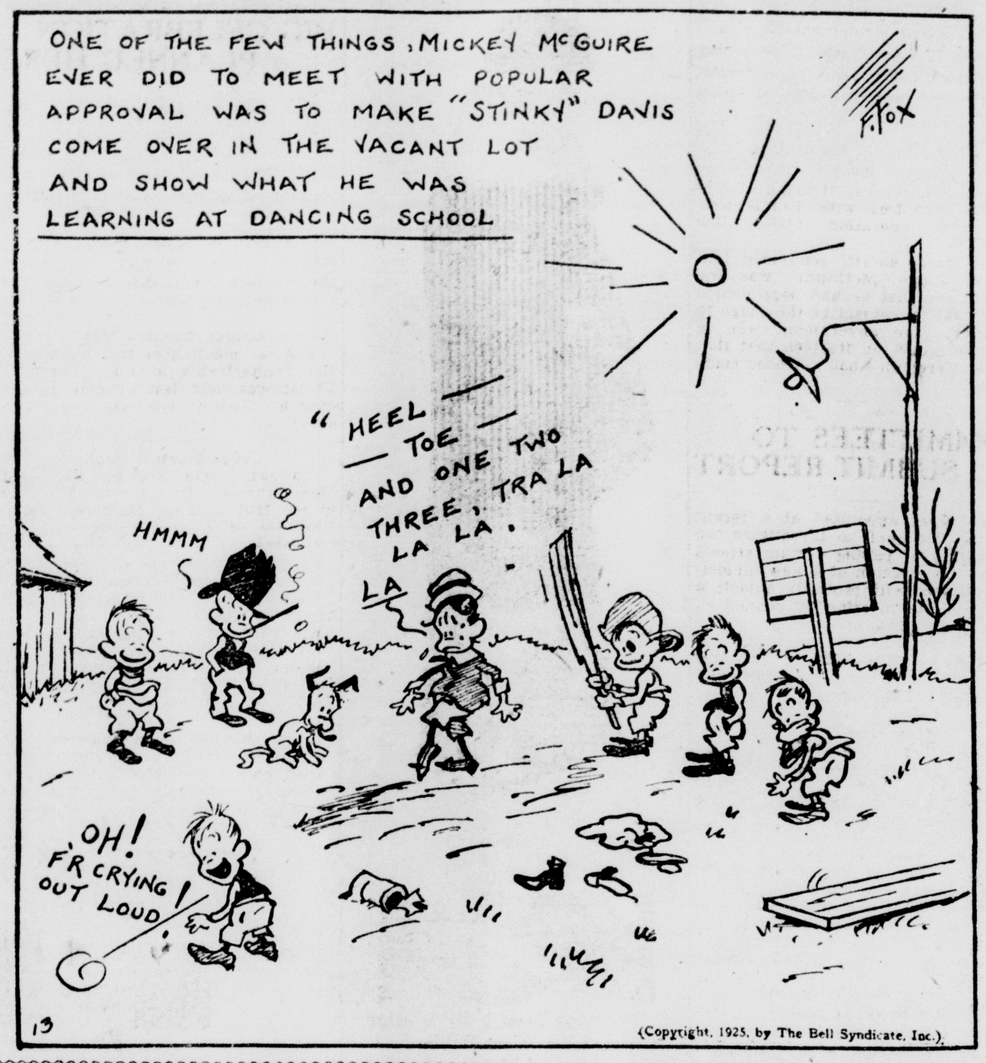

A recent radio questionnaire in Chicago showed that 50 per cent more of the people answering wanted classical music than wanted jazz. The second choice was opera. After that came jazz and old-time songs, with an equal demand for each.

Similar questionnaires last year in New York and other important radio centers brought about the same results. There doesn't seem to be any question about what kind of music the public prefers to hear.

But you'd never suspect this from listening to the stuff coming through the air. Night after night, station after station fills the other with jazz noises just the same. And jazz costs more, too, since broadcasters have to pay the composer.

What modern civization needs is a self-opening can that will open itself.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The eminent George Jean Nathan recently lifted his voice to inquire the whereabouts of the man who wrote the Frank Merriwell novels under the name of Burt L. Standish. Nathan, wondering who Standish is, thinks his autobiography would be important. Frank Merriwell was a weekly 5-cent novel hero during the 80's and 90's.

Then he vanished. The movies played a part in his banishment. Merriwell was a square-shooter. He neither smoked, drank nor swore. His life was an example. I, too, was a Merriwell fan and waited at the little candy shop for the weekly arrival. I then wondered who Standish might be.

About eight years ago a group used to foregather in a New York hotel every Saturday afternoon to play Kelly pool. Among them were Berton Braley, Clare Briggs, Ray Rohn, William Johnston and Ewing Gallo-way. One day Rohn brought a stranger.

He introduced him as "Gil Patten." He was a strapping fellow with a shock of iron gray hair who had just come down from a Maine camp. He had a decided down east twang. He joined our game. Between shots Rohn told us the stranger was the same man who wrote the Frank Merriwell novels.

Gil Patten was and is Burt L. Standish, his pen name. I could not have been more thrilled had I been summoned suddenly to meet Arthur Brisbane. He was a regular after that in our game and we became fast friends, although I have seen him little of late due to his absence in Maine.

A big publishing house founded a fortune on the Frank Merriwell novels. In that time I don't suppose Patten made more than $125 a week. He is comfortably fixed but I do not believe rich. He is still writing under the name of Burt L. Standish.

He is about 50 years old and is the most modest of men. Nathan says and deservedly so: "Standish was one of America's most peculiarly eminent practitioners of the art of fiction. His curious song deserves to be sung." But Gil Patten will never sing it. He is entirely too shy.

Walking is not entirely a lost art in New York despite the chorus girl custom of crossing the street in taxicabs. One of the greatest walkers in New York is John H. Finley, an educator and one of the editors of the New York Times. He often walks the entire length of the island during the day just for a bit of exercise. He has the build of a corsair.

Three mercantile establishments on Fifth Avenue are owned by men who formerly clerked in them. There is an idea—especially among clerks themselves—that they haven't much chance to succeed. Perhaps that is why some are inclined to be snippy. Thousands of successful men started as clerks. I am reminded of this after a talk with a clerk today who declared that even if opportunity came he was not sufficiently educated. Also a chunk of bunk. Among New Yorkers who never went to college are Richard Croker, Thomas A. Edison, John D. Rockefeller, James Stillman, Andrew Carnegie and Cornelius N. Bliss. Those boys got along fairly well. I'll murmur.

There is a blatant curiosity about New York often grewsome. An ambulance clanged up to a Broadway building. Someone had been mangled in an elevator. The crowd lined up 20 deep on either side of the entrance and waited, so the corner policeman said, for a half hour to see the hapless victim carried out on a stretcher.

Greenwich Village is returning to its pristine putty. The highbrows—a word coined by Will Irwin incidentally—are leaving the attics and vulgar wealth is making over old homes into elegant mansions. It is becoming swank to live in the Village. Many of the new apartments are barring pianos, radios, victrolas and typewriters and married couples must show their licenses.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The public today is ruly on the "inside" of what the Government is doing. This is due to the splendid system built up for the dissemination of news of an official character. The relations that exist between the press of the nation and Government agencies were never so cordial as they are today.

Actually it may be said that Government officials have the latch-strings on the outside. The utmost effort is made by those controlling Government news sources to see that press and public are taken into the Government's confidence on all matters of public interest.

This wide open policy, however, does not mean that in matters affecting diplomatic relations with foreign Governments everything that transpires can find its way into public print at the same time negotations of one kind or another are in progress. In questions of an internal character it is not always expedient to broadcast the details, for in so many instances secrecy is essential to the successful conclusion of such parleys. And often in the public interest this secrecy must not be violated.

The President and all members of his cabinet maintain the closest relations with the press through regular press conferences. The chiefs of Government boards, bureaus and commissions are accessible at all times to the members of the press.

Besides, all departments of the Government and many of the independent bureaus maintain information or publicity offices, through which they may clear to the public statements or other material of public importance.

There are hundreds of active newspaper correspondents in Washington. These men are the eyes of 110,000,000 American people. They can be depended upon to know what is going on in Washington. Frequently they know news before they can publish it, for it often happens that they are taken into confidence of high official news sources, and can not break that confidence until they are authorized to do so.

President Coolidge's conferences with the press at the White House are held twice each week, on Tuesdays and Friday's. These conferences are attended by from one hundred to two hundred newspaper correspondents representing papers in all parts of the United States.

The President never permits other appointments to conflict with these regular press conference hours. The conferences are restricted rigidly to members of the press. Great pains are taken by the secret service officers and other attaches of the White House to exclude curiosity seekers or other outsiders.

President Never Quoted

The rule is preserved that the President is never to be quoted. In advance of the conference the correspondents always in writing the questions they want propounded to the President. Usually the Executive has these questions a half hour or more before the correspondents assemble in the executive office.

When the newspaper men appear the President has the questions before him on his desk. He probably has had time to look them over casually and decide which ones he should answer. Mr. Coolidge will proceed very slowly and deliberately, repeating the questions and answering them, perhaps supplementing his answers with any additional statements he desired to make.

The President sometimes will ignore some of the written questions, particularly if they relate to matters of a diplomatic character that may be pending, and the discussion of which might disturb negotations that are in progress. One of the virtues of the written question is that if the President fails to answer it, only the writer of the question will know it.

In some political situations, the mere failure of the President to answer, may hold great significance. Frequently the President permits verbal questioning. On some questions of wide public importance, about which the President may be asked, and upon which me may be desireous of having the public fully informed, he invites further questioning from the correspondents.

There is maintained at the White House executive offices a press room fully equipped for the news writers. This press room is something of a headquarters for members of the press who cover the White House, and through this medium all statements issued by the White House are given publicly. Representatives of the press associations and leading newspapers of the country are stationed there at all times, and have ready access to the office of the private secretary of the President. The correspondents therefore are in constant touch with the President, through his secretary, at times outside the President's regular press conferences.

Interviewing Cabinet Members.

The greatest freedom prevails in press talks between Cabinet members and correspondents. Each Cabinet member must be prepared for a volley of questions on a wide range of subjects that come within his immediate jurisdiction. There is seldom an attempt to dodge questions. The Cabinet member knows the value of publicity, and knows the correspondent, is his best friend in letting the public in on what he is doing. His attitude is one of frankness. The correspondent, as the spokesman for the public, expects nothing else. He wants the facts and usually gets them. Often the Cabinet member imposes confidence. These confidences are never broken. That is why high officials find it the best policy to be open and above board in their dealings with the press, for usually the members of the press, public spirited and laboring in the public's welfare, expect from public officers only that which it is as absolutely proper to print.

Two of the largest Cabinet press conferences are those given by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Secretary of Commerce Hoover. Questions of business and finance are uppermost in the public mind and the correspondents find these two Cabinet officers among the most productive sources of live news. Both Mr. Mellon and Mr. Hoover consider the hours thus spent with the correspondents the most refreshing of their entire daily schedule. Both seem to relish these interchanges with the press.

Much of the news that emanates from Washington and finds its way to the first pages of newspapers is based upon carefully prepared statements issued by department heads. Frequently newspaper correspondents are notified in advance that these so-called "handouts", as they are termed by the writers, will be forthcoming. Possibly they have been the basis of discussion at press conferences.

Pests have so destroyed the fruit of the Bahama Islands that it is believed the people there must depend on the tourist trade entirely for their living.

Makes Pumping Up Tires Unnecessary.

L. G. Hughes of 2510 Monroe, Chicago, Ill., has perfected a new air-tight valve cap that enables auto owners to pump up their tires once and never touch them again until punctured or worn out. Leading tire manufacturers, after thorough tests, have approved Mr. Hughes' invention and banished the old theory that air escapes through rubber. One inflation lasts the life of a tire, and tire mileage is doubled. These caps retail for $1.25 for set of five. The inventor wants agents and will send proof and sample Free. Write him today.

THE convention was in session at the Drake Hotel in Chicago. Makers of musical instruments had gathered from coast to coast and beyond.

Artists and artisans were seated in musical discussion or were strolling about the corridors of the famous hotel.

The strain of a song, soft, melodious, wafted through a doorway. Beautiful as was the song, the piano accompaniment held the assembly enthralled for it was the touch of a master—and those who stopped in the hallway to listen did not know the singer's accompanist was playing the piano without touching the keys.

Only Piano of Its Kind

Neither ordinary player-pianos nor reproducing pianos can give you complete control of the keys by roll the same as in hand playing. The Gulbransen Registering Piano alone does this.

It will delight and astonish you to play it yourself, even without previous training, for it defied the ears of experts to tell it from hand playing.

Untrained persons can play a piano solo correctly by roll on the Gulbransen—accenting the melody and chords—not "mechanically" but with human expression—giving the time, the touch and the Tone Volume that a master pianist would impart to it.

You can play an accompaniment for voices or instruments subduing the melody to a whisper, pausing for the singer, and playing only the bass or lower register. You can transpose an accompaniment to any one of seven different keys to suit the voice of the singer.

What bigger thrill is there in music than playing it yourself?—your music—interpreted as you would have it—like a master pianist. There are many who cannot read a single note of sheet music who play by roll on the Gulbransen Registering Piano even better than most pianists play by hand. Stop in today and try it. Come in and feel the thrill of playing this piano by roll with your own expression—your personal touch just like hand playing.

STATE CONVICTS WORK ON ROADS

Another step in the fulfillment of Governor Gore's promise that state prisoners would be employed to build highways was actually realized yesterday when Warden S. P. Smith selected 12 men and assigned them to duty at the Wetzel county road camp.

The convicts will assist in preparing the casino in Paden City park as headquarters for 100 men who will spend a year or more in building nine miles of hard surface road south of New Martinsville, under the supervision of Former Senator W. F. Burgess, the governor's personal representative in charge of convict labor road construction camps.

Guard Emmett Nanna was placed in charge of the first group of men and by the end of this week 25 or 30 more prisoners will be turned over to him. Actual construction work will be started within a few days. Most of the equipment has been placed on the scene.

CHAFFIN LOSES IN HIGH COURT

Don Chaffin, former sheriff of Logan county, West Virginia, yesterday was denied his appeal for a review of his conviction under the prohibition laws.

Chaffin was found guilty of conspiracy of violate the law in connection with the conduct of a saloon at Barnabus, W. Va., it being alleged that he conspired with Tennis Hatfield in the operation of the "Blue Goose."

The former sheriff contended that Federal Judge McClintic was prejudiced, and that he had been denied a fair trial by refusal of the judge to withdraw. The government won in the lower court on its plea that that charge of prejudice had not been made in time.

HERE AT LAST IS REAL RELIEF FROM EXCESS FAT!

Silph Reducing Chewing Gum—

latest scientific discovery takes New York by storm—Everyone is chewing it and POUNDS of FAT ARE ROLLING OFF!

No longer need you suffer from excess fat. No longer need you be humiliated by sarcastic looks or remarks. No longer need you starve yourself to distraction or tire yourself out with exercises. With Silph Reducing Chewing Gum, the latest and most wonderful discovery ever made, every man, woman and child can today safely, quickly and easily reduce. Silph Reducing Gum is the result of years of scientific study and experiments—it is different from anything ever advised to take off FAT. It is simple, safe, cheap and easy. It is almost like telling you to eat candies to reduce. It is just as pleasant and as harmless.

Silph Reducing Gum is not a drug nor a laxative—it contains juice extract of sea plants known for years to possess wonderful reducing properties but until now it was impossible to obtain sufficient quantities of these plant extracts to supply a public demand. Today a group of scientists have found a way to obtain it and to incorporate it in a delicious, refreshing chewing gum. When mixed with the gastric juices, through the flow of saliva it eliminates fat forming elements in the system—at the same time it is great for stomach or intestinal trouble. The quick and amazing results already obtained with Silph have simply been overwhelming. Silph sells for 50 cents a box, enough for one week, at all good drug stores. Remember that to "CHEW SILPH IS TO BE SYLPH-LIKE," that's New York's latest slogan.

"I am the shadow of my former self," writes Mrs. N——, beautiful Brooklyn girl. "Silph Reducing Gum is wonderful!"

In case your druggist is out of Silph you can get it from the Silph Medical Co., 9 W. 60th St. N., Y. City. Silph sells for 50c. per box or two full weeks' supply, $1.00.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS

Silph is the name of the original and genuine reducing gum. THE ONLY ONE WE PERSONALLY GUARANTEE TO BE SAFE AND HARMLESS.

PICK JURY IN MURDER TRIAL

State Will Ask Death Penalty for Girl's Slayer.

NOBLESVILLE, Ind., Oct. 13.—Nine of the jury tentatively selected by the state yesterday to hear the murder case against D. C. Stephenson, Earl Gentry and Earl Klinck resulting from the death last March of Madge Oberholtzer of Indianapolis, faced the questioning of the defense today, the second day of the trial.

Two points have been emphasized in the questioning of the veniremen. One is the attitude toward capital punishment, which the state intimated today it plans to ask. The second is the issue of the Ku Klux Klan, over which the prospective jurors are given a thorough examination.

The death penalty demand of the state was indicated in the questioning of veniremen late yesterday, although it did not at first appear that capital punishment would be asked.

The fact that Stephenson, principal defendant, was at one time grand dragon of the Indiana Klan and that former Judge Charles E. Cox, of the Indiana supreme court, representing the Oberholtzer family and one faction of the Klan that plans to force the prosecution of Stephenson "for the good of the order' is allied with the prosecutors, is taken as evidence of the internal fight in the Ku Klux Klan.

fitionary changes in nature and in social life.

"Business life is vastly different today. There is less cut-throat competition, less hatred and jealousy, more co operation and a greater desire to deal fairly with the public.

"Business at last has arrived at a one price system. It used to be that there was an asking price and a selling price, and the customer, as a rule, was not at all certain of what he was getting.

"Business men have learned from their experiences the truth of the old adage, 'Honesty is the best policy,' and not through theories. The change did not come about through 'preaching,' although there was lots of it.

"Business men and organizations are the targets of many lawyers and demagogs and reform writers in certain periodicals. And even on the stage and screen the 'unfair' business man is always the villain over whom the young, honest man without a dollar eventually triumphs.

"I have found the American business men 95 per cent honest and I don't believe this is true of any other country but our own. The business man has many obligations—to his government, to his competitors, to his customers and to his employers.

"Legislatures in 1924 passed 22,000 measures looking to the hampering of business, and big business especially. In the approximately 150 years of our nation, there have been more national and state laws passed in America than there have been since the dawn of time in foreign countries. Many of these measures are obsolete, although they are still on the statutes, many are products of demagogs and many can't be observed."

GIRL'S DEATH BEING PROBED

Victim's Step-Mother Is Held for Investigation.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Oct. 13.—A grand jury investigation marked today's developments in the probe into the death of pretty 14-year-old Esta Strome of New Carlisle, the girl, who, according to her step mother, died on Sunday, October 3, the day on which she predicted her death. Coroner Theodore Schaffer found the girl was poisoned.

While Clark county grand jurors today quizzed witnesses in the case, the girl's step mother, Mrs. Birdie Strome, was being held for investigation and the body of George Flock, former husband of Mrs. Strome, exhumed yesterday, was being given an examination to determine what caused his death.

Sheriff Walter Lewis said he had found a drug store clerk, Arthur Keigley, who expected to tell the grand jury that a woman answering the description of Mrs. Strome bought some strychnine just before the girl's death.

GENERATION TO PAY BIG DEBT

Treasury Opposed To Plan Proposed By Congress.

BY ROBERT S. THORNBURGH.
(I. N. S. Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—With America's public debt of $20,500,000,000 maturing within 23 years and due for retirement in probably 30 years, high treasury officials today came out in solid opposition to a congressional plan which would continue liquidation of this obligation to future generations.

Secretary of the treasury Mellon will urge upon congress a continuation of the present debt paying program, which is averaging something over $700,000,000 annually. Strict adherence to this policy has not only strengthened public credit but has added greatly to the strength of general investment and money markets, treasury officials asserted.

Debt reduction is the best way to bring about tax reduction, in Mellon's view. It was explained that before 1930 the government's interest bill will have been cut at least $150,000,000 annually, as the result of debt retirements, and that the savings in interest will be available to slashing the tax bill.

Thieves Loot Warehouses.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Silk valued at $250,000 was stolen today from the storerooms of Samuel J. Aronshon, a silk merchant, at 17 Madison avenue. Three armed men handcuffed the watchman and drilled through a four-inch wall to get at the silk.

To give small contractors a chance to bid on the grading, the government of Ottawa Canada, is cutting a one-hundred-mile highway into five parts.

TOPPLES FROM HOTEL WINDOW

Wealthy Produce Dealer Meets Tragic Death.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13—Arthur Goodwin, fifty-four, wealthy produce merchant, of Manchester, Engand, plunged to his death from his eleventh floor suite at the hotel Bronztell early today, his body crashing through the glass roof of the hotel restaurant.

There were no indications of suicide and police believe Goodwin slipped and toppled over the window sill while raising the window.

A number of hotel employes were cleaning the restaurant, when Goodwin's body struck the glass roof, crashing through, and landed on one of the tables. Goodwin died while being rushed to a hospital.

Police are not attempting to communicate with relatives in England.

Exciting Fifth Game

sportsmanship down here. Every decision unfavorable to the Senators created an epidemic of umpire booing and they try their best to rattle the players so they'll drop the foul or the fly they're trying to catch. Still, alls fair in love and war and baseball. It always piques my curiosity when pitcher and catcher confer midway between the box and the plate. I always want to know what they're saying.

Joe Harris makes his third home run of the series and the din is simply deafening. This evens up the score, 2-2. No wonder everybodys nearly frantic. None of the series games so far has been patches of this for sheer excitement. There's a funny thing.

Foul ball bounces off the roof and hits a woman on the ear, and she in high dudgeon throws it back on the field again, but the ump restores it to her with a courtly bow.

The lucky seventn is lucky indeed for the Pirate two runs, no less, and one for the Senators. That makes the score 4 to 3 in favor of the National league and the state of Pennsylvania.

Washington rooters in a daze. They've somehow had the idea since yesterday that the Pirates didn't know so much about baseball. Reserving opinions now, and getting worried. This series is not such a cinch after all and this ball game is the most remarkable thing I ever saw. Fielder making impossible catches and batters making increditable hits and everybody in a perfect furore.

Ballou Pitches Well.

Begins to look a lot like a Pittsburgh game, though. Ballou goes in to pitch for Washington. He's only been with the team since the middle of August but he's noted for his nerve in a pinch, and strikes out Pie Traynor on three pitched balls. Washington stands take a new lease on life, and start howling constant monotonous clap of hands.

Ballou does well, but his place is taken by Zachary in the last of the seventh, and then what happens? More hits than you can count and two more runs, for the Pirates. Well, it's their own fault. They were warned of what the Pirates would do to a left hander. Beginning the last of the eighth. Score is five to three favor of Pittsburgh. Only a miracle can give the Senators the series with this ball game, anyway. And incidentally only the same miracle can keep four hundred baseball scribes and countless fans from having to journey back to Pittsburgh tonight, for another game.

Ninth inning. Pittsburgh gets another run. Their sixth, side retires in a stat of complete satisfaction and basemen go the bases "with a bring on your worst now attitude." Uproar is terrible and never ceases. The plea of Washington for a last minute rally. But they don't get it.

Contributes $100.000 To Finance Another Polar Expedition

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 13.—Lieutenant Lincoln Ellsworth, Ohio aviator and heir to a fortune, has given $100,000, or the first third of the amount necessary to finance the next polar dash, via dirigible, made by Captain Roald Amundsen. The announcement was made today by the Norwegian air union. Ellsworth accompanied Amundsen on his attempted airplane flight to the pole and will be aboard the dirigible when it starts north.

Ellsworth's father, who died while his son was still missing in the Arctic regions, was a principal backer of the airplane flight, from which, the union said, a surplus of 640,000 Kronen, or $125,000, remained.

while testifying. He declared it was the war department's firm opinion that the "doughboy" won the war.

As for the "lack of funds," blamed by many witnesses for the army's failure to develop aviation, Drum laid the responsibility directly at the door of the white house.

An $80,000,000 program for new air equipment, planned by the war department, Drum said, had to be abandoned because of this economy.

Because of this economy, Drum testified, all army organizations in the United States are under-manned and have only 80 per cent of their authorized officer personnel, our foreign garrisons are far below peace strength and the department has great difficulty in carrying out the training of the national guard and organized reserves.

Asks Additional Appropriation.

"The war department has prepared the army as a whole to fulfill its national defense obligations," Drum added. "Its forces are balanced in accordance with national defense requirement. It has followed no 'shooting star' or 'rainbow.' Considering the personnel and funds at hand, the army air service is in excellent shape.

"The formation of an air corps within or without the army would not remedy conditions in the air service, unless large additional appropriations over these now given to national defense, were to be appropriated for its use.

"Every branch of the army, not alone the air service, is in need of additional funds for efficient preparation for war. The war department has been and is loyally endeavoring to execute the directions of its commander-in-chief, the president, in pursuance of his economy program. In doing so, the war department has avoided adoption of general measures leading to increased expense.

"Any marked increase in the air service will involve large additional expenditures."

Taking up each recommendation for a new air policy, Drum characterized them as dangerous to the national defense.

"The establishment of a separate air force independent of the army cannot be justified on any grounds whatever," Drum continued.

"The idea behind all these plans is the same. It means separation instead of union. It means aggravating our present difficulties instead of applying a remedy. It will mean aid and assistance for our enemies instead of their destruction and downfall.

It will mean defeat in war instead of victory."

Pastor's Meet

the Second Church, Cleveland, were also to attend the meeting to submit evidence showing why the Cleveland Presbytery believes that Rev. Mr. Shaw should no longer be an ordianed minister of the church and urge his expulsion.

In the absence of Rev. C. R. Cheeks, pastor of the Calcutta United Presbyterian church and moderator of the Presbytery, who was unable to attend the meeting because of a funeral service, the two sessions of the Presbytery today were in charge of Rev. L. F. Patterson, pastor of the West Beaver United Presbyterian church, near West Point, vice moderator.

Shaw, in a defense of his preaching asserts that "I do not heal anybody. God heals people when they have faith enough." Among the many cures, which are alleged to have been brought about through faith since the evangelist opened his series of Cleveland meetings are heart trouble of 32 years' standing; tumor removed without operation; deaf and dumb entirely cured; floating kidney and catarrah of stomach.

Conducted Services Here.

Rev. Mr. Shaw defines his preaching as the "whole gospel." He holds that the Bible teaches "the healing of the body from disease by faith as well as the healing of the soul from sin."

The minister assisted John Sproul, Pittsburgh war veteran, in a series of faith healing services first held in a tent near Glenmoor and later in the High School auditorium here just two years ago, when the Toronto church granted him a leave of absence. His meetings here were regarded as highly successful and later he resigned his charge to enter the evangelistic field. His family resides in Cleveland where he has been conducting revival services in temporary tabernacles which have been erected in various parts of the city.

The First Church was represented at today's meeting by Rev. L. J. Davison, pastor, and W. W. Sloan while Dr. J. O. Campbell, pastor, and D. F. White were delegates from the Second Church. Dr. W. J. Grimes, New Concord, superintendent of the Ohio Synod, who has been visiting in Pittsburgh, came here last night to accompany the local church men to the Presbyterian meeting.

Lunch was served at the noon hour. The afternoon session was scheduled to open about 1:30 o'clock and will probably end late this afternoon, delegates returning home tonight.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Steel stocks received a good impetus, in the early trading today, from the unfilled tonnage report of the Steel corporation published after the close of business on Saturday. Bethlehem improved a point or more at the opening, and sold at the best prices for the movement in the first half hour.

The steel and industrial stocks were soon pushed aside by the motor stocks, however, in which the volume of business was enormous, and appears to be as strenuous as when prices were from 10 to 80 points lower. General Motors passed easily through 120; Dodge pushed upward to around 45 on extremely heavy transactions; Studebaker reached a new high at 62; Willys-Overland, Packard, Pierce Arrow, Hudson, United States Rubber, Stewart Warner, Fisher Body, Timken and other prominent members of the motor family absorbed the major share of speculative attention, and trading in this section of the market in the first hour was as heavy as in any session since the first of September.

for money, the meanest of all the many occupations. But every woman should be engaged in "intellectual activity" and most of them are fortunately. You don't have to be a female lawyer of doctor to be intellectually active.

English women of rank and fashion and many with money but without rank or fashion "are turning pink". That means they are joining the Socialist Labor party, following in the wake of Lady Cynthia Moseley, daughter of the Marquis of Curzon. If she runs for parliament on the Socialist ticket there must be something in it.

That happened in America. Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont, formerly Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt and Mrs. Clarence MacKay, now Mrs. Joseph Blake, "went in" for female suffrage when it was new. They lectured and urged and many estimate suburban ladies joined for fashion's sake.

All very old. When Parmentier introduced the potato vine into France the potatoes grew, but nobody would eat them. They were queer, from America and therefore suspicious.

The king ordered his nobles to wear potato blossoms in their buttonholes to make them fashionable. That changed the situation. When the nobles wore the blossoms the common people ate the potatoes.

Bishop William Montgomery Brown of Arkansas in his old age is to be deposed. That probably is just. If he does not agree with other bishops they have a right to part from him.

In one way the aged bishop is to be congratulated. In the year 1925 he will not be compelled to appear barefoot, dressed in sackcloth with a cord around his neck.

He will not have to kneel down vowing that he "retracts, abjures and abhors his heresy," and he will not be told that he can take his voice between rejecting, adjuring, abhorring and being burned alive.

We do unpleasant things still. But we do them less unpleasantly.

As the new week begins allies and Germans are gathering on some kind of league of nations or agreement not to cut each other's throat. Germany will come into the league. Good luck and more power to them.

May they have their league. May it be the most successful and may they have it to themselves

Ever have ECZEMA?

Hope you never did—hope you never will. Of all the awful itching, burning, agonizing breakings out of the skin, eczema is the worst. It's terrible.

You know it, too, if you have it. Makes you miserable all over—just tears your nerves to pieces—embarrasses you and lowers your efficiency.

But listen! You can stop eczema! S. S. S. does it. The blood is where the real trouble is. Poor blood and eczema go together. Lack of healthy, rich, red blood allows impurities to get into the system and break out through the skin. That's eczema.

S. S. S. puts the blood back in fighting trim—puts the "pep" back in the blood. Red-blood-cells destroy the impurities—purify the system. Eczema, boils, pimples, blotches, blackheads, rashes and other skin eruptions vanish—leaving the skin clear, cool and healthy.

Thousands have dried up eczema with S. S. S. Just try it. Get S. S. S. at your druggist. Ask him for the larger bottle. It's more economical.

The Gulbransen Registering Piano

that Amazed the Critical Audience at the Music Trades Convention in Chicago

Is Here in Our Showrooms

THE convention was in session at the Drake Hotel in Chicago. Makers of musical instruments had gathered from coast to coast and beyond.

Artists and artisans were seated in musical discussion or were strolling about the corridors of the famous hotel.

The strain of a song, soft, melodious, wafted through a doorway. Beautiful as was the song, the piano accompaniment held the assembly enthralled for it was the touch of a master—and those who stopped in the hallway to listen did not know the singer's accompanist was playing the piano without touching the keys.

Only Piano of Its Kind

Neither ordinary player-pianos nor reproducing pianos can give you complete control of the keys by roll the same as in hand playing. The Gulbransen Registering Piano alone does this.

It will delight and astonish you to play it yourself, even without previous training, for it defied the ears of experts to tell it from hand playing.

Untrained persons can play a piano solo correctly by roll on the Gulbransen—accenting the melody and chords—not "mechanically" but with human expression—giving the time, the touch and the Tone Volume that a master pianist would impart to it.

You can play an accompaniment for voices or instruments subduing the melody to a whisper, pausing for the singer, and playing only the bass or lower register. You can transpose an accompaniment to any one of seven different keys to suit the voice of the singer.

What bigger thrill is there in music than playing it yourself?—your music—interpreted as you would have it—like a master pianist. There are many who cannot read a single note of sheet music who play by roll on the Gulbransen Registering Piano even better than most pianists play by hand. Stop in today and try it. Come in and feel the thrill of playing this piano by roll with your own expression—your personal touch just like hand playing.

Dope Kills Battery, Willard Storage Co. Dealer Points Out

It is the most natural thing in the world to be attracted by claims of wonderful solutions that charge batteries instantly, especially if you have had any recent trouble with that particular accessory to your radio set.

A storage battery is made of lead and lead compounds which absorb acid from the battery solution as it delivers current.

To begin with, the battery is fully charged and has a solution which contains the proper amount of acid. Because the plates absorb this acid as it discharges some slight-of-hand artists have been making a nice living by pouring more acid into it. Of course, the additional acid makes the battery operative. But soon the plates are saturated with the acid and the addition of more "dope" has no effect. The battery then must be charged. This forces the acid out of the plates and then there's the dickens to pay.

According to E. L. Goodwin, Willard Storage Battery company, dealer in East Liverpool, the battery solution becomes too strong in such cases and some of it has to be taken out and replaced with distilled water. The innocent radio fan has been palmed by the doper for acid he didn't really want, certainly didn't need and finally had to throw away. There's no secret about the dopes at all, but it is best to let only an authorized battery service station take care of storage batteries.

Following an extensive strike of mechanical and construction workers in Belgium, the strikers accepted a slight wage reduction with the understanding that the scale be changed if living costs show radical fluctuations.

Ohio Power Company Offers Customer-Ownership Stock

Shares, Placed on Market at $95 and Dividend, Sold for Cash and on Easy Payments.

An interesting sidelight on the financial condition of residents of this section and their general desire to place their money in a safe investment paying substantial dividends is shown in the experiences of the employes of The Ohio Power company, who are now selling their company's preferred stock. Although the shares were offered to local people but a short time ago, a substantial amount has already been sold

The sale of preferred stock is particularly interesting because it is in line with a principle which is playing an important part in the business of public utility companies throughout the country. This new idea, commonly known as Customer-Ownership, is based on the realization that it is good business for a large concern to have the good will of its neighbors and to share its prosperity with them.

Through ownership of the preferred stock the company's customers will share in the money paid out as dividends to stockholders every three months while the company will gain through a friendlier relationship with the public.

The stock, which is priced at $95.00 and dividend a share is sold both for cash and on easy payment plan, calling for monthly payments of $10.00. It is cumulative, making it necessary for the company to pay its dividends in full before a penny is paid on the common stock and is preferred as to assets to the extent of $100.00 and dividend per share.

Dividends are paid by the company on March 1, June 1, September 1, and December 1. Those buying shares on the easy payment plan will receive interest at 5 per cent a year on the regular dividend dates until the stock is paid for, at which time they will be entitled to receive the regular dividend which, at present price of the stock, amounts to more than 6¼ per cent a year.

PICK JURY IN MURDER TRIAL

State Will Ask Death Penalty for Girl's Slayer.

NOBLESVILLE, Ind., Oct. 13.—Nine of the jury tentatively selected by the state yesterday to hear the murder case against D. C. Stephenson, Earl Gentry and Earl Klinck resulting from the death last March of Madge Oberholtzer of Indianapolis, faced the questioning of the defense today, the second day of the trial.

Two points have been emphasized in the questioning of the veniremen. One is the attitude toward capital punishment, which the state intimated today it plans to ask. The second is the issue of the Ku Klux Klan, over which the prospective jurors are given a thorough examination.

The death penalty demand of the state was indicated in the questioning of veniremen late yesterday, although it did not at first appear that capital punishment would be asked.

The fact that Stephenson, principal defendant, was at one time grand dragon of the Indiana Klan and that former Judge Charles E. Cox, of the Indiana supreme court, representing the Oberholtzer family and one faction of the Klan that plans to force the prosecution of Stephenson "for the good of the order' is allied with the prosecutors, is taken as evidence of the internal fight in the Ku Klux Klan.

tutionary changes in nature and in social life.

"Business life is vastly different today. There is less cut-throat competition, less hatred and jealousy, more co operation and a greater desire to deal fairly with the public.

"Business at last has arrived at a one price system. It used to be that there was an asking price and a selling price, and the customer, as a rule, was not at all certain of what he was getting.

"Business men have learned from their experiences the truth of the old adage, 'Honesty is the best policy,' and not through theories. The change did not come about through 'preaching,' although there was lots of it.

"Business men and organizations are the targets of many lawyers and demagogs and reform writers in certain periodicals. And even on the stage and screen the 'unfair' business man is always the villain over whom the young, honest man without a dollar eventually triumphs.

"I have found the American business men 95 per cent honest and I don't believe this is true of any other country but our own. The business man has many obligations—to his government, to his competitors, to his customers and to his employers.

"Legislatures in 1924 passed 22,000 measures looking to the hampering of business, and big business especially. In the approximately 150 years of our nation, there have been more national and state laws passed in America than there have been since the dawn of time in foreign countries. Many of these measures are obsolete, although they are still on the statutes, many are products of demagogs and many can't be observed."

GIRL'S DEATH BEING PROBED

Victim's Step-Mother Is Held for Investigation.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Oct. 13.—A grand jury investigation marked today's developments in the probe into the death of pretty 14-year-old Esta Strome of New Carlisle, the girl, who, according to her step mother, died on Sunday, October 3, the day on which she predicted her death. Coroner Theodore Schaffer found the girl was poisoned.

While Clark county grand jurors today quizzed witnesses in the case, the girl's step mother, Mrs. Birdie Strome, was being held for investigation and the body of George Ebock, former husband of Mrs. Strome, exhumed yesterday, was being given an examination to determine what caused his death.

Sheriff Walter Lewis said he had found a drug store clerk, Arthur Keigley, who expected to tell the grand jury that a woman answering the description of Mrs. Strome bought some strychnine just before the girl's death.

GENERATION TO PAY BIG DEBT

BY ROBERT S. THORNBURGH.
(I. N. S. Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—With America's public debt of $20,500,000,000 maturing within 23 years and due for retirement in probably 30 years, high treasury officials today came out in solid opposition to a congressional plan which would continue liquidation of this obligation to future generations.

Secretary of the treasury Mellon will urge upon congress a continuation of the present debt paying program, which is averaging something over $700,000,000 annually. Strict adherence to this policy has not only strengthened public credit but has added greatly to the strength of general investment and money markets, treasury officials asserted.

Debt reduction is the best way to bring about tax reduction, in Mellon's view. It was explained that before 1930 the government's interest bill will have been cut at least $150,000,000 annually, as the result of debt retirements, and that the savings in interest will be available to slashing the tax bill.

Thieves Loot Warehouses.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Silk valued at $250,000 was stolen today from the storerooms of Samuel J. Aronshon, a silk merchant, at 17 Madison avenue. Three armed men handcuffed the watchman and drilled through a four-inch wall to get at the silk.

To give small contractors a chance to bid on the grading, the government of Ottawa Canada, is cutting a one-hundred-mile highway into five parts.

TOPPLES FROM HOTEL WINDOW

Wealthy Produce Dealer Meets Tragic Death.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13—Arthur Goodwin, fifty-four, wealthy produce merchant, of Manchester, Engand, plunged to his death from his eleventh floor suite at the hotel Bronztell early today, his body crashing through the glass roof of the hotel restaurant.

There were no indications of suicide and police believe Goodwin slipped and toppled over the window sill while raising the window.

A number of hotel employes were cleaning the restaurant, when Goodwin's body struck the glass roof, crashing through, and landed on one of the tables. Goodwin died while being rushed to a hospital.

Police are not attempting to communicate with relatives in England.

sportsmanship down here. Every decision unfavorable to the Senators created an epidemic of umpire booing and they try their best to rattle the players so they'll drop the foul or the fly they're trying to catch. Still, alls fair in love and war and baseball. It always piques my curiosity when pitcher and catcher confer midway between the box and the plate. I always want to know what they're saying.

Joe Harris makes his third home run of the series and the din is simply deafening. This evens up the score, 2-2. No wonder everybodys nearly frantic. None of the series games so far has been patches of this for sheer excitement. There's a funny thing.

Foul ball bounces off the roof and hits a woman on the ear, and she in high dudgeon throws it back on the field again, but the ump restores it to her with a courtly bow.

The lucky seventn is lucky indeed for the Pirate two runs, no less, and one for the Senators. That makes the score 4 to 3 in favor of the National league and the state of Pennsylvania.

Washington rooters in a daze. They've somehow had the idea since yesterday that the Pirates didn't know so much about baseball. Reserving opinions now, and getting worried. This series is not such a cinch after all and this ball game is the most remarkable thing I ever saw. Fielder making impossible catches and batters making increditable hits and everybody in a perfect furore.

Ballou Pitches Well.

Begins to look a lot like a Pittsburgh game, though, Ballou goes in to pitch for Washington. He's only been with the team since the middle of August but he's noted for his nerve in a pinch, and strikes out Pie Traynor on three pitched balls. Washington stands take a new lease on life, and start howling constant monotonous clap of hands.

Ballou does well, but his place is taken by Zachary in the last of the seventh, and then what happens? More hits than you can count and two more runs, for the Pirates. Well, it's their own fault. They were warned of what the Pirates would do to a left hander. Beginning the last of the eighth. Score is five to three favor of Pittsburgh. Only a miracle can give the Senators the series with this ball game, anyway. And incidentally only the same miracle can keep four hundred baseball scribes and countless fans from having to journey back to Pittsburgh tonight, for another game.

Ninth inning. Pittsburgh gets another run. Their sixth, side retires in a stat of complete satisfaction and basemen go the bases "with a bring on your worst now attitude." Uproar is terrible and never ceases. The plea of Washington for a last minute rally. But they don't get it.

Contributes $100.000 To Finance Another Polar Expedition

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 13.—Lieutenant Lincoln Ellsworth, Ohio aviator and heir to a fortune, has given $100,000, or the first third of the amount necessary to finance the next polar dash, via dirigible, made by Captain Roald Amundsen. The announcement was made today by the Norwegian air union. Ellsworth accompanied Amundsen on his attempted airplane flight to the pole and will be aboard the dirigible when it starts north.

Ellsworth's father, who died while his son was still missing in the Arctic regions, was a principal backer of the airplane flight, from which, the union said, a surplus of 640,000 Kronen, or $125,000, remained.

Ever have ECZEMA?

Hope you never did—hope you never will. Of all the awful itching, burning, agonizing breakings out of the skin, eczema is the worst. It's terrible.

You know it, too, if you have it. Makes you miserable all over—just tears your nerves to pieces—embarrasses you and lowers your efficiency.

But listen! You can stop eczema! S. S. S. does it. The blood is where the real trouble is. Poor blood and eczema go together. Lack of healthy, rich, red blood allows impurities to get into the system and break out through the skin. That's eczema.

S. S. S. puts the blood back in fighting trim—puts the "pep" back in the blood. Red-blood-cells destroy the impurities—purify the system. Eczema, boils, pimples, blotches, blackheads, rashes and other skin eruptions vanish—leaving the skin clear, cool and healthy.

Thousands have dried up eczema with S. S. S. Just try it. Get S. S. S. at your druggist. Ask him for the larger bottle. It's more economical.

Criticism of Nation's

while testifying. He declared it was the war department's firm opinion that the "doughboy" won the war.

As for the "lack of funds," blamed by many witnesses for the army's failure to develop aviation, Drum laid the responsibility directly at the door of the white house.

An $80,000,000 program for new air equipment, planned by the war department, Drum said, had to be abandoned because of this economy.

Because of this economy, Drum testified, all army organizations in the United States are under-manned and have only 80 per cent of their authorized officer personnel, our foreign garrisons are far below peace strength and the department has great difficulty in carrying out the training of the national guard and organized reserves.

Asks Additional Appropriation.

"The war department has prepared the army as a whole to fulfill its national defense obligations," Drum added. "Its forces are balanced in accordance with national defense requirement. It has followed no 'shooting star' or 'rainbow.' Considering the personnel and funds at hand, the army air service is in excellent shape.

"The formation of an air corps within or without the army would not remedy conditions in the air service, unless large additional appropriations over these now given to national defense, were to be appropriated for its use.

"Every branch of the army, not alone the air service, is in need of additional funds for efficient preparation for war. The war department has been and is loyally endeavoring to execute the directions of its commander-in-chief, the president, in pursuance of his economy program. In doing so, the war department has avoided adoption of general measures leading to increased expense.

"Any marked increase in the air service will involve large additional expenditures."

Taking up each recommendation for a new air policy, Drum characterized them as dangerous to the national defense.

"The establishment of a separate air force independent of the army cannot be justified on any grounds whatever," Drum continued.

"The idea behind all these plans is the same. It means separation instead of union. It means aggravating our present difficulties instead of applying a remedy. It will mean aid and assistance for our enemies instead of their destruction and downfall.

It will mean defeat in war instead of victory."

the Second Church, Cleveland, were also to attend the meeting to submit evidence showing why the Cleveland Presbytery believes that Rev. Mr. Shaw should no longer be an ordianed minister of the church and urge his expulsion.

In the absence of Rev. C. R. Cheeks, pastor of the Calcutta United Presbyterian church and moderator of the Presbytery, who was unable to attend the meeting because of a funeral service, the two sessions of the Presbytery today were in charge of Rev. L. F. Patterson, pastor of the West Beaver United Presbyterian church, near West Point, vice moderator.

Shaw, in a defense of his preaching asserts that "I do not heal anybody. God heals people when they have faith enough." Among the many cures, which are alleged to have been brought about through faith since the evangelist opened his series of Cleveland meetings are heart trouble of 32 years' standing; tumor removed without operation; deaf and dumb entirely cured; floating kidney and catarrah of stomach.

Conducted Services Here.

Rev. Mr. Shaw defines his preaching as the "whole gospel." He holds that the Bible teaches "the healing of the body from disease by faith as well as the healing of the soul from sin."

The minister assisted John Sproul, Pittsburgh war veteran, in a series of faith healing services first held in a tent near Glenmoor and later in the High School auditorium here just two years ago, when the Toronto church granted him a leave of absence. His meetings here were regarded as highly successful and later he resigned his charge to enter the evangelistic field. His family resides in Cleveland where he has been conducting revival services in temporary tabernacles which have been erected in various parts of the city.

The First Church was represented at today's meeting by Rev. L. J. Davison, pastor, and W. W. Sloan while Dr. J. O. Campbell, pastor, and D. F. White were delegates from the Second Church. Dr. W. J. Grimes, New Concord, superintendent of the Ohio Synod, who has been visiting in Pittsburgh, came here last night to accompany the local church men to the Presbyterian meeting.

Lunch was served at the noon hour. The afternoon session was scheduled to open about 1:30 o'clock and will probably end late this afternoon, delegates returning home tonight.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Steel stocks received a good impetus, in the early trading today, from the unfilled tonnage report of the Steel corporation published after the close of business on Saturday. Bethlehem improved a point or more at the opening, and sold at the best prices for the movement in the first half hour.

The steel and industrial stocks were soon pushed aside by the motor stocks, however, in which the volume of business was enormous, and appears to be as strenuous as when prices were from 10 to 80 points lower. General Motors passed easily through 120; Dodge pushed upward to around 45 on extremely heavy transactions; Studebaker reached a new high at 62; Willys-Overland, Packard, Pierce Arrow, Hudson, United States Rubber, Stewart Warner, Fisher Body, Timken and other prominent members of the motor family absorbed the major share of speculative attention, and trading in this section of the market in the first hour was as heavy as in any session since the first of September.

for money, the meanest of all the many occupations. But every woman should be engaged in "intellectual activity" and most of them are fortunately. You don't have to be a female lawyer of doctor to be intellectually active.

English women of rank and fashion and many with money but without rank or fashion "are turning pink". That means they are joining the Socialist Labor party, following in the wake of Lady Cynthia Moseley, daughter of the Marquis of Curzon. If she runs for parliament on the Socialist ticket there must be something in it.

That happened in America. Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont, formerly Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt and Mrs. Clarence MacKay, now Mrs. Joseph Blake, "went in" for female suffrage when it was new. They lectured and urged and many estimate suburban ladies joined for fashion's sake.

All very old. When Parmentier introduced the potato vine into France the potatoes grew, but nobody would eat them. They were queer, from America and therefore suspicious.

The king ordered his nobles to wear potato blossoms in their buttonholes to make them fashionable. That changed the situation. When the nobles wore the blossoms the common people ate the potatoes.

Bishop William Montgomery Brown of Arkansas in his old age is to be deposed. That probably is just. If he does not agree with other bishops they have a right to part from him.

In one way the aged bishop is to be congratulated. In the year 1925 he will not be compelled to appear barefoot, dressed in sackcloth with a cord around his neck.

He will not have to kneel down vowing that he "retracts, abjures and abhors his heresy," and he will not be told that he can take his voice between rejecting, adjuring, abhorring and being burned alive.

We do unpleasant things still. But we do them less unpleasantly.

As the new week begins allies and Germans are gathering on some kind of league of nations or agreement not to cut each other's throat. Germany will come into the league. Good luck and more power to them.

May they have their league. May it be the most successful and may they have it to themselves

TWO COURTS IN SESSION HERE

Judge Walter Jones of Miami County Helping With Work.

With two branches of common pleas court in session and with court activity assured during the remainder of the September term, there is reason for believing that several hundred cases will be disposed of during the term. Three juries were in the box Monday, one in No. 1 and two in No. 2 court room. The case in No. 1 took longer to try than did the first in No. 2, and when a verdict was returned by the jury in No. 1, it was excused Monday afternoon until Tuesday. The second jury was in the box when court adjourned in No. 2 Monday afternoon.

Judge Walter D. Jones of Miami county is presiding in No. 2 court, while Judge James G. Moore is in No. 1.

The case of Oliver Patterson against Donald Jones tried to a jury in No. 2 resulted in a verdict being returned for $100 in favor of the plaintiff.

A jury in No. 1 which heard the evidence in the case of Lillian Beach against Lawrence Bailey returned a verdict for $300 in favor of the plaintiff. The plaintiff was the former wife of the defendant. They operated a restaurant in the East End, East Liverpool. The action was to recover $500 which the plaintiff claimed to have loaned the defendant when he went into business.

In the case of the Ryan Dawson Co., and Ryan Manufacturing Co., against Charles A. Smith, this action was settled out of court at the costs of the defendant. It was filed July 26, 1922.

Another settlement at the plaintiffs costs was the action of Fred Santel against John M. Smith and others, which was filed Sept. 5, 1922. This cause was also adjusted without the case going to trial.

For want of prosecution, the case of Clement Lee against Fred H. Arnold has been dismissed by Judge Moore. It was filed Feb. 8, 1923.

On the motion of the plaintiff and at his costs, the case of James C. Mcmilian against Whit Hanlin has been dismsised from the record. This also is one of the older cases on the docket, having been filed Sept. 4, 1923.

The $20,000 action filed Aug. 31, 1923 by Richard Cullen, an infant through his next friend against J. W. Cheswynd has been settled. A jury in this case was waived and there was a trial to the court. Judgment for $100 and costs was returned in favor of the plaintiff.

The case filed Aug. 4, 1923 by Abraham Burlingame against the Youngstown & Ohio River railroad Co., has also been settled. A jury was waived in this cause, there was a trial to the court and judgment for $225 in favor of the plaintiff, and a decree of foreclosure ordered by Judge Moore.

The Masonic Temple Co., of Salem, in its action against W. R. Phillips has been given a verdict of $118.25 in No. 1 court. A jury was empaneled and it returned a verdict immediately. The action was based upon an agreement to purchase stock in the plaintiff corporation.

Leave to answer has been extended until Nov. 10th to E. H. Altgouse as defendant in an action pending in common pleas court wherein John E. Smith is plaintiff. The answer in this case was to have been filed Oct. 10th.

In the apepal case of George Groscoss against Frank Mitcheson which was for a judgment for $42 rendered in a court of a justice of the peace, the court has granted leave to file an answer by Oct. 24.

ELKTON ROAD TO BE IMPROVED

Temporary improvement of the rough section of the Elkton road has been ordered by the county commissioners. Refuse from the dump banks of the American Vitrified Clay Products Co., is to be used for this purpose. The steam shovel of the county will be put to work on the banks to load trucks, and after the refuse has been leveled, the road will be rolled.

It is proposed to make a 10-foot solid roadway along this highway, which is one of the roads placed on the road improvement by the commissioners for its 1926 program. The refuse from this clay plant is known to make an excellent foundation for future surfacing. Probably two weeks will be required to repair this road between the Y. & O. tracks at Lisbon and the east end of the paved section of the Elkton road at Elkton.

Action Filed.

The sale of a car of rubber is the basis of a suit filed in common pleas by Lowenthal & Co., of Akron against Meyer Pazer of East Palestine. The petition which was filed by Attorney W. W. Beck declares that Pazer, who is a junk dealer at East Palestine failed to deliver a car of rubber bought by them, and that there is due them $3,300 for the 15,000 pounds. Interest at six per cent is asked on this claim dating from July 20th, last.

Seek Road Improvement.

A petition has been filed with the county commissioners praying for the improvement of the road leading from Duntown, a section of the West Point district, to Marcas' store. The petitioners have also agreed in their petition to donate labor or money on this road. It is claimed that this road is almost impassable in the winter and spring season. The petitioners would be satisfied if the road was given a slag surface.

Meetings Scheduled For Discussion of $950,000 Bond Issue

Attorney W. H. Vodrey is to be asked to address a meeting of Clarkson grange Wednesday night and explain the $950,000 bond issue proposed by the county commissioners for good road purposes. The Middleton township trustees will speak at this meeting and also a representative of the county commissioners.

Mr. Vodrey is to be asked to deliver the same address he did at the Knox township road meeting at North Georgetown last Saturday afternoon, at which time Attorney L. M. Kyes of East Palestine also spoke.

The grange meeting at Clarkson is to be an open one, and although grangers from neighboring townships have been invited, all others in the Clarkson district not affiliated with the grange are also asked to attend the meeting.

A meeting of Farm Bureau members is scheduled to be held at New Waterford Wednesday night at which time John McBane Kerr of Yellow Creek township, and president of the County Farm Bureau, will speak on the road bond issue. Mr. Kerr is a member of the Yellow Creek board of township trustees, and this is the first Farm Bureau meeting he has been called upon to talk about the proposed road program for next year.

Attorney L. M. Kyes of East Palestine will speak on the 1926 road program and proposed bond issue at a meeting of farmers and residents of the Homeworth district at Homeworth Tuesday night.

A road meeting is being planned by the residents of Hanover township to be held at the Hanoverton town hall, but the date has not been selected. It may be held within the next 10 days, however.

For the purpose of providing funds to pay Knox township's share of the improvement of the Harrisburg-Westville public road, extending west from Westville direct toward Alliance, the county commissioners will open bids for $20,000 at 10 o'clock the morning of Nov. 2.

The bonds will bear 5 per cent interest and will not be sold for less than par and accrued interest. After the bids for the issue have been opened, the issue will then be offered to verbal bidders.

Case Settled.

After lengthy court contests, the case of Gertrude M. Patterson against Annie Thomas has been settled out of court, according to Attorney James Pickering of Minerva, representing Mrs. Patterson.

Patterson committed suicide more than a year ago. A few days before, however, he changed the beneficiary in his insurance policy. After his death, the matter reached the courts, and went from common pleas to the court of appeals. The settlement gives the widow of Patterson the insurance money. Annie Thomas, the defendant in the case that was to come up for trial Monday is a niece.

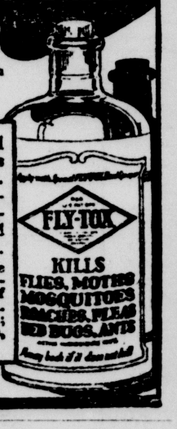

Suit Instituted.

Sarah Jane Mitchala has filed an action in common pleas court against James L. Hanna administrator of the estate of Erbuis E. Hanna, deceased. The plaintiff claims $3,016 due her for service rendered the defendant and also money loaned him during his lifetime.

Twenty tennis courts are to be installed in Wimpleton Park, London.

Dope Kills Battery, Willard Storage Co. Dealer Points Out

It is the most natural thing in the world to be attracted by claims of wonderful solutions that charge batteries instantly, especially if you have had any recent trouble with that particular accessory to your radio set.

A storage battery is made of lead and lead compounds which absorb acid from the battery solution as it delivers current.

To begin with, the battery is fully charged and has a solution which contains the proper amount of acid. Because the plates absorb this acid as it discharges some slight-of-hand artists have been making a nice living by pouring more acid into it. Of course, the additional acid makes the battery operative. But soon the plates are saturated with the acid and the addition of more "dope" has no effect. The battery then must be charged. This forces the acid out of the plates and then there's the dickens to pay.

According to E. L. Goodwin, Willard Storage Battery company, dealer in East Liverpool, the battery solution becomes too strong in such cases and some of it has to be taken out and replaced with distilled water. The innocent radio fan has been palmed by the doper for acid he didn't really want, certainly didn't need and finally had to throw away. There's no secret about the dopes at all, but it is best to let only an authorized battery service station take care of storage batteries.

Following an extensive strike of mechanical and construction workers in Belgium, the strikers accepted a slight wage reduction with the understanding that the scale be changed if living costs show radical fluctuations.

Ohio Power Company Offers Customer-Ownership Stock

Shares, Placed on Market at $95 and Dividend, Sold for Cash and on Easy Payments.

An interesting sidelight on the financial condition of residents of this section and their general desire to place their money in a safe investment paying substantial dividends is shown in the experiences of the employes of The Ohio Power company, who are now selling their company's preferred stock. Although the shares were offered to local people but a short time ago, a substantial amount has already been sold

The sale of preferred stock is particularly interesting because it is in line with a principle which is playing an important part in the business of public utility companies throughout the country. This new idea, commonly known as Customer-Ownership, is based on the realization that it is good business for a large concern to have the good will of its neighbors and to share its prosperity with them.

Through ownership of the preferred stock the company's customers will share in the money paid out as dividends to stockholders every three months while the company will gain through a friendlier relationship with the public.

The stock, which is priced at $95.00 and dividend a share is sold both for cash and on easy payment plan, calling for monthly payments of $10.00. It is cumulative, making it necessary for the company to pay its dividends in full before a penny is paid on the common stock and is preferred as to assets to the extent of $100.00 and dividend per share.

Dividends are paid by the company on March 1, June 1, September 1, and December 1. Those buying shares on the easy payment plan will receive interest at 5 per cent a year on the regular dividend dates until the stock is paid for, at which time they will be entitled to receive the regular dividend which, at present price of the stock, amounts to more than 6¼ per cent a year.

Pirates and Nats Back In Smoky City For Deciding Game

RUETHER MAY BE SENT TO SLAB FOR SENATORS; KREMER BUCS' CHOICE

By David J. Walsh.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13.—There was a slightly bullish trend to the Pittsburgh market this morning as the Pirates and Senators prepare to fare forth for the sixth game of the world series, the bulls growling deeply of an injury to Walter Johnson and the accepted fact that Dutch Ruether was a left handed gentleman or something. Ruether was the general choice as Washington pitcher today and unfortunately he was one of those wrong-handed individuals upon which the Pirates were believed to dote.

Their record was something like one left hander born a minute and another to knock him off. Yet Washington had little choice. It could pitch Alex. Ferguson, a right handed young man of uncertain possibilities, or Reuther, a million dollar money pitcher with a left handed complex. The general idea was that Ruether would be the selection, Washington needing this game no more than it needs its mounment.

Victory, as a matter of fact, meant the series was over and the Senators were returned the winners for the second time in as many years. Defeat meant that the club would have to enter the seventh and final game with not the slightest assurance that Walter Johnson was ready for action.

The young man limped palpably in working out with the club yesterday and if he is no better tomorrow, Washington might just as well fold up its tent like the Arabs and silently steal away.

In brief, the thing meant that, Reuther failing tomorrow, Johnson simply had to turn up present for the final game of the Washington ball club was due to finish second in a series, it seemed to have had already won. However, Reuther was not supposed to be a push-over today.

You push Dutch Reuther over just about as readily as you push over the rock of Gibraltar. Pittsburgh's preference for left handers to the contrary notwithstanding or otherwise.

Ruether was the big "money" pitcher of the Washington outfit today. Ferguson had the reputation of having eased the Senators into the pennant but no seven-inning pitcher would do today. Stanley Harris wanted nine innings of baseball and the best way to get it was to start Dutch Reuther.

The Pittsburgh nominee was Ray Kremer, who weighed in with something of a natty performance in the third game of the series. Johnson raised him five dollars and took the pot. He just simply couldn't miss. Kremer, however, uncovered sufficient stuff to entitle him to another shot at the big money.

The sudden change of locale from Washington to Pittsburgh meant a rapid switch in the odds from 6 to 1 on Washington to 6 to 5 on the same ball club. There was not a buffalo nickel to prove it, however. The boys might flourish bank rolls in and around this series but they are careful to keep the same in the crook of their index finger.

Washington, of course, remained the public choice because it needed only one ball game to Pittsburgh's two, but the matter of Mr. Reuther being left handed and Mr. Johnson being flat footed placed an element of uncertainty upon the situation.

As a matter of fundamental fact, the only thing certain about today's game was that Stuffy McInnes would continue to play first base for the remainder of the series. He might not be able to move off the edge of a dime on defense, but the punch of his hitting is something the Pirates can not afford to laugh at.

FUNNY GAME, THIS BASEBALL

Golf Club Pro Gives His Views On Big Series.

EDITOR'S NOTE:—One of the most interested spectators at the world's series games has been Peter Jackson, professional at the Indian Spring Golf club, just outside the capital. He saw his baseball game not many months ago when he came to the United States from a famous English course, and has become an enthusiastic convert. The following represents his impression of the sixth game yesterday.

By Peter Jackson.
(Indian Spring Golf Club Professional)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Well, as I understand it, the Washington's had them dormie three and the match now goes to the Pittsburgh course, which our lads tell me is a short layout as the yardage, with a lot of trick holes.

Yesterday's game, I should say, was a match of foozled drives and missed putts on the part of the Washingtons. There were numerous times when a solid smack or a long putt would have been very useful to the Senators, but usually some Pirate arranged a stymie or some Senator blew his chance.

There was the fourth hole, for instance. The Washingtons had one run already in to square the match, and Muddy Ruel and Ossie Bluege were nicely on the green. Coveleskie missed his drive completely—fanning, he did—and there was Sam Rice, an eighty golfer and a 350 hitter, up. He hit the ball on the toe of his club and sliced it down the first base line where McInnis—a good Scotch name that—scooped it up, and the opportunity was lost. True, they got a half for the inning, but halves don't win matches.

Sam partially made up for that slice in the next inning, though, for he kissed a wind-cheater straight down the alley and brought Leibold home.

Those Pittsburgers were hitting too well off the tees yesterday for the Washingtons. When your opponent is socking 'em down the middle for 275 and 300 yards, playing his chip shots dead, and then holding out in regulation fashion, its right discouraging.

Funny game, this baseball—a long, clean put out in the middle usually don't mean much, but a half-topped one that slithers off in front of the tee and bounces crazy-like, does the business. And there seem to be a premium for knocking them out of bounds into the spectators that line the course. But it's a great game.

Probable Lineup for Sixth Contest

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13.—The probable lineup of the contending teams in the sixth game of the world series this afternoon at Forbes Field was as follows:

Senators.	Pirates.
Rice, cf	Moore, 2b
S. Harris, 2b	Carey, cf
Goslin, lf	Cuyler, rf
Judge, 1b	Barnhart, lf
J. Harris, rf	Traynor, 3b
Peckinpaugh, ss	Wright, ss
Ruel, c	McInnis, 1b.
Bluege, 3b.	Smith, c
Ferguson or Ruether, p	Kramer, p

Umpires—At plate, Owens (American league); at first base, McCormick (National league); at second, Moriarity (American league); at third base, Rigler (National league).

CUBS HOLD 3 TO 1 LEAD OVER SOX

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Chicago baseball fans were greeted by clear skies here today, under which to watch the White Sox fight with their back to the wall in a last attempt to keep the little series title from the threatening Cubs. In order to win the championship, the Sox will find it necessary to win three successive games. By virtue of a 3 to 1 win from the Sox yesterday, the Cubs boasted three games to the Sox's single victory.

The youthful Tony Kaufman pitched a wonderful game for the Cubs yesterday, holding the Sox hitless for five innings and allowing them to pass first but five times during the remainder of the game. Ted Lyons was on the mound for the Sox.

FINLEY-JONES BATTLE TONIGHT

YOUNGSTOWN, Oct. 13.—Jimmy Finley, the Louisville, Ky., battler, who will meet Jimmy Jones in the first indoor boxing show at Rayen-Wood auditorium tonight, shapes up as one of the most likely looking youngsters that Jones has been called upon to tackle in some time. Finley, a youngster who has been boxing since 1921, has had 150 fights, winning 50 of them by the K. O. route.

Alvie Miller will tackle Eddie Bowen in the eight-round semi-final. George Harris will tackle Jimmy Corbett, of Niles, in the second prelim.

Aldrich has an unpleasant habit of tightening up in the pinches. If he hadn't we might all have been taking the first train back home.

BULLDOGS TIE WITH HILLTOPS

The Lamborn Bulldogs played a scoreless tie yesterday at Deidrick hill with the Hilltop Athletics. The Athletics are looking for more games. Call 689-J.

The lineups:

Moon Harris apparently has the home run complex. Goose Goslin, being a jealous young fellow, probably is glad the series is going into extra innings. He likes that cracker box field in this town. But so does Joe we suppose.

WITH SENATORS ON BASES AS THEY WON FOURTH GAME

Nats Apprehensive of What Might Happen If Bucs Win Again Today

Pitching Situation Considerably Befogged Before Sixth Game; Both Managers Would Appreciate a Day of Rain.

By Sid Mercer.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13.—Although the entire cast of the 1925 world series returned to Pittsburgh this morning for the sixth act, the demeanor of the local citizenry indicates a deplorable lack of confidence in the ability of the chastened Pirates to pull the title out of the fire by winning today and tomorrow.

Washington hopes the agony will be over today but is a little apprehensive of what might happen if the Pirates win again today and Walter Johnson is not able to pitch the seventh game.

The pitching situation is considerably befogged this morning. Another day of rain might relieve both managers of the necessity of calling on boxmen who could use another day of rest before starting the sixth game. The experts anticipate that Kremer will be McKechnie's first choice and Morrison and Yde the reserves. The Washington nomination will likely fall to Ferguson.

Kremer and Ferguson opposed each other in the Saturday game in Washington, the former going eight innings and the latter only seven, under the circumstances both should be fairly well equipped to start again today.

The pitching would be easier to dope out if Meadows and Johnson were not crippled. Meadows last night expressed the opinion that he was done for the series. His lame elbow has not responded as quickly to treatment as he hoped it would.

While the opinion prevails that Washington will win eventually, a victory for the Pirates today will be most distressing for the American league champions. That is why the Harris men are going to put everything they have into today's punch to obviate the necessity of a seventh game.

Johnson's condition may be the deciding factor, if it narrows down to one decisive game. His injury in the Sunday game was a torn thigh muscle. It stiffened him up after the game and he limped through light practice yesterday. He may work his soreness out today and he may not.

Even the threat of a lame Johnson is enough to make the Pirates worry. If they stagger through and win today, they will be on the short end tomorrow with any pitcher McKechnie may select.

HOME RUN HITTER IS RECOVERING

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Babe Ruth, whose illness forced him to come home from the world series games, was much improved today. He may not have to undergo an operation, as was feared.

Dr. Edward King has been treating the abscess from which Ruth is suffering.

So improved was the bambino's condition today that he was making plans to leave for the Maine woods tomorrow on a hunting trip with other ball players

OBERLIN IS NEXT FOR MOUNT UNION

ALLIANCE, Oct. 13.—Coach Thorpe used many combinations throughout the Ashland game Saturday in order to test his reserve strength for the Oberlin game on next Saturday at Oberlin. Some real strength was discovered especially in the offensive work of Fullback Armstrong with his punting and Captain Ball at tackle and Burkle at Center on the defense. All men came out of the Ashland melee without injury, so they should be in excellent shape for the Oberlin game. Some veterans have been on the semi-injured list but will be ready to start Saturday.

Oberlin will be the scene of Mount Union's migration on next Saturday. Several hundred students and city fans, headed by the Mount Union band will invade Oberlin in the hope that Mount Union will keep their slate clear at the expense of Oberlin.

They say Joe Judge hasn't been the same since he was beaned in the closing days of the season. He may be all wet at bat, but ti takes a real ball player to do an Annette Kellerman after a ball the way he did in the fourth on Carey's sock down the base line. The dive was so high he had to do the Australian crawl to first for the put out.

Last Night's Fights

At Columbus—Bernie Tremaine, Detroit, defeated Bill Garrison, Columbus, ten rounds. Hank Fredericks, Ohio State University, lightweight, won from Micky Murphy, Cincinnati, 8 rounds. Jack Lawler, 150, Cincinnati, knocked out Les Haney, 149, Dayton, in first of scheduled six round bout. Lafe Murray defeated Young Porter, 4 rounds.

BUCKY STARS AS NATS WIN

Stanley Harris, Washington manager, makes a beautiful steal of third base in the seventh inning of the fourth game of the world's series, won by the Nats, 4 to 0. He performed brilliantly in the infield in the contest.

BERLENBACH SHOWS HEAVYWEIGHT FORM IN BEATING SOLOMON

Gives Jewish Heavy Nearly 20 Pounds and Has Him Out On His Feet When Referee Stops Scrap In Ninth Round of New York Scrap.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Paul Berlenbach today appeared in the light of a real threat in the heavyweight ranks in case he should ever feel called on to expand the realm of the light—heavyweight kingdom. This came as the result of his workmanlike disposal of King Solomon in the nine rounds in the closing open air program yesterday. He gave the Jewish heavyweight nearly twenty pounds.

And had him out on his feet when the referee stopped the fight.

Sid Terris, the east side flash and fought ten fast but unconvincing rounds. Terris had Bernstein down once and Sid himself slipped and fell, about at the same time he stopped a left in his stomach. Terris got the decision, his second Bernstein.

Joe Celmars, of Hoboken, substituted for Johnny Dundee when illness kept the latter from meeting Babe Herman, and surprised Babe and others by carrying the Californian to a fast ten round draw. Jimmy Kelly, the Babe's manager, said he would claim Dundee's $2,500 forfeit, as well as the world featherweight title that Dundee still said was his.

Stan Harris either threw too soon or too late in his attempt to nip Cuyler off third base. Stanley had the play right in front of him on the runner going down from second; yet didn't wait long enough or too long, as the case might have been, in trying the play, for Kiki pulled up at third just as Barnhart romped all over second for a double steal.

M'CARTHY NEW CUBS' LEADER

American Association Pilot Goes to Chicago.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—The Chicago Cubs greeted a new leader today. He is Joe Vincent McCarthy, American Association maker of champion baseball teams. Rumors that McCarthy was to assume the managership of the Cubs were brought to a climax last night by the signing of a two-year contract with officials of the Cubs.

McCarthy has been in league baseball since 1907, during which time he has been with a second division team but once. He became manager of the Louisville Colonels in 1919, succeeding Patsy Flaherty, now a Cub scout.

Bluege makes a big difference. He handled five chances perfectly yesterday, which is several more than Buddy Myer undertook in his two games. The Pirates are probably big-hearted and like to see a young fellow get along.

TWO COURTS IN SESSION HERE

Judge Walter Jones of Miami County Helping With Work.

With two branches of common pleas court in session and with court activity assured during the remainder of the September term, there is reason for believing that several hundred cases will be disposed of during the term. Three juries were in the box Monday, one in No. 1 and two in No. 2 court room. The case in No. 1 took longer to try than did the first in No. 2, and when a verdict was returned by the jury in No. 1, it was excused Monday afternoon until Tuesday. The second jury was in the box when court adjourned in No. 2 Monday afternoon.

The case of Oliver Patterson against Donald Jones tried to a jury in No. 2 resulted in a verdict being returned for $100 in favor of the plaintiff.

A jury in No. 1 which heard the evidence in the case of Lillian Beach against Lawrence Bailey returned a verdict for $300 in favor of the plaintiff. The plaintiff was the former wife of the defendant. They operated a restaurant in the East End, East Liverpool. The action was to recover $300 which the plaintiff claimed to have loaned the defendant when he went into business.

In the case of the Ryan Dawson Co., and Ryan Manufacturing Co., against Charles A. Smith, this action was settled out of court at the costs of the defendant. It was filed July 26, 1922.

Another settlement at the plaintiffs costs was the action of Fred Santel against John M. Smith and others, which was filed Sept. 5, 1922. This cause was also adjusted without the case going to trial.

For want of prosecution, the case of Clement Lee against Fred H. Arnold has been dismissed by Judge Moore. It was filed Feb. 8, 1923.

On the motion of the plaintiff and at his costs, the case of James C. Mcmillan against Whit Hanlin has been dismsised from the record. This also is one of the older cases on the docket, having been filed Sept. 4, 1923.

The $20,000 action filed Aug. 31, 1923 by Richard Cullen, an infant through his next friend against J. W. Cheswyn has been settled. A jury in this case was waived and there was a trial to the court. Judgment for $100 and costs was returned in favor of the plaintiff.

The case filed Aug. 4, 1923 by Abraham Burlingame against the Youngstown & Ohio River railroad Co., has also been settled. A jury was waived in this cause, there was a trial to the court and judgment for $225 in favor of the plaintiff, and a decree of foreclosure ordered by Judge Moore.

The Masonic Temple Co., of Salem, in its action against W. R. Phillips has been given a verdict of $118.25 in No. 1 court. A jury was empaneled and it returned a verdict immediately. The action was based upon an agreement to purchase stock in the plaintiff corporation.

Leave to answer has been extended until Nov. 10th to E. H. Altgouse as defendant in an action pending in common pleas court wherein John E. Smith is plaintiff. The answer in this case was to have been filed Oct. 10th.

In the apepal case of George Grosscoss against Frank Mitcheson which was for a judgment for $42 rendered in a court of a justice of the peace, the court has granted leave to file an answer by Oct. 24.

ELKTON ROAD TO BE IMPROVED

Temporary improvement of the rough section of the Elkton road has been ordered by the county commissioners. Refuse from the dump banks of the American Vitrified Clay Products Co., is to be used for this purpose. The steam shovel of the county will be put to work on the banks to load trucks, and after the refuse has been leveled, the road will be rolled.

It is proposed to make a 10-foot solid roadway along this highway, which is one of the roads placed on the road improvement by the commissioners for its 1926 program. The refuse from this clay plant is known to make an excellent foundation for future surfacing. Probably two weeks will be required to repair this road between the Y. & O. tracks at Lisbon and the east end of the paved section of the Elkton road at Elkton.

Action Filed.

The sale of a car of rubber is the basis of a suit filed in common pleas by Lowenthal & Co., of Akron against Meyer Pazer of East Palestine. The petition which was filed by Attorney W. W. Beck declares that Pazer, who is a junk dealer at East Palestine failed to deliver a car of rubber bought by them, and that there is due them $3,300 for the 15,000 pounds. Interest at six per cent is asked on this claim dating from July 20th, last.

Seek Road Improvement.

A petition has been filed with the county commissioners praying for the improvement of the road leading from Duntown, a section of the West Point district, to Marcas' store. The petitioners have also agreed in their petition to donate labor or money on this road. It is claimed that this road is almost impassable in the winter and spring season. The petitioners would be satisfied if the road was given a slag surface.

Meetings Scheduled For Discussion of $950,000 Bond Issue

Attorney W. H. Vodrey is to be asked to address a meeting of Clarkson grange Wednesday night and explain the $950,000 bond issue proposed by the county commissioners for good road purposes. The Middleton township trustees will speak at this meeting and also a representative of the county commissioners.

Mr. Vodrey is to be asked to deliver the same address he did at the Knox township road meeting at North Georgetown last Saturday afternoon, at which time Attorney L. M. Kyes of East Palestine also spoke.

The grange meeting at Clarkson is to be an open one, and although grangers from neighboring townships have been invited, all others in the Clarkson district not affiliated with the grange are also asked to attend the meeting.

A meeting of Farm Bureau members is scheduled to be held at New Waterford Wednesday night at which time John McBane Kerr of Yellow Creek township, and president of the County Farm Bureau, will speak on the road bond issue. Mr. Kerr is a member of the Yellow Creek board of township trustees, and this is the first Farm Bureau meeting he has been called upon to talk about the proposed road program for next year.

Attorney L. M. Kyes of East Palestine will speak on the 1926 road program and proposed bond issue at a meeting of farmers and residents of the Homeworth district at Homeworth Tuesday night.

A road meeting is being planned by the residents of Hanover township to be held at the Hanoverton town hall, but the date has not been selected. It may be held within the next 10 days, however.

For the purpose of providing funds to pay Knox township's share of the improvement of the Harrisburg-Westville public road, extending west from Westville direct toward Alliance, the county commissioners will open bids for $20,000 at 10 o'clock the morning of Nov. 2.

The bonds will bear 5 per cent interest and will not be sold for less than par and accrued interest. After the bids for the issue have been opened, the issue will then be offered to verbal bidders.

Case Settled.

After lengthy court contests, the case of Gertrude M. Patterson against Annie Thomas has been settled out of court, according to Attorney James Pickering of Minerva, representing Mrs. Patterson.

Patterson committed suicide more than a year ago. A few days before, however, he changed the beneficiary in his insurance policy. After his death, the matter reached the courts, and went from common pleas to the court of appeals. The settlement gives the widow of Patterson the insurance money. Annie Thomas, the defendant in the case that was to come up for trial Monday is a niece.

Suit Instituted.

Sarah Jane Mitchala has filed an action in common pleas court against James L. Hanna administrator of the estate of Erbuis E. Hanna, deceased. The plaintiff claims $3,016 due her for service rendered the defendant and also money loaned him during his lifetime.

Twenty tennis courts are to be installed in Wimpleton Park, London.

'Blossom Time,' Musical Comedy Success, Booked For Oct. 21

Franz Shubert's Broadway Hit Will Make Farewell Appearance at Ceramic Theatre Next Week.

"Blossom Time", considered the most magnificent musical comedy success in years, will be presented under auspices of Messrs. Lee and J. J. Shubert for one night only, Wednesday, October 21, at the Ceramic theatre. This will be the last opportunity for playgoers to see this charming play as it is now in the course of its farewell tour, embracing the leading cities and a limited few of the smaller ones.

The company which will appear in East Liverpool is regarded as the uniformly best which has been assembled for the Franz Schubert piece. In the organization of sixty will be found such well known names as Joseph Mendelsohn, (the original New York and London Franz Schubert) Shep Camp, Gene Leontovitch, Beulah Berson, Arthur Hadley, Cuni Berti, Henry Rabke, Lillian Menken, Isabel Vernon, Betty Shapells, Kraft Walton, James Sheridan, Edward Kirby, William Kelsey, Donald Lubeck, William Webster, Marie Dantes, Ben Chashelson, Harry F. Scott, Freda Melburn and large and distinctive group of dancing girls and show girls.

The usual elaborate new Shubert production will be in vogue. An aguimented orchestra will execute the beautiful score and will be under the direction of Theodore Coleman, recently borrowed by the Messrs Shubert from the Metropolitan Opera. As this is the last presentation of "Blossom Time" in this city the Ceramic management is certain that a capacity or turn-away house will be the rule.

WORLD'S SERIES SIDELIGHTS

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 13.—Earl Smith tried to go wandering about with Goslin's goat. Earl almost succeeded, Goslin only getting two hits in four times at bat.

Stan Harris and Rice decided to hold a conference at the plate during one of several Washington pinches. Friend Earl joined them. He was as welcome as cauliflower in March.

Coveleskie may have won three games for Cleveland in the 1920 series, but there is no doubt that he has lost two this year. At that, A. B. C. support should have won the first one for him.

The "experts" touted the Pirates as the heavier hitting team before the start of the series. At least, the "experts" can point to yesterday's struggle for justification, because for the first time the Pittsburgh gentlemen outsmote the Senators, 13 to 8.

STRAND OFFERS CLASSY SHOW

"Song Box Revue" "Opens Week's Engagement Here.

Lovers of musical comedy are sure of a real treat in the offering of the "Song Box Revue" company, which opened a week's engagement at the Strand Theatre, yesterday.

The bill is perhaps one of the best to appear at the playhouse so far this season. A company of 18 stars, the majority of them girls, makes up the cast.

The principal comedy role is in the hands of Bart Crawford, blackface comedian, Bret and Young, listed as specialty dancers offer a dancing skit which brought considerable applause. Another of the several vaudeville specialties, presented during the show, was an act by Vardo and Kinney, with violin and accordian instruments.

Another hit of the show was a dancing act in which the "Scandal walk", "Bowery", "Cake Walk", and "Waltz of Long ago" are presented. The favorite dance steps in Scotland, Ireland, Holland, Russia, China, United States and other lands, presented in another specialty, was also appreciated.

The chorus is made up of eight pretty girls, whose wardrobe consists of a half dozen or more changes in costumes. Stage settings and drops are also elaborate. The photoplay for the first two days of the week is "Up the Ladder" with an all-star cast.

The bill will change Wednesday and again on Friday with complete new shows on both dates.

Stuffy McInnis, who once did the Charleston in that million dollar infield of Connie Mack's, at last crashed into the game in his own right. One hit out of five efforts and a perfect day afield marked his efforts.

By David J. Walsh.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13.—There was a slightly bullish trend to the Pittsburgh market this morning as the Pirates and Senators prepare to fare forth for the sixth game of the world series, the bulls growling deeply of an injury to Walter Johnson and the accepted fact that Dutch Ruether was a left handed gentleman or something. Ruether was the general choice as Washington pitcher today and unfortunately he was one of those wrong-handed individuals upon which the Pirates were believed to dote.

Their record was something like one left hander born a minute and another to knock him off. Yet Washington had little choice. It could pitch Alex. Ferguson, a right handed young man of uncertain possibilities, or Reuther, a million dollar money pitcher with a left handed complex. The general idea was that Ruether would be the selection, Washington needing this game no more than it needs its mounment.

Victory, as a matter of fact, meant the series was over and the Senators were returned the winners for the second time in as many years. Defeat meant that the club would have to enter the seventh and final game with not the slightest assurance that Walter Johnson was ready for action.

The young man limped palpably in working out with the club yesterday and if he is no better tomorrow, Washington might just as well fold up its tent like the Arabs and silently steal away.

In brief, the thing meant that, Reuther failing tomorrow, Johnson simply had to turn up present for the final game of the Washington ball club was due to finish second in a series, it seemed to have had already won. However, Reuther was not supposed to be a push-over today.

You push Dutch Reuther over just about as readily as you push over the rock of Gibraltar. Pittsburgh's preference for left handers to the contrary notwithstanding or otherwise.

Ruether was the big "money" pitcher of the Washington outfit today. Ferguson had the reputation of having eased the Senators into the pennant but no seven-inning pitcher would do today. Stanley Harris wanted nine innings of baseball and the best way to get it was to start Dutch Reuther.

The Pittsburgh nominee was Ray Kremer, who weighed in with something of a natty performance in the third game of the series. Johnson raised him five dollars and took the pot. He just simply couldn't miss. Kremer, however, uncovered sufficient stuff to entitle him to another shot at the big money.

The sudden change of locale from Washington to Pittsburgh meant a rapid switch in the odds from 6 to 1 on Washington to 6 to 5 on the same ball club. There was not a buffalo nickel to prove it, however. The boys might flourish bank rolls in and around this series but they are careful to keep the same in the crook of their index finger.

Washington, of course, remained the public choice because it needed only one ball game to Pittsburgh's two, but the matter of Mr. Reuther being left handed and Mr. Johnson being flat footed placed an element of uncertainty upon the situation.

As a matter of fundamental fact, the only thing certain about today's game was that Stuffy McInnes would continue to play first base for the remainder of the series. He might not be able to move off the edge of a dime on defense, but the punch of his hitting is something the Pirates cannot afford to laugh at.

Probable Lineup for Sixth Contest

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13. — The probable lineup of the contending teams in the sixth game of the world series this afternoon at Forbes Field was as follows:

Judge, 1b	Barnhart, lf
J. Harris, rf	Traynor, 3b
Peckinpaugh, ss	Wright, ss
Ruel, c	McInnis, 1b.
Bluege, 3b.	Smith, c
Ferguson or Ruether, p	Kramer, p

Umpires—At plate, Owens (American league); at first base, McCormick (National league); at second, Moriarity (American league); at third base, Rigler (National league).

FUNNY GAME, THIS BASEBALL

Golf Club Pro Gives His Views On Big Series.

EDITOR'S NOTE:—One of the most interested spectators at the world's series games has been Peter Jackson, professional at the Indian Spring Golf club, just outside the capital. He saw his baseball game not many months ago when he came to the United States from a famous English course, and has become an enthusiastic convert. The following represents his impression of the sixth game yesterday.

By Peter Jackson.
(Indian Spring Golf Club Professional)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Well, as I understand it, the Washington's had them dormie three and the match now goes to the Pittsburgh course, which our lads tell me is a short layout as the yardage, with a lot of trick holes.

Yesterday's game, I should say, was a match of foozled drives and missed putts on the part of the Washingtons. There were numerous times when a solid smack or a long putt would have been very useful to the Senators, but usually some Pirate arranged a stymie or some Senator blew his chance.

There was the fourth hole, for instance. The Washingtons had one run already in to square the match, and Muddy Ruel and Ossie Bluege were nicely on the green. Coveleskie missed his drive completely—fanning, he did—and there was Sam Rice, an eighty golfer and a 350 hitter, up. He hit the ball on the toe of his club and sliced it down the first base line where McInnis—a good Scotch name that—scooped it up, and the opportunity was lost. True, they got a half for the inning, but halves don't win matches.

Sam partially made up for that slice in the next inning, though, for he kissed a wind-cheater straight down the alley and brought Leibold home.

Those Pittsburgers were hitting too well off the tees yesterday for the Washingtons. When your opponent is socking 'em down the middle for 275 and 300 yards, playing his chip shots dead, and then holding out in regulation fashion, its right discouraging.

Funny game, this baseball—a long, clean put out in the middle usually don't mean much, but a half-topped one that slithers off in front of the tee and bounces crazy-like, does the business. And there seem to be a premium for knocking them out of bounds into the spectators that line the course. But it's a great game.

CUBS HOLD 3 TO 1 LEAD OVER SOX

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Chicago baseball fans were greeted by clear skies here today, under which to watch the White Sox fight with their back to the wall in a last attempt to keep the little series title from the threatening Cubs. In order to win the championship, the Sox will find it necessary to win three successive games. By virtue of a 3 to 1 win from the Sox yesterday, the Cubs boasted three games to the Sox's single victory.

The youthful Tony Kaufman pitched a wonderful game for the Cubs yesterday, holding the Sox hitless for five innings and allowing them to pass first but five times during the remainder of the game. Ted Lyons was on the mound for the Sox.

FINLEY-JONES BATTLE TONIGHT

YOUNGSTOWN, Oct. 13.—Jimmy Finley, the Louisville, Ky., battler, who will meet Jimmy Jones in the first indoor boxing show at Rayen-Wood auditorium tonight, shapes up as one of the most likely looking youngsters that Jones has been called upon to tackle in some time. Finley, a youngster who has been boxing since 1921, has had 150 fights, winning 50 of them by the K. O. route.

Alvie Miller will tackle Eddie Bowen in the eight-round semi-final. George Harris will tackle Jimmy Corbett, of Niles, in the second prelim.

Aldrich has an unpleasant habit of tightening up in the pinches. If he hadn't we might all have been taking the first train back home.

WITH SENATORS ON BASES AS THEY WON FOURTH GAME

Nats Apprehensive of What Might Happen If Bucs Win Again Today

Pitching Situation Considerably Befogged Before Sixth Game; Both Managers Would Appreciate a Day of Rain.

By Sid Mercer.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13. — Although the entire cast of the 1925 world series returned to Pittsburgh this morning for the sixth act, the demeanor of the local citizenry indicates a deplorable lack of confidence in the ability of the chastened Pirates to pull the title out of the fire by winning today and tomorrow.

Washington hopes the agony will be over today but is a little apprehensive of what might happen if the Pirates win again today and Walter Johnson is not able to pitch the seventh game.

The pitching situation is considerably befogged this morning. Another day of rain might relieve both managers of the necessity of calling on boxmen who could use another day of rest before starting the sixth game. The experts anticipate that Kremer will be McKechnie's first choice and Morrison and Yde the reserves. The Washington nomination will likely fall to Ferguson.

Kremer and Ferguson opposed each other in the Saturday game in Washington, the former going eight innings and the latter only seven, under the circumstances both should be fairly well equipped to start again today.

The pitching would be easier to dope out if Meadows and Johnson were not crippled. Meadows last night expressed the opinion that he was done for the series. His lame elbow has not responded as quickly to treatment as he hoped it would.

While the opinion prevails that Washington will win eventually, a victory for the Pirates today will be most distressing for the American league champions. That is why the Harris men are going to put everything they have into today's punch to obviate the necessity of a seventh game.

Johnson's condition may be the deciding factor, if it narrows down to one decisive game. His injury in the Sunday game was a torn thigh muscle. It stiffened him up after the game and he limped through light practice yesterday. He may work his soreness out today and he may not.

Even the threat of a lame Johnson is enough to make the Pirates worry. If they stagger through and win today, they will be on the short end tomorrow with any pitcher McKechnie may select.

OBERLIN IS NEXT FOR MOUNT UNION

ALLIANCE, Oct. 13.—Coach Thorpe used many combinations throughout the Ashland game Saturday in order to test his reserve strength for the Oberlin game on next Saturday at Oberlin. Some real strength was discovered especially in the offensive work of Fullback Armstrong with his punting and Captain Ball at tackle and Burkle at Center on the defense. All men came out of the Ashland melee without injury, so they should be in excellent shape for the Oberlin game. Some veterans have been on the semi-injured list but will be ready to start Saturday.

Oberlin will be the scene of Mount Union's migration on next Saturday. Several hundred students and city fans, headed by the Mount Union band will invade Oberlin in the hope that Mount Union will keep their slate clear at the expense of Oberlin.

They say Joe Judge hasn't been the same since he was beaned in the closing days of the season. He may be all wet at bat, but ti takes a real ball player to do an Annette Kellerman after a ball the way he did in the fourth on Carey's sock down the base line. The dive was so high he had to do the Australian crawl to first for the put out.

BULLDOGS TIE WITH HILLTOPS

The Lamborn Bulldogs played a scoreless tie yesterday at Deidrick hill with the Hilltop Athletics. The Athletics are looking for more games. Call 689-J.

The lineups:

Moon Harris apparently has the home run complex. Goose Goslin, being a jealous young fellow, probably is glad the series is going into extra innings. He likes that cracker box field in this town. But so does Joe we suppose.

HOME RUN HITTER IS RECOVERING

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Babe Ruth, whose illness forced him to come home from the world series games, was much improved today. He may not have to undergo an operation, as was feared.

Dr. Edward King has been treating the absess from which Ruth is suffering.

So improved was the bambino's condition today that he was making plans to leave for the Maine woods tomorrow on a hunting trip with other ball players

Last Night's Fights

At Columbus—Bernie Tremaine, Detroit, defeated Bill Garrison, Columbus, ten rounds. Hank Fredericks, Ohio State University, lightweight, won from Micky Murphy, Cincinnati, 8 rounds. Jack Lawler, 150, Cincinnati, knocked out Les Haney, 149, Dayton, in first of scheduled six round bout. Lafe Murray defeated Young Porter, 4 rounds.

BUCKY STARS AS NATS WIN

Stanley Harris, Washington manager, makes a beautiful steal of third base in the seventh inning of the fourth game of the world's series, won by the Nats, 4 to 0. He performed brilliantly in the infield in the contest.

BERLENBACH SHOWS HEAVYWEIGHT FORM IN BEATING SOLOMON

Gives Jewish Heavy Nearly 20 Pounds and Has Him Out On His Feet When Referee Stops Scrap In Ninth Round of New York Scrap.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Paul Berlenbach today appeared in the light of a real threat in the heavyweight ranks in case he should ever feel called on to expand the realm of the light—heavyweight kingdom. This came as the result of his workmanlike disposal of King Solomon in the nine rounds in the closing open air program yesterday. He gave the Jewish heavyweight nearly twenty pounds.

And had him out on his feet when the referee stopped the fight.

Sid Terris, the east side flash and fought ten fast but unconvincing rounds. Terris had Bernstein down once and Sid himself slipped and fell, about at the same time he stopped a left in his stomach. Terris got the decision, his second Bernstein

Joe Celmars, of Hoboken, substituted for Johnny Dundee when illness kept the latter from meeting Babe Herman, and surprised Babe and others by carrying the Californian to a fast ten round draw. Jimmy Kelly, the Babe's manager, said he would claim Dundee's $2,500 forfeit, as well as the world featherweight title that Dundee still said was his.

Stan Harris either threw too soon or too late in his attempt to nip Cuyler off third base. Stanley had the play right in front of him on the runner going down from second; yet didn't wait long enough or too long, as the case might have been, in trying the play, for Kiki pulled up at third just as Barnhart romped all over second for a double steal.

M'CARTHY NEW CUBS' LEADER

American Association Pilot Goes to Chicago.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—The Chicago Cubs greeted a new leader today. He is Joe Vincent McCarthy, American Association maker of champion baseball teams. Rumors that McCarthy was to assume the managership of the Cubs were brought to a climax last night by the signing of a two-year contract with officials of the Cubs.

McCarthy has been in league baseball since 1907, during which time he has been with a second division team but once. He became manager of the Louisville Colonels in 1919, succeeding Patsy Flaherty, now a Cub scout.

Bluege makes a big difference. He handled five chances perfectly yesterday, which is several more than Buddy Myer undertook in his two games. The Pirates are probably big-hearted and like to see a young fellow get along.

HIGHER TEACHER STANDARD IS SET

Effective July 1, 1926, higher standards must be attained by those aspiring to enter the teaching profession of West Virginia. At its meeting Friday the state board of education decided that an over-supply of teachers justified stricter requirements. Accordingly, high school graduates will not receive temporary certificates by virtue of their diplomas, but will be required to attend normal school for at least nine weeks. To obtain a first grade one-year temporary certificate the applicant must attend two summer terms of normal school, or a half year.

More than 2,000 temporary certificates were issued this year.

The state board of education concluded its work and adjourned without meeting Saturday as had been planned. However, it was decided to meet again on Nov. 6 in Huntington, probably at the Pritchard hotel, at the time of the convention of the State Education association.

DISTRICT SCHOOL ENROLLMENT 839

Grant district school enrollment totals 839 students, according to a report made today by R. L. Hoke, district superintendent and principal of the high school. This is an increase over last year of approximately 100 pupils.

The enrollment is divided as follows: Senior high school 34, junior high school 108, Newell grade rooms 358, rural schools 339.

Scarlet fever cases here are diminishing, further spread of the malady being combatted by the efforts of Dr. John B. Ahouse, county health agent, and Miss Brown, county health nurse, who were here during the past week.

Attending Ball Game.

Large number of baseball fans are in Pittsburgh today attending the sixth game of the world series between Pittsburgh and Washington. Many plan to remain over night in the event the Pirates win today and deadlock the series.

Hallowe'en Party Planned.

Final plans will be completed this week for the annual Hallowe'en party to be given by the employes of the six shops of the Homer Laughlin China company. The dance will probably be held in the Eagles hall, East Liverpool.

Soccer Team To Practice.

Homer Laughlin China soccer team plans to hold several practice sessions this week in preparation for the opening game on the Newell field Saturday with the strong New Castle club. The pottery squad has not been defeated during the present season and expect to keep the slate clean at the expense of the Pennsylvanians.

Predict Long Court Term.

The term of circuit court which opens at New Cumberland on Monday, Nov. 16, will probably extend over a period of several weeks, as in addition to the heavy list of criminal cases a large number of civil actions will be heard. The grand jury will meet Monday, Nov. 9.

Labor shifts at German coal mines now are eight hours underground and 10 hours above ground, with recesses.

During a lull in the leather business recently 200,000 hides were held in piles at Montevideo, Uruguay.

Corns on Both Feet Spoiled Pretty Mrs. Frederick's Dancing

Spent 25c and Corns Came Off in 2 Days

Fond of dancing was Mrs. Velme Frederick, 1112 High St., Ft. Wayne, Ind., "but I could take no pleasure in it," she says, "for I had corns on both feet. "My dad had used 'Blue-jay' Corn Plasters so successfully that he told me to try them. I got a package of 'Blue-jay' (six plasters for 25c) and put one on each foot. They relieved the pain at once. I wore them two or three days, then soaked my feet and both corns came right out with the plasters."

Have you ever seen "Blue-jay" Plasters—a small soft felt pad that encircles the corn and removes the shoe pressure, hence gives instant relief. It's attached to a neat adhesive strip that holds it in place on the toe. In the center, the "Blue-jay" preparation—not too much—not too little—just the right dose to loosen the corn in 48 hours. When you soak off the plaster, out comes the corn. Sometimes, not often, a stubborn corn may require a second plaster.

"Blue-jay" is made in liquid too, but we recommend the Plaster, for it goes to the right spot and nowhere else. Any liquid might run off the corn onto good skin. And you might drop too much on, or not enough.

Stop at the drug store for six safe, sure, swift "Blue-jay" Plasters, only 25c. Don't fool with uncertain remedies.

'Blossom Time,' Musical Comedy Success, Booked For Oct. 21

Franz Shubert's Broadway Hit Will Make Farewell Appearance at Ceramic Theatre Next Week.

"Blossom Time", considered the most magnificent musical comedy success in years, will be presented under auspices of Messrs. Lee and J. J. Shubert for one night only, Wednesday, October 21, at the Ceramic theatre. This will be the last opportunity for playgoers to see this charming play as it is now in the course of its farewell tour, embracing the leading cities and a limited few of the smaller ones.

The company which will appear in East Liverpool is regarded as the uniformly best which has been assembled for the Franz Schubert piece. In the organization of sixty will be found such well known names as Joseph Mendelsohn, (the original New York and London Franz Schubert) Shep Camp, Gene Leontovitch, Beulah Berson, Arthur Hadley, Cuni Berti, Henry Rabke, Lillian Menken, Isabel Vernon, Betty Shapells, Kraft Walton, James Sheridan, Edward Kirby, William Kelsey, Donald Lubeck, William Webster, Marie Dantes, Ben Chashelson, Harry F. Scott, Freda Melburn and large and distinctive group of dancing girls and show girls.

The usual elaborate new Shubert production will be in vogue. An augmented orchestra will execute the beautiful score and will be under the direction of Theodore Coleman, recently borrowed by the Messrs Shubert from the Metropolitan Opera. As this is the last presentation of "Blossom Time" in this city the Ceramic management is certain that a capacity or turn-away house will be the rule.

WORLD'S SERIES SIDELIGHTS

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 13.—Earl Smith tried to go wandering about with Goslin's goat. Earl almost succeeded, Goslin only getting two hits in four times at bat.

Stan Harris and Rice decided to hold a conference at the plate during one of several Washington pinches. Friend Earl joined them. He was as welcome as cauliflower in March.

Coveleskie may have won three games for Cleveland in the 1920 series, but there is no doubt that he has lost two this year. At that, A. B. C. support should have won the first one for him.

The "experts" touted the Pirates as the heavier hitting team before the start of the series. At least, the "experts" can point to yesterday's struggle for justification, because for the first time the Pittsburgh gentlemen outsmote the Senators, 13 to 8.

STRAND OFFERS CLASSY SHOW

"Song Box Revue" "Opens Week's Engagement Here.

Lovers of musical comedy are sure of a real treat in the offering of the "Song Box Revue" company, which opened a week's engagement at the Strand Theatre, yesterday.

The bill is perhaps one of the best to appear at the playhouse so far this season. A company of 18 stars, the majority of them girls, makes up the cast.

The principal comedy role is in the hands of Bart Crawford, blackface comedian, Bret and Young, listed as specialty dancers offer a dancing skit which brought considerable applause. Another of the several vaudeville specialties, presented during the show, was an act by Vardo and Kinney, with violin and accordian instruments.

Another hit of the show was a dancing act in which the "Scandal walk", "Bowery", "Cake Walk", and "Waltz of Long ago" are presented. The favorite dance steps in Scotland, Ireland, Holland, Russia, China, United States and other lands, presented in another specialty, was also appreciated.

The chorus is made up of eight pretty girls, whose wardrobe consists of a half dozen or more changes in costumes. Stage settings and drops are also elaborate. The photoplay for the first two days of the week is "Up the Ladder" with an all-star cast.

The bill will change Wednesday and again on Friday with complete new shows on both dates.

BEBE DANIELS AND HARRISON FORD IN THE PARAMOUNT PICTURE 'LOVERS IN QUARANTINE'

Flying Machines—Retail.
The Ladies' Intellect.

Commander John Rodgers, good sailor, says commercial aviation should have strong government backing and a subsidy.

Grant the subsidy by all means, if needed, but it won't be needed, for men that make things go are now interested.

Ford is manufacturing planes and in New York, Rodman Wanamaker, in his big store, began last week retailing Ford flying machines at $25,000 apiece, first come, first served, with every prospect of lower prices later.

Mr. Wanamaker will hang on to the Ford flying machine business. His store had, long years ago, the exclusive agency for Ford automobiles, just starting in all New Jersey, Long Island, New York City and a great part of New York state. But automobiles took up much space, so the agency was dropped.

What do you think that agency would be worth today? Ten million dollars a year would not buy it.

Nathan Straus owned a hotel that didn't pay. He said afterwards: "If anybody offered the finest hotel in the world for nothing I would insult him."

Mr. Wanamaker probably would say: "If anybody offered at any price to buy my Ford flying machine business from me I would insult him."

The learned ladies of Smith college seek to "co-ordinate women's interests". In other words, they want "to reconcile a normal life of marriage and motherhood with a life of intellectual activity, professional or otherwise."

What trouble is there about such a reconciliation? Intellectual activity stimulates the brain and the woman with the best brain has the best children.

An intelligent woman in professional life can give children affection which is more important than food. She can let somebody else do the cooking and wash the clothes just as well.

Every woman ought to have children and every woman ought to have an intellectual life.

No woman ought to work merely

NO PROBE OF BOAT DISASTER

MELBOURNE, Fla., Oct. 13.—Dispensing with an inquest on the grounds that blame for the disaster could not be placed on any one's shoulders, authorities today superintended the placing of 12 victims of the capsized Clara B aboard a train and sent them to their respective homes.

Fishermen and members of the coast guard still were searching early today for two missing members of the party that went down when the pleasure launch was turned over by giant breakers near Sebastian inlet Sunday afternoon.

M'KECHNIE'S MEN HOPE TO REPEAT YESTERDAY'S VICTORY OVER SENATORS

JOHNSON'S INJURED LEG MAY DISABLE HIM FOR REMAINDER OF SERIES

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

FORBES FIELD, PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13.—The game that will win or lose the world series, the money game of the entire proposition, found the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Washington Senators fighting like a pair of strange bulldogs over a bone this afternoon.

It was the sixth game of the series. There was a strong under current of sentiment which said that the club which won today was the club which would win the Scotch cakes.

This perforce, held true in the case of the Senators. They started the day with three victories against two defeats and needed only one more game to fall heir to their second championship in as many years.

In the case of the Pirates, all that was necessary was to win today and then turn around and repeat tomorrow. This was tantamount to saying that it will be an exceedingly fine day if it doesn't rain.

Speaking of rain, there was none. The sun was round, as usual, and the temperature quite mellow. The field, however, was a trifle heavy from yesterday's rain.

Johnson May Be Done.

It was considerably heavier than Stanley Harris' supply of pitchers. This was the reason that most of the boys figured that defeat for the Senators today meant defeat in the series. Walter Johnson, who was expected to pitch the seventh and final game, if any, has bogged down with a torn muscle and the last word on his condition was that he was through for the series.

This meant that either Dutch Ruether or Alex Ferguson would pitch today, and, in all probability, a prominent bootblack, or some such, tomorrow if tomorrow ever comes.

Reuther was the logical choice today, in spite of the fact that the Pirates are rather fond of left handers and Dutch is left-handed exactly twenty-four hours a day. He is a fine money pitcher, however, and Ferguson is not or, at least, wasn't ten minutes ago.

Pittsburgh on Edge.

The return of the series to Pittsburgh had the entire town on mental tip toe again. As the Cub reporter said, there was much excitement but one could learn nothing.

The odds were five to four on Washington and even money was the price on today's game.

Another capacity crowd of 45,000 stepped out for the occasion, ticket scalpers raising a golden harvest. Some of them got as much as $25 for a single seat, which was about $23.75 more than their Washington colleagues collected yesterday, if at all. The latter were left holding the well-known bag and it was quite empty.

The Pirates came on the field at 12:30 and Kremer took his place in the batting practice. The Pirates did a lot of free hitting with Culloton serving them up and seemed to be in possession of their collective goat for the first time in several days.

Dies In Automobile.

BRICKLAYER IS HURT IN FALL

James Riley, 28, Moore Street Removed to City Hospital.

James Riley, 28, Moore street, bricklayer, is confined in the City hospital as a result of internal injuries received yesterday when he fell through a floor on a building along the Lincoln highway, on which he was working.

Riley, it is stated, missed his footing and dropped to the floor below where he was wedged between two heavy pieces of timber. He was rushed to the hospital where he was attended by Dr. A. J. Michaels.

His condition is not believed serious.

JEWEL ROBBERS BEING SOUGHT

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Thieves who made a careful study of the movements of Domingo Merry Del Val, diplomatic messenger of King Alfonso of Spain, were believed today to have been the raiders who looted his apartment of $50,000 worth of jewels and decorations during a holiday absence in the country.

Merry Del Val is a brother of the cardinal, secretary of state to Pope Pius and a brother of the Spanish ambassador to Great Britain. He discovered his loss, which included several valuable decorations from European rulers, on his return last night from his country visit.

His loss included diamond ornamented personal jewelry as well as the insignia of a commander of the order of the British empire and the order of St. Isabella the Catholic queen, the highest Spanish decoration.

PASTORS MEET TODAY TO AIR CHARGE AGAINST REV. J. L. SHAW

Presbytery Seeks to Expel Former Toronto Minister.

WELL KNOWN HERE

Predict That Complaint Will Be Referred to Committee.

Rev. J. Lyle Shaw, former pastor of the First United Presbyterian church of Toronto, who began his evangelistic career in East Liverpool just two years ago, was present at the fall meeting of the Steubenville Presbytery at the Grant's Hill church, five miles southwest of Salineville today, ready to defend himself against charges filed against him by the Cleveland Presbytery of the United Presbyterian church.

Rev. Mr. Shaw, who has been conducting revival meetings in Cleveland for about a year and one half, is charged with following "a policy contrary to the peace, good order and reputation of the United Presbyterian church" in connection with his faith healing activities. Inasmuch as he is a member of the Steubenville Presbytery, the charges were filed with that organization.

Rev. Shaw Attends Meeting.

The Presbytery met at 10 o'clock this morning and indications before the opening of the meeting were that a committee would be named to investigate the charges, filed at Cleveland, before the Presbytery is asked to pass upon the status of the former Toronto minister.

Rev. Mr. Shaw was present at today's meeting, ready to defend himself, should the charges be brought to the floor of the Presbytery. A committee of three pastors from the Cleveland Presbytery made up of Rev. O. A. Keach of the First church, Akron; Rev. J. W. Giffin of the First Church, Cleveland and Rev. W. H. Hubbell of COLUMBUS, Oct. 13.—Election of officers and submission of committee report featured today's program at the annual meeting here of the Ohio council of churches. A two day session of the women's department with Mrs. Dan F. Bradley, Cleveland, presiding, opened this afternoon.

A movement looking to the re-election of H. S. Firestone, Akron, as president appeared to be gaining headway despite the fact that Firestone, who has served three years in his capacity, announced he did not desire the election.

A constitutional amendment, just adopted admits women in the council on an equal basis with the men.

SAYS "DOUGH-BOY" WON WORLD WAR

Testifies That All Army Organizations are Under-Manned Because of Economy Policy Which Has Been Put Into Effect.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13. — Voicing the war department's official reply to criticism of its present military aviation policy, Brig. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, assistant chief of staff, today denounced before the president's air board all proposals for a separated air service as certain to bring a crushing defeat to America in her next war.

Drum spoke for the war department, as his statement was prepared in advance by the general staff as a rebuttal to the two weeks' testimony given the board by army and navy fliers. He flayed the proposals both of Colonel Billy Mitchell, stormy petrel of the army air service, and of General Mason M. Patrick, as "a jumble of ideas," unsound in strategical value, worthless to the national defense and intended only to give aviators more special privileges, higher pay and quicker promotion than go to America's other fighting units.

Infantry Won War.

MEXICAN ACTRESS TO REMAIN HERE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13. — "After careful consideration," it was announced at the department of labor today, immigration authorities will "take no action" in the complaint filed with them that Senorita Gloria Faure, an actress of Mexico City, accompanied Alberto J. Pani, Mexican minister of finance, into the United States.

The Mexican finance minister is now in New York on a mission for his government with American bankers. He arrived there two weeks ago on his private car Hidalgo, which also, according to the complaint, carried Senorita Faure.

TWO KILLED AS AUTO IS WRECKED

LAKELAND, Fla., Oct. 13.—Two persons were instantly killed and two others seriously injured when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by an Atlantic Coast Line freight train at Ruskin, near Sun City, today. The car was destroyed by fire following the smash.

The dead: Miss Mattie Riles of Sarasota, and Earl Warren of St. Petersburg.

Miss Thelma Woods and Terry Joyner, both of Ellington, were seriously injured, and it was said in a Tama hospital today that Joyner's injuries may prove fatal.

Woman Killed in Fall.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—In an effort to obtain fresh air Mrs. Elsie Nieve, aged 31, leaned too far from a fifth story window at her home in the Bronx and fell into the courtyard below and was instantly killed.

Dentists Disagree Over Advisability Of Teeth Extraction

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—To pull or not to pull.

That was the question, and over 2,000 dentists listened as Dr. Weston A. Price, of Cleveland, and Dr. John P. Buckley, of Hollywood, Cal., argued the proposition with an ardor which made the convention of dentists appear more like a national political convention last night.

Dr. Price insists that all pulpless teeth should be extracted, while Dr. Buckley accuses Dr. Price of being responsible for the "criminal and ridiculous" practice of doing so. As a result some dentists will continue the practice of extraction, while others will follow the advice of Dr. Buckley and merely sterilize them.

ROTARY CLUB HEARS WELLS

Pottery Manufacturer Discusses "Business Ethics" at Meet.

Questioning the right of criticism, if any, of the nation's business men, and big business especially, and relating out the great draft of laws and regulations designed a[illegible]ly as hobbles for the feet of [illegible]ressive business leaders, which, in some measure, are responsible for a considerable portion of this criticism, W. E. Wells, secretary-treasurer of the Homer Laughlin China company, endeavored to list some of the American business man's problems as well as his duties and obligations, in a short talk on "Business Ethics" today at the noon luncheon meeting of the Rotary club at the Y. M. C. A.

President F. L. Wells was in charge of the meeting. He announced that District Governor Leonard Skeggs, who originally had been scheduled to speak to East Liverpool Rotarians today, at the last moment had been called to the western part of the district, and, as a result, was unable to fill the engagement. However, District Governor Skeggs has arranged to appear here on Dec 1, when B. J. Ross will be chairman.

Club singing was lead by Blaine Cochran, accompanied by Mrs. Danks Cochran.

"Within the past 30 or 40 years," said W. E. Wells, "there has been as much of an advance in the conduct of business as there has been in the evo-

ARMY AIR BRIGADE MOVES TO CAPITAL

MITCHELL FIELD, N. Y., Oct. 13.—Movement of the first air brigade of the army air service to Washington started today.

The third attack group, composed of fifteen planes from Kelly Field, San Antonio, under command of Captain George Davison, took off at 8:30.

Other attack groups left later.

The brigade, the first in the history of United States aviation, was formed here and its first maneuvers will be held over Washington. Later today the brigade will go to Langley Field, Va., where it will carry out a series of maneuvers over Chesapeake bay during the next few days.

WEEKS RESIGNS CABINET POST; DWIGHT DAVIS HIS SUCCESSOR

Davis, Mellon, Hoover Only Harding Appointees Remaining.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—John W. Weeks, stepped out of the cabinet today and Dwight F. Davis of Missouri, stepped in as the new secretary of war.

Formal announcement of Weeks' resignation because of ill health and the appointment of Davis as his successor was made at the White House confirming a cabinet shift that had long been anticipated in the capital.

Davis has been secretary of war in everything but name for nearly six months. He assumed the duties of acting secretary last spring when a nearly fatal attack of illness compeled Weeks to leave Washington.

Native of St. Louis.

The retirement of Secretary Weeks, after five and one-half years of service, leaves only three members of the original Harding cabinet still in office—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, Secretary of Commerce Hoover, and Secretary of Labor Davis. Death and resignation have claimed the rest.

The new secretary is a native of St. Louis, a[illegible] 46 years old. He held many quasi-public posts in St. Louis prior to his entrance into the official life of Washington several years ago as a member of the war finance corporation. His name is indelibly linked with tennis as the donor of the famous Davis international cup.

Secretary Weeks attended his last cabinet meeting at the White House today and made his farewells in person. His resignation was already in Mr. Coolidge's hands, effective immediately.

Weeks plans to depart soon on a trip to South America. He has been warned by his physician to give up business entirely.

Youthful Slayer Attributes Crime To Use of Liquor

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 13. — Fifteen-year-old Joseph Boworski, confined to a cell in the county jail awaiting sentence for the murder of Walter Kowalski, 20, today attributed his crime to liquor.

"I had been drinking with some friends," the boy declared. "They showed me a new revolver and later I left the party without returning the weapon. After that, all is vague in my memory. I met Kowalski and remember having trouble with him. I was struck several times, but do not recall the shooting."

The boy pleaded guilty to a second degree murder charge. Sentence will be passed next Friday, it being the first time in criminal court history here that a boy of Borowski's age paid the penalty for murder.

Gliding Records Broken.

FEODOSIA, Russia, Oct. 13. — A world record for gliding, bettering by three times the former mark, was set today by the German pilot, Nehring, when he traveled 24 kilometers, 400 meters, or better than 15 miles, in his engineless glider.

This is the best mark made at the international gliding tournament under way here.

BY KATHARINE BRUSH.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—President Coolidge left this afternoon's ball game sometime during the second inning. Perhaps he didn't want to see the Senators beaten. Then again, perhaps he had some little chore or other to do up at the White House. Whatever his reasons, he proved conclusively that the newspapers have not misled us; ours is indeed a calm, collected president. Any man who can voluntarily rise from his seat when a breathless ball game like that one is yet in the bloom of its youth, can be depended on not to let anything under the sun excite him.

The rest of the 35,000 spectators wouldn't have left for anything short of sudden death, in the family and I venture to say that some of the more rabid ones would have remained on even then, on the theory that dead is dead and can wait an hour or two. The Pirates, gleeful, and the Senators, not anywhere nearly so gleeful as they were at this time yesterday, hurried through the necessary showers and packing and rushed to the station to take a 6 o'clock train back to Pittsburgh again. Newspaper scribes and fans leave on the special trains between 10 and 11 o'clock tonight.

Here are the notes I scribbled during the game. If you won't forgive me for their deficiencies, it's simply because you weren't at this game.

Quarter of two! Let's see who I can see from this aerial bower wherein the press are situated. There's Bucky Harris' proud mother and his brother, Muriel Harris, with his wife in a box beside the Senators dugout. They've been there every day since the games in Washington started, and near them Mrs. Walter Johnson, in a blue hat and a coonskin coat. I just heard today that she is the daughter of ex-Congressman Roberts of Nevada.

Coolidge must be coming. The box where he sits on the rare occasions when he favors baseball with his presence is decked in red, white and blue. Soon, we'll hear the bugles blow, announcing his appearance.

Coolidge Arrives.

Here is the army band from the Washington barracks and playing ragtime. There seem to be more women fans at these Washington ball games than there were at Pittsburgh. Maybe that's because there are about four women to every man in Washington. All the government workers are women and how they can shriek. They make the Washington cheering soprano where the Pittsburgh was more or less bass. The players have removed the black arm bands they wore for three days in memory of the departed Matty.

Here comes Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge, and up rush the camera men to snap them as they sit down. Mrs. Coolidge wears a big black picture hat very attractive, smiles and bows. Again the president throws the first ball. His pitching arm isn't exactly what you could call Johnsonian.

And now the game begins. Wild howls from the Washington rooters, who firmly believe it will be the last game of the series.

The press stand is half way to heaven and covered with a lot of chicken wire. I'm glad it is not being one of these fans who were so anxious to get a world series ball to hand down to posterity that they're willing to risk getting hit right smack in the eye.

The man who announces the batteries has a voice that sounds the way I think the voice of doom is going to sound. The Pittsburgh contingent hopes it is the voice of doom to the Senators when it yells that Victor Aldridge is going to pitch. To the victor belongs the spoils—but will he get them?

First inning ends with score one to nothing favor of Washington. These capitol fans have good lungs, haven't they? There's a terrible clatter of typewriters and telegraph instruments in the press stand all around me. It breaks out after half inning like the talk at a family dinner after the blessing is said.

And a radio announcer sits in the row in front with an assistant beside him and jots down suggestions on slips of paper and pastes them to his hat. You have to have a quick eye and ready wit to be a radio announcer. And I bet they see a million ears in their nightmares. Smith, the Pirate catcher, full of little tricks to annoy his enemies. Goslin at bat swings so hard he falls down, and Smith counts over him like the referee of a fight.

Carey Knocked Out.

There is stuffy McInnes at first base. His appearance in the world series is the first, so far. Bluege comes to bat and gets a tremendous hand. Why shouldn't he? He escaped eternal sleep the other day. Ray Chapman, of Cleveland, died of a blow inflicted just two inches from the spot where Aldridge's smoke ball hit Bluege. And he is back in the game again.

Speaking of accidents, Carey of the Pirates steals a base, in making it is knocked out. He lies prone on second and for some moments is to be seen only as a prostrate figure among a thicket of stocky red and blue legs. There, he's getting up. Atta, boy.

Pittsburgh makes two runs in the first of the third, not much noise from the stands. You certainly can tell which town this is. There goes Mr. Coolidge home again. Wonder who marcels Bucy Harris' hair?

Ring Lardner, typewriting madly, three rows down in the press stand, and there's McGowan, the American league umpire, whose writing play-by-play stories of the game. Looks worried and why not? His wife was knocked unconscious in a taxi smash this morning.

I'd like one of the red and black Pirate sweaters myself. The Washington rooters aren't content with mere voices and hands to signify appreciation. They have tin whistles and little cow bells. Perfect uproar whenever any Washington man does anything.

HIGHER TEACHER STANDARD IS SET

Effective July 1, 1926, higher standards must be attained by those aspiring to enter the teaching profession of West Virginia. At its meeting Friday the state board of education decided that an over-supply of teachers justified stricter requirements. Accordingly, high school graduates will not receive temporary certificates by virtue of their diplomas, but will be required to attend normal school for at least nine weeks. To obtain a first grade one-year temporary certificate the applicant must attend two summer terms of normal school, or a half year.

More than 2,000 temporary certificates were issued this year.

The state board of education concluded its work and adjourned without meeting Saturday as had been planned. However, it was decided to meet again on Nov. 6 in Huntington, probably at the Pritchard hotel, at the time of the convention of the State Education association.

DISTRICT SCHOOL ENROLLMENT 839

Grant district school enrollment totals 839 students, according to a report made today by R. L. Hoke, district superintendent and principal of the high school. This is an increase over last year of approximately 100 pupils.

The enrollment is divided as follows: Senior high school 34, junior high school 108, Newell grade rooms 358, rural schools 339.

Scarlet fever cases here are diminishing, further spread of the malady being combatted by the efforts of Dr. John B. Ahouse, county health agent, and Miss Brown, county health nurse, who were here during the past week.

Attending Ball Game.

Large number of baseball fans are in Pittsburgh today attending the sixth game of the world series between Pittsburgh and Washington. Many plan to remain over night in the event the Pirates win today and deadlock the series.

Hallowe'en Party Planned.

Final plans will be completed this week for the annual Hallowe'en party to be given by the employes of the six shops of the Homer Laughlin China company. The dance will probably be held in the Eagles hall, East Liverpool.

Soccer Team To Practice.

Homer Laughlin China soccer team plans to hold several practice sessions this week in preparation for the opening game on the Newell field Saturday with the strong New Castle club. The pottery squad has not been defeated during the present season and expect to keep the slate clean at the expense of the Pennsylvanians.

Predict Long Court Term.

in "LOVERS IN QUARANTINE" with HARRISON FORD a FRANK TUTTLE PRODUCTION A Paramount Picture

ACCIDENTS will happen—but when the first accident happens to be an elopement with the wrong girl! And the second leaves them stranded on a tropical island! And then—but see this tickling, tangling tale! And try not to laugh!

From the play "Quarantine" by F. Tennyson Jesse
Screen play by Townsend Martin and Luther Reed

It happened in this way. He was handsome and didn't like her. She was a Go-Getter and liked him. So when he thought he was eloping with anoher girl—he found himself on shipboard—ALONE WITH HER!—Then the complications, and the epidemic of fun spreads like wildfire.

Corns on Both Feet Spoiled Pretty Mrs. Frederick's Dancing

Spent 25c and Corns Came Off in 2 Days

Fond of dancing was Mrs. Velme Frederick, 1112 High St., Ft. Wayne, Ind., "but I could take no pleasure in it," she says, "for I had corns on both feet. "My dad had used 'Blue-jay' Corn Plasters so successfully that he told me to try them. I got a package of 'Blue-jay' (six plasters for 25c) and put one on each toot. They relieved the pain at once. I wore them two or three days, then soaked my feet and both corns came right out with the plasters."

Have you ever seen "Blue-jay" Plasters—a small soft felt pad that encircles the corn and removes the shoe pressure, hence gives instant relief. It's attached to a neat adhesive strip that holds it in place on the toe. In the center, the "Blue-jay" preparation—not too much—not too little—just the right dose to loosen the corn in 48 hours. When you soak off the plaster, out comes the corn. Sometimes, not often, a stubborn corn may require a second plaster.

"Blue-jay" is made in liquid too, but we recommend the Plaster, for it goes to the right spot and nowhere else. Any liquid might run off the corn onto good skin. And you might drop too much on, or not enough.

Stop at the drug store for six safe, sure, swift "Blue-jay" Plasters, only 25c. Don't fool with uncertain remedies.

The Story Of A Girl Who Dared

By Edgar Doe Norris

CHAPTER 67.

Home, sweet home! Amoura stood at the French windows which exposed her bedroom to the warm rays of the sun that dressed the Ainsley mansion in Westland in a ruddy hue in the late afternoon. The sun was ridding the valley and the western slope of Indian Hill of the haze a rain had brought a few hours before. A window was opened slightly, and she could drink in the cool, invigorating, rain-washed air as she rested with the glass as her crystal. She hadn't come home with the intention of staying, but she wasn't so sure that she could go back to Chicago. She had retained the apartment in Apple Tree Road, and paid a month's rent in advance, but she doubted now if she would ever live in it again. What was she going to do now? She didn't want to think. But why worry?"

There was a rap at the door. Her sister, without waiting for a response, entered. "Why, Amoura, why aren't you in bed?"

Cynthia regarded her sister's straight, clean cut body, silhouetted by the light in a lovely boudoir gown of yellow printed over with Pompadour bouquets in bright colors.

"Oh, I am all right. It was silly of mother to make me go to bed. I just laid there with my eyes wide open. I slept all day yesterday.'

Celcilia followed her and took a chair. "Papa is talking mother into taking a South American trip with you and Robert and me. . . . Brazil and Argentina and Peru and Panama and Siam."

Amoura rendered mock applause. "What a head you have for geography, Cecie! Only Siam is in Asia."

Her sister's lip curled. "It is apparent that you haven't learned how to be agreeable. I thought these experiences of yours would get some of the wool out of your head, but I might have known better than to entertain such a hope."

"Cecie, you're still a little, a little—.' Amoura held up her hands in despair, without feeling it.

"Oh, why can't you behave like a lady sometime! You're nothing but a barbarian—"

The door opened and Mrs. J. Reginald Ainsley entered. Her ears caught Cecilia's last words. "That is enough, daughter! You ought to realize—."

Amour interrupted. "Oh, I'm all right, mother. If she wants to fight, let her.

Cecilia's face flushed, "Mother, she—'

"That's enough! you two are still children. You're the same today as you were ten years ago. When are you going to grow up?"

Cecilia, sulking over a rebuke she deemed unjustifiable, left the room.

"Mother, I didn't—," Amoura tried to explain.

Mrs. Reginald silenced her with an upraised hand. "You must be quiet and rest yourself.'

"I'm perfectly all right, now, mother. Really, I am. I think I'll dress and go for a ride on good old Prince."

"I would not venture out, Amoura. Everyone will be gawking at you. All sorts of curious persons have been coming around all day. And the reporters were about to drive me crazy until your father instructed Filkins to refuse admittance to every one."

"Oh! I suppose it will be impossible for me to go anywhere now."

"You needn't worry about that. Your father is arranging a South American trip for us. Did Cecilia tell you? By the time we return all this will be forgotten."

"Is FATHER going?"

Mrs. J. Reginald's composure was slightly ruffled by Amoura's eyes. What did her daughter know? What had Reginald gotten into in Chicago?

"I imagine he is; I understood him to say so." She did not meet Amoura's eyes as she replied.

"I just wondered," her daughter responded, indifferently. Then, after a pause: "I don't thing I'll go, mother."

The elder woman stirred uncomfortably. "I think, Amoura,' she said, endeavoring to be biting, "that you have had ADVENTURES enough. Surely you don't intend to add more acts to this farce."

A reply was on Amoura's tongue, but she forebore speaking it, and switched the subject: "Is Philip still rushing the Reagan girl?"

"I'm sure I don't know. He has been in New York for weeks, some one said. The day after we got the news about you, we received a telegram from him in New York, asking if there was any way he could aid us. I suppose your father forgot to wire an acknowledgement and thang him—your father is so forgetful."

"Good old Phil! Westland is unchanged, except for one thing. I miss having Phil underfoot. . . . I wonder if I'm in love with him after all?" She laughed.

Mrs. J. Reginald regarded Amoura without answering. She was beginning to feel a little resentful toward her daughter for causing her so much worry and discomfort. For days Mrs. Ainsley, whose whole life had been spent in retaining her stiff composure, had been completely unpossessed, worrying while the world sought her kidnaped daughter. This experience had left her with a feeling that she was bereft of her dignity, and therefore, nude.

Get Away With Money and Auto Accessories

Police today continued their search for the bandits who Sunday night broke into the Third street filling station of the Ohio Valley Oil company, and got away with approximately $8 in cash and a number of automobile accessories.

That the robbery was the work of youths is the opinion expressed by employes of the company.

Several small panes of glass, it is said, were broken out of a door in the station, which is located next to the railroad swith, between Broadway and Commerce street. The aperture is believed to have given the thieves sufficient space to enter the small building.

The money had been left in the cash register the night previous.

By Edna Wallace Hopper

I have glorious hair, as millions of women know. It's glint is like a halo, on the stage or on the street.

I don't know how I get it. I only know that is comes to me through what they call a Fruity Shampoo.

Very wonderful men perfected it for me, but they never would give me the formula. They say that one ingredient gives that matchless glint, but they never would tell me what it is.

But they make it for me to supply to you, just as they made it for me. It is the greatest shampoo in existence. I say that after trying scores o fthem, and searching the world for the best.

I want you to try it. I want you to see the lustre it adds to hair. I would not take a fortune for what it has done for mine.

I cannot tell you the secrets of its wizard-like results. They have never been told to me. But those results will amaze and delight you. Ask any toilet counter for Edna Wallace Hopper's Fruity Shampoo, and you'll get exactly what I use. The price is 60 cents. And your dealer will return your money if you think that any other shampoo comes within a mile of this. For your own sake, see what it does.

Where The Dog Is King

The automobile and airplane are rapidly bringing to an end the horse's usefulness and popularity except for racing and riding. So far, however, neither auto nor airship has ousted the dog from the far north.

"The dog is still king of the Arctic," says Commander Donald B. MacMillan, recently returned to this country after a futile attempt to explore in the polar regions with airplanes.

"Planes will be useful in the exploration of the interior of Labrador and Baffin Land, or, in fact, any land south of the Arctic circle. The great difficulty with planes is in landing. No plane has yet been designed with a landing speed of less than 40 miles an hour, and to attempt landing on water strewn with field ice as such a speed is sure destruction for the plane."

The elimination of this great difficulty may be only a matter of time, and aircraft may yet be made practicable in the Arctic. When that times comes the huskies may lose their job because the airplane can go so much faster than they can.

Until then, however, "the dog is king," and man cannot go far or do much north of the Arctic circle without the dog's companionship and labor.

Beauty And The Brute

To be beautiful is to be misunderstood. The various American beauties recently raised to the pinnacle of national fame, from "Miss America" down, have a particularly hard time of it. Armand T. Nichols, who has been director of the Atlantic City beauty pageant for four years, and who ought to have more discretion, has been saying brutally that American girls are "beautiful but dumb."

"Most of the pretty girls I have met," he says, "have heads as empty as their faces are beautiful."

To which the beauties, as might be expected, have made prompt reply. First came Miss Fay Lanphier, as is the right of one who has been crowned America's fairest girl, saying:

"Mr. Nichols is pleased to be facetious," which is surely a word that a "dumb" girl wouldn't know how to use. "Three or four of the Atlantic City beauties are college graduates. All the rest were more intelligent than their sisters of yesteryear, and far healthier, too."

After whom came Miss Edith Higgins, alias "Miss Bronx," testifying:

"Girls of today are not dumb, but clever. It would seem conceit if I declared that I was highly intelligent; but speaking of other girls, I've found that the most beautiful are also the most brilliant mentally."

And that, it might be added, is what a lot of men have found—or supposed to have found.

But really, such discussions are superfluous and futile. They never convince anybody. They never prove anything. And what if they did?

Wise men seldom expect to find two such rareties as beauty and intelligence in the same package. Foolish men—this is to say, the majority of men—in the presence of beauty forget that there is such a thing as intelligence.

Who's To Blame For Tips?

The tipping evil seems hard to overcome. Many a person who, at home, holds that tipping is all wrong and presents logical reasons for his opinion, succumbs to the habit when traveling.

Such travelers insist that it is expected, that as long as any one tips or any one receives tips all must do so. Every now and then an organization of hotel employes or writers or some other customarily "tipped" group expostulates against the system. They would rather receive a regular, competent and self-respecting wage, they say, than be forced to rely on tips for some of their income. On the other hand, occasionally clubs and similar organizations protest that it is unfair to tip the waiter and the check-room girl when all the unseen employes of the organization—in kitchen or heating plant or office—are giving equally faithful service without so much as a thank-you and certainly without tips from those whom they serve.

But whenever any reform is attempted it promptly fails. The head of a great system of hotels blames this perennial failure on the traveling public. It would be far easier to end the whole system if only the tipped had to be consulted. Protesting but spineless tippers are to blame for their own thraldom.

A Radio Mystery

A recent radio questionnaire in Chicago showed that 50 per cent more of the people answering wanted classical music than wanted jazz. The second choice was opera. After that came jazz and old time songs, with an equal demand for each.

Similar questionnaires last year in New York and other important radio centers brought about the same results. There doesn't seem to be any question about what kind of music the public prefers to hear.

But you'd never suspect this from listening to the stuff coming through the air. Night after night, station after station fills the other with jazz noises just the same. And jazz costs more, too, since broadcasters have to pay the composer.

What modern civization needs is a self-opening can that will open itself.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The eminent George Jean Nathan recently lifted his voice to inquire the whereabouts of the man who wrote the Frank Merriwell novels under the name of Burt L. Standish. Nathan, wondering who Standish is, thinks his autobiography would be important. Frank Merriwell was a weekly 5-cent novel hero during the 80's and 90's.

Then he vanished. The movies played a part in his banishment. Merriwell was a square-shooter. He neither smoked, drank nor swore. His life was an example. I, too, was a Merriwell fan and waited at the little candy shop for the weekly arrival. I then wondered who Standish might be.

About eight years ago a group used to foregather in a New York hotel every Saturday afternoon to play Kelly pool. Among them were Berton Braley, Clare Briggs, Ray Rohn, William Johnston and Ewing Gallaway. One day Rohn brought a stranger.

He introduced him as "Gil Patten." He was a strapping fellow with a shock of iron gray hair who had just come down from a Maine camp. He had a decided down east twang. He joined our game. Between shots Rohn told us the stranger was the same man who wrote the Frank Merriwell novels.

Gil Patten was and is Burt L. Standish, his pen name. I could not have been more thrilled had I been summoned suddenly to meet Arthur Brisbane. He was a regular after that in our game and we became fast friends, although I have seen him little of late due to his absence in Maine.

A big publishing house founded a fortune on the Frank Merriwell novels. In that time I don't suppose Patten made more than $125 a week. He is comfortably fixed but I do not believe rich. He is still writing under the name of Burt L. Standish.

He is about 50 years old and is the most modest of men. Nathan says and deservedly so: "Standish was one of America's most peculiarly eminent practitioners of the art of fiction. His curious song deserves to be sung." But Gil Patten will never sing it. He is entirely too shy.

Walking is not entirely a lost art in New York despite the chorus girl custom of crossing the street in taxicabs. One of the greatest walkers in New York is John H. Finley, an educator and one of the editors of the New York Times. He often walks the entire length of the island during the day just for a bit of exercise. He has the build of a corsair.

Three mercantile establishments on Fifth Avenue are owned by men who formerly clerked in them. There is an idea—especially among clerks themselves—that they haven't much chance to succeed. Perhaps that is why some are inclined to be snippy. Thousands of successful men started as clerks. I am reminded of this after a talk with a clerk today who declared that even if opportunity came he was not sufficiently educated. Also a chunk of bunk. Among New Yorkers who never went to college are Richard Croker, Thomas A. Edison, John D. Rockefeller, James Stillman, Andrew Carnegie and Cornelius N. Bliss. Those boys got along fairly well. I'll murmur.

There is a blatant curiosity about New York often grewsome. An ambulance clanged up to a Broadway building. Someone had been mangled in an elevator. The crowd lined up 20 deep on either side of the entrance and waited, so the corner policeman said, for a half hour to see the hapless victim carried out on a stretcher.

Greenwich Village is returning to its pristine putty. The highbrows—a word coined by Will Irwin incidentally—are leaving the attics and vulgar wealth is making over old homes into elegant mansions. It is becoming swank to live in the Village. Many of the new apartments are barring pianos, radios, victrolas and typewriters and married couples must show their licenses.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The public today is ruly on the "inside" of what the Government is doing. This is due to the splendid system built up for the dissemination of news of an official character. The relations that exist between the press of the nation and Government agencies were never so cordial as they are today.

Actually it may be said that Government officials have the latch-strings on the outside. The utmost effort is made by those controlling Government news sources to see that press and public are taken into the Government's confidence on all matters of public interest.

This wide open policy, however, does not mean that in matters affecting diplomatic relations with foreign Governments everything that transpires can find its way into public print at the same time negotations of one kind or another are in progress. In questions of an internal character it is not always expedient to broadcast the details, for in so many instances secrecy is essential to the successful conclusion of such parleys. And often in the public interest this secrecy must not be violated.

The President and all members of his cabinet maintain the closest relations with the press through regular press conferences. The chiefs of Government boards, bureaus and commissions are accessible at all times to the members of the press.

Besides, all departments of the Government and many of the independent bureaus maintain information or publicity offices, through which they may clear to the public statements or other material of public importance.

There are hundreds of active newspaper correspondents in Washington. These men are the eyes of 110,000,000 American people. They can be depended upon to know what is going on in Washington. Frequently they know news before they can publish it, for it often happens that they are taken into confidence of high official news sources, and can not break that confidence until they are authorized to do so.

President Coolidge's conferences with the press at the White House are held twice each week, on Tuesdays and Friday's. These conferences are attended by from one hundred to two hundred newspaper correspondents representing papers in all parts of the United States.

The President never permits other appointments to conflict with these regular press conference hours. The conferences are restricted rigidly to members of the press. Great pains are taken by the secret service officers and other attaches of the White House to exclude curiosity seekers or other outsiders.

President Never Quoted

The rule is preserved that the President is never to be quoted. In advance of the conference the correspondents always in writing the questions they want propounded to the President. Usually the Executive has these questions a half hour or more before the correspondents assemble in the executive office.

When the newspaper men appear the President has the questions before him on his desk. He probably has had time to look them over casually and decide which ones he should answer. Mr. Coolidge will proceed very slowly and deliberately, repeating the questions and answering them, perhaps supplementing his answers with any additional statements he desired to make.

The President sometimes will ignore some of the written questions, particularly if they relate to matters of a diplomatic character that may be pending, and the discussion of which might disturb negotations that are in progress. One of the virtues of the written question is that if the President fails to answer it, only the writer of the question will know it.

In some political situations, the mere failure of the President to answer, may hold great significance. Frequently the President permits verbal questioning. On some questions of wide public importance, about which the President may be asked, and upon which me may be desirous of having the public fully informed, he invites further questioning from the correspondents.

There is maintained at the White House executive offices a press room fully equipped for the news writers. This press room is something of a headquarters for members of the press who cover the White House, and through this medium all statements issued by the White House are given publicly. Representatives of the press associations and leading newspapers of the country are stationed there at all times, and have ready access to the office of the private secretary of the President. The correspondents therefore are in constant touch with the President, through his secretary, at times outside the President's regular press conferences.

Interviewing Cabinet Members.

The greatest freedom prevails in press talks between Cabinet members and correspondents. Each Cabinet member must be prepared for a volley of questions on a wide range of subjects that come within his immediate jurisdiction. There is seldom an attempt to dodge questions. The Cabinet member knows the value of publicity, and knows the correspondent, is his best friend in letting the public in on what he is doing. His attitude is one of frankness. The correspondent, as the spokesman for the public, expects nothing else. He wants the facts and usually gets them. Often the Cabinet member imposes confidence. These confidences are never broken. That is why high officials find it the best policy to be open and above board in their dealings with the press, for usually the members of the press, public spirited and laboring in the public's welfare, expect from public officers only that which it is as absolutely proper to print.

Two of the largest Cabinet press conferences are those given by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Secretary of Commerce Hoover. Questions of business and finance are uppermost in the public mind and the correspondents find these two Cabinet officers among the most productive sources of live news. Both Mr. Mellon and Mr. Hoover consider the hours thus spent with the correspondents the most refreshing of their entire daily schedule. Both seem to relish these interchanges with the press.

Much of the news that emanates from Washington and finds its way to the first pages of newspapers is based upon carefully prepared statements issued by department heads. Frequently newspaper correspondents are notified in advance that these so-called "handouts", as they are termed by the writers, will be forthcoming. Possibly they have been the basis of discussion at press conferences.

Pests have so destroyed the fruit of the Bahama Islands that it is believed the people there must depend on the tourist trade entirely for their living.

Makes Pumping Up Tires Unnecessary.

L. G. Hughes of 2510 Monroe, Chicago, Ill., has perfected a new air-tight valve cap that enables auto owners to pump up their tires once and never touch them again until punctured or worn out. Leading tire manufacturers, after thorough tests, have approved Mr. Hughes' invention and banished the old theory that air escapes through rubber. One inflation lasts the life of a tire, and tire mileage is doubled. These caps retail for $1.25 for set of five. The inventor wants agents and will send proof and sample Free. Write him today.

STATE CONVICTS WORK ON ROADS

Another step in the fulfillment of Governor Gore's promise that state prisoners would be employed to build highways was actually realized yesterday when Warden S. P. Smith selected 12 men and assigned them to duty at the Wetzel county road camp.

The convicts will assist in preparing the casino in Paden City park as headquarters for 100 men who will spend a year or more in building nine miles of hard surface road south of New Martinsville, under the supervision of Former Senator W. F. Burgess, the governor's personal representative in charge of convict labor road construction camps.

Guard Emmett Nanna was placed in charge of the first group of men and by the end of this week 25 or 30 more prisoners will be turned over to him. Actual construction work will be started within a few days. Most of the equipment has been placed on the scene.

Chaffin was found guilty of conspiracy of violate the law in connection with the conduct of a saloon at Barnabus, W. Va., it being alleged that he conspired with Tennis Hatfield in the operation of the "Blue Goose."

The former sheriff contended that Federal Judge McClintic was prejudiced, and that he had been denied a fair trial by refusal of the judge to withdraw. The government won in the lower court on its plea that that charge of prejudice had not been made in time.

HERE AT LAST IS REAL RELIEF FROM EXCESS FAT!

"I am the shadow of my former self," writes Mrs. N——, beautiful Brooklyn girl. "Silph Reducing Gum is wonderful!"

Silph Reducing Gum

latest scientific discovery takes New York by storm—Everyone is chewing it and POUNDS of FAT ARE ROLLING OFF!

No longer need you suffer from excess fat. No longer need you be humiliated by sarcastic looks or remarks. No longer need you starve yourself to distraction or tire yourself out with exercises. With Silph Reducing Chewing Gum, the latest and most wonderful discovery ever made, every man, woman and child can today safely, quickly and easily reduce. Silph Reducing Gum is the result of years of scientific study and experiments—it is different from anything ever advised to take off FAT. It is simple, safe, cheap and easy. It is almost like telling you to eat candies to reduce. It is just as pleasant and as harmless.

Silph Reducing Gum is not a drug nor a laxative—it contains juice extract of sea plants known for years to possess wonderful reducing properties but until now it was impossible to obtain sufficient quantities of these plant extracts to supply a public demand. Today a group of scientists have found a way to obtain it and to incorporate it in a delicious, refreshing chewing gum. When mixed with the gastric juices, through the flow of saliva it eliminates fat forming elements in the system—at the same time it is great for stomach or intestinal trouble. The quick and amazing results already obtained with Silph have simply been overwhelming. Silph sells for 50 cents a box, enough for one week, at all good drug stores. Remember that to "CHEW SILPH IS TO BE SYLPH-LIKE," that's New York's latest slogan.

In case your druggist is out of Silph you can get it from the Silph Medical Co., 9 W. 60th St. N. Y. City. Silph sells for 50c. per box or two full weeks' supply, $1.00.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS

On sale at Hodson's, Anderson's, W. & W. Pharmacy or Mathew's Medicine Store.

CHILDREN'S NIGHT COUGHS STOPPED AT ONCE

Children very frequently have spells of night coughing due to bronical irritation, or while suffering from colds. These coughing spells, if not quickly checked, are very injurious to the child's health, to say nothing of the annoyance to others.

Now at last these night coughing spells can be quickly and safely checked at once with one swallow of a new prescription called Thoxine. Unlike mere cough mixtures, Thoxine gets at the cause. Those who stopped in the hallway to listen did not know that he was playing her accompaniment without touching the keys!

The Gulbransen Registering Piano

that Amazed the Critical Audience at the Music Trades Convention in Chicago

Is Here in Our Showrooms

THE convention was in session at the Drake Hotel in Chicago. Makers of musical instruments had gathered from coast to coast and beyond.

Artists and artisans were seated in musical discussion or were strolling about the corridors of the famous hotel.

The strain of a song, soft, melodious, wafted through a doorway. Beautiful as was the song, the piano accompaniment held the assembly enthralled for it was the touch of a master—and those who stopped in the hallway to listen did not know the singer's accompanist was playing the piano without touching the keys.

Only Piano of Its Kind

Neither ordinary player-pianos nor reproducing pianos can give you complete control of the keys by roll the same as in hand playing. The Gulbransen Registering Piano alone does this.

It will delight and astonish you to play it yourself, even without previous training, for it defied the ears of experts to tell it from hand playing.

Untrained persons can play a piano solo correctly by roll on the Gulbransen—accenting the melody and chords—not "mechanically" but with human expression—giving the time, the touch and the Tone Volume that a master pianist would impart to it.

You can play an accompaniment for voices or instruments subduing the melody to a whisper, pausing for the singer, and playing only the bass or lower register. You can transpose an accompaniment to any one of seven different keys to suit the voice of the singer.

What bigger thrill is there in music than playing it yourself?—your music—interpreted as you would have it—like a master pianist. There are many who cannot read a single note of sheet music who play by roll on the Gulbransen Registering Piano even better than most pianists play by hand. Stop in today and try it. Come in and feel the thrill of playing this piano by roll with your own expression—your personal touch just like hand playing.

PICK JURY IN MURDER TRIAL

State Will Ask Death Penalty for Girl's Slayer.

NOBLESVILLE, Ind., Oct. 13.—Nine of the jury tentatively selected by the state yesterday to hear the murder case against D. C. Stephenson, Earl Gentry and Earl Klinck resulting from the death last March of Madge Oberholtzer of Indianapolis, faced the questioning of the defense today, the second day of the trial.

Two points have been emphasized in the questioning of the veniremen. One is the attitude toward capital punishment, which the state intimated today it plans to ask. The second is the issue of the Ku Klux Klan, over which the prospective jurors are given a thorough examination.

The death penalty demand of the state was indicated in the questioning of veniremen late yesterday, although it did not at first appear that capital punishment would be asked.

The fact that Stephenson, principal defendant, was at one time grand dragon of the Indiana Klan and that former Judge Charles E. Cox, of the Indiana supreme court, representing the Oberholtzer family and one faction of the Klan that plans to force the prosecution of Stephenson "for the good of the order' is allied with the prosecutors, is taken as evidence of the internal fight in the Ku Klux Klan.

tutionary changes in nature and in social life.

"Business life is vastly different today. There is less cut-throat competition, less hatred and jealousy, more co-operation and a greater desire to deal fairly with the public.

"Business at last has arrived at a one price system. It used to be that there was an asking price and a selling price, and the customer, as a rule, was not at all certain of what he was getting.

"Business men have learned from their experiences the truth of the old adage, 'Honesty is the best policy,' and not through theories. The change did not come about through 'preaching,' although there was lots of it.

"Business men and organizations are the targets of many lawyers and demagogs and reform writers in certain periodicals. And even on the stage and screen the 'unfair' business man is always the villain over whom the young, honest man without a dollar eventually triumphs.

"I have found the American business men 95 per cent honest and I don't believe this is true of any other country but our own. The business man has many obligations—to his government, to his competitors, to his customers and to his employers.

"Legislatures in 1924 passed 22,000 measures looking to the hampering of business, and big business especially. In the approximately 150 years of our nation, there have been more national and state laws passed in America than there have been since the dawn of time in foreign countries. Many of these measures are obsolete, although they are still on the statutes, many are products of demagogs and many can't be observed."

GIRL'S DEATH BEING PROBED

Victim's Step-Mother Is Held for Investigation.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Oct. 13.—A grand jury investigation marked today's developments in the probe into the death of pretty 14-year-old Esta Strome of New Carlisle, the girl, who, according to her step mother, died on Sunday, October 3, the day on which she predicted her death. Coroner Theodore Schaffer found the girl was poisoned.

While Clark county grand jurors today quizzed witnesses in the case, the girl's step mother, Mrs. Birdie Strome, was being held for investigation and the body of George Flock, former husband of Mrs. Strome, exhumed yesterday, was being given an examination to determine what caused his death.

Sheriff Walter Lewis said he had found a drug store clerk, Arthur Keigley, who expected to tell the grand jury that a woman answering the description of Mrs. Strome bought some strychnine just before the girl's death.

GENERATION TO PAY BIG DEBT

BY ROBERT S. THORNBURGH.
(I. N. S. Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—With America's public debt of $20,500,000,000 maturing within 23 years and due for retirement in probably 30 years, high treasury officials today came out in solid opposition to a congressional plan which would continue liquidation of this obligation to future generations.

Secretary of the treasury Mellon will urge upon congress a continuation of the present debt paying program, which is averaging something over $700,000,000 annually. Strict adherence to this policy has not only strengthened public credit but has added greatly to the strength of general investment and money markets, treasury officials asserted.

Debt reduction is the best way to bring about tax reduction, in Mellon's view. It was explained that before 1930 the government's interest bill will have been cut at least $150,000,000 annually, as the result of debt retirements, and that the savings in interest will be available to slashing the tax bill.

Thieves Loot Warehouses.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Silk valued at $250,000 was stolen today from the storerooms of Samuel J. Aronshon, a silk merchant, at 17 Madison avenue. Three armed men handcuffed the watchman and drilled through a four-inch wall to get at the silk.

To give small contractors a chance to bid on the grading, the government of Ottawa Canada, is cutting a one-hundred-mile highway into five parts.

TOPPLES FROM HOTEL WINDOW

Wealthy Produce Dealer Meets Tragic Death.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13—Arthur Goodwin, fifty-four, wealthy produce merchant, of Manchester, Engand, plunged to his death from his eleventh floor suite at the hotel Bronztell early today, his body crashing through the glass roof of the hotel restaurant.

There were no indications of suicide and police believe Goodwin slipped and toppled over the window sill while raising the window.

A number of hotel employes were cleaning the restaurant, when Goodwin's body struck the glass roof, crashing through, and landed on one of the tables. Goodwin died while being rushed to a hospital.

Police are not attempting to communicate with relatives in England.

sportsmanship down here. Every decision unfavorable to the Senators created an epidemic of umpire booing and they try their best to rattle the players so they'll drop the foul or the fly they're trying to catch. Still, alls fair in love and war and baseball. It always piques my curiosity when pitcher and catcher confer midway between the box and the plate. I always want to know what they're saying.

Joe Harris makes his third home run of the series and the din is simply deafening. This evens up the score, 2-2. No wonder everybodys nearly frantic. None of the series games so far has been patches of this for sheer excitement. There's a funny thing.

Foul ball bounces off the roof and hits a woman on the ear, and she in high dudgeon throws it back on the field again, but the ump restores it to her with a courtly bow.

The lucky seventn is lucky indeed for the Pirate two runs, no less, and one for the Senators. That makes the score 4 to 3 in favor of the National league and the state of Pennsylvania.

Washington rooters in a daze. They've somehow had the idea since yesterday that the Pirates didn't know so much about baseball. Reserving opinions now, and getting worried. This series is not such a cinch after all and this ball game is the most remarkable thing I ever saw. Fielder making impossible catches and batters making incredibable hits and everybody in a perfect furore.

Ballou Pitches Well.

Begins to look a lot like a Pittsburgh game, though, Ballou goes in to pitch for Washington. He's only been with the team since the middle of August but he's noted for his nerve in a pinch, and strikes out Pie Traynor on three pitched balls. Washington stands take a new lease on life, and start howling constant monotonous clap of hands.

Ballou does well, but his place is taken by Zachary in the last of the seventh, and then what happens? More hits than you can count and two more runs, for the Pirates. Well, it's their own fault. They were warned of what the Pirates would do to a left hander. Beginning the last of the eighth. Score is five to three favor of Pittsburgh. Only a miracle can give the Senators the series with this ball game, anyway. And incidentally only the same miracle can keep four hundred baseball scribes and countless fans from having to journey back to Pittsburgh tonight, for another game.

Ninth inning. Pittsburgh gets another run. Their sixth, side retires in a stat of complete satisfaction and basemen go the bases "with a bring on your worst now attitude." Uproar is terrible and never ceases. The plea of Washington for a last minute rally. But they don't get it.

Contributes $100.000 To Finance Another Polar Expedition

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 13.—Lieutenant Lincoln Ellsworth, Ohio aviator and heir to a fortune, has given $100,000, or the first third of the amount necessary to finance the next polar dash, via dirigible, made by Captain Roald Amundsen. The announcement was made today by the Norwegian air union. Ellsworth accompanied Amundsen on his attempted airplane flight to the pole and will be aboard the dirigible when it starts north.

Ellsworth's father, who died while his son was still missing in the Arctic regions, was a principal backer of the airplane flight, from which, the union said, a surplus of 640,000 Kronen, or $125,000, remained.

Criticism of Nation's

while testifying. He declared it was the war department's firm opinion that the "doughboy" won the war.

As for the "lack of funds," blamed by many witnesses for the army's failure to develop aviation, Drum laid the responsibility directly at the door of the white house.

An $80,000,000 program for new air equipment, planned by the war department, Drum said, had to be abandoned because of this economy.

Because of this economy, Drum testified, all army organizations in the United States are under-manned and have only 80 per cent of their authorized officer personnel, our foreign garrisons are far below peace strength and the department has great difficulty in carrying out the training of the national guard and organized reserves.

Asks Additional Appropriation.

"The war department has prepared the army as a whole to fulfill its national defense obligations," Drum added. "Its forces are balanced in accordance with national defense requirement. It has followed no 'shooting star' or 'rainbow.' Considering the personnel and funds at hand, the army air service is in excellent shape.

"The formation of an air corps within or without the army would not remedy conditions in the air service, unless large additional appropriations over these now given to national defense, were to be appropriated for its use.

"Every branch of the army, not alone the air service, is in need of additional funds for efficient preparation for war. The war department has been and is loyally endeavoring to execute the directions of its commander-in-chief, the president, in pursuance of his economy program. In doing so, the war department has avoided adoption of general measures leading to increased expense.

"Any marked increase in the air service will involve large additional expenditures."

Taking up each recommendation for a new air policy, Drum characterized them as dangerous to the national defense.

"The establishment of a separate air force independent of the army cannot be justified on any grounds whatever," Drum continued.

"The idea behind all these plans is the same. It means separation instead of union. It means aggravating our present difficulties instead of applying a remedy. It will mean aid and assistance for our enemies instead of their destruction and downfall.

It will mean defeat in war instead of victory."

the Second Church, Cleveland, were also to attend the meeting to submit evidence showing why the Cleveland Presbytery believes that Rev. Mr. Shaw should no longer be an ordianed minister of the church and urge his expulsion.

In the absence of Rev. C. R. Cheeks, pastor of the Calcutta United Presbyterian church and moderator of the Presbytery, who was unable to attend the meeting because of a funeral service, the two sessions of the Presbytery today were in charge of Rev. L. F. Patterson, pastor of the West Beaver United Presbyterian church, near West Point, vice moderator.

Shaw, in a defense of his preaching asserts that "I do not heal anybody. God heals people when they have faith enough." Among the many cures, which are alleged to have been brought about through faith since the evangelist opened his series of Cleveland meetings are heart trouble of 32 years' standing; tumor removed without operation; deaf and dumb entirely cured; floating kidney and catarrah of stomach.

Conducted Services Here.

Rev. Mr. Shaw defines his preaching as the "whole gospel." He holds that the Bible teaches "the healing of the body from disease by faith as well as the healing of the soul from sin."

The minister assisted John Sproul, Pittsburgh war veteran, in a series of faith healing services first held in a tent near Glenmoor and later in the High School auditorium here just two years ago, when the Toronto church granted him a leave of absence. His meetings here were regarded as highly successful and later he resigned his charge to enter the evangelistic field. His family resides in Cleveland where he has been conducting revival services in temporary tabernacles which have been erected in various parts of the city.

The First Church was represented at today's meeting by Rev. L. J. Davison, pastor, and W. W. Sloan while Dr. J. O. Campbell, pastor, and D. F. White were delegates from the Second Church. Dr. W. J. Grimes, New Concord, superintendent of the Ohio Synod, who has been visiting in Pittsburgh, came here last night to accompany the local church men to the Presbyterian meeting.

Lunch was served at the noon hour. The afternoon session was scheduled to open about 1:30 o'clock and will probably end late this afternoon, delegates returning home tonight.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Steel stocks received a good impetus, in the early trading today, from the unfilled tonnage report of the Steel corporation published after the close of business on Saturday. Bethlehem improved a point or more at the opening, and sold at the best prices for the movement in the first half hour.

The steel and industrial stocks were soon pushed aside by the motor stocks, however, in which the volume of business was enormous, and appears to be as strenuous as when prices were from 10 to 80 points lower. General Motors passed easily through 120; Dodge pushed upward to around 45 on extremely heavy transactions; Studebaker reached a new high at 62; Willys-Overland, Packard, Pierce Arrow, Hudson, United States Rubber, Stewart Warner, Fisher Body, Timken and other prominent members of the motor family absorbed the major share of speculative attention, and trading in this section of the market in the first hour was as heavy as in any session since the first of September.

for money, the meanest of all the many occupations. But every woman should be engaged in "intellectual activity" and most of them are fortunately. You don't have to be a female lawyer of doctor to be intellectually active.

English women of rank and fashion and many with money but without rank or fashion "are turning pink". That means they are joining the Socialist Labor party, following in the wake of Lady Cynthia Moseley, daughter of the Marquis of Curzon. If she runs for parliament on the Socialist ticket there must be something in it.

That happened in America. Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont, formerly Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt and Mrs. Clarence MacKay, now Mrs. Joseph Blake, "went in" for female suffrage when it was new. They lectured and urged and many estimate suburban ladies joined for fashion's sake.

All very old. When Parmentier introduced the potato vine into France the potatoes grew, but nobody would eat them. They were queer, from America and therefore suspicious.

The king ordered his nobles to wear potato blossoms in their buttonholes to make them fashionable. That changed the situation. When the nobles wore the blossoms the common people ate the potatoes.

Bishop William Montgomery Brown of Arkansas in his old age is to be deposed. That probably is just. If he does not agree with other bishops they have a right to part from him.

In one way the aged bishop is to be congratulated. In the year 1925 he will not be compelled to appear barefoot, dressed in sackcloth with a cord around his neck.

He will not have to kneel down vowing that he "retracts, abjures and abhors his heresy," and he will not be told that he can take his voice between rejecting, adjuring, abhorring and being burned alive.

We do unpleasant things still. But we do them less unpleasantly.

As the new week begins allies and Germans are gathering on some kind of league of nations or agreement not to cut each other's throat. Germany will come into the league. Good luck and more power to them.

May they have their league. May it be the most successful and may they have it to themselves

Ever have ECZEMA?

Hope you never did—hope you never will. Of all the awful itching, burning, agonizing breakings out of the skin, eczema is the worst. It's terrible.

You know it, too, if you have it. Makes you miserable all over—just tears your nerves to pieces—embarrasses you and lowers your efficiency.

But listen! You can stop eczema! S. S. S. does it. The blood is where the real trouble is. Poor blood and eczema go together. Lack of healthy, rich, red blood allows impurities to get into the system and break out through the skin. That's eczema.

S. S. S. puts the blood back in fighting trim—puts the "pep" back in the blood. Red-blood-cells destroy the impurities—purify the system. Eczema, boils, pimples, blotches, blackheads, rashes and other skin eruptions vanish—leaving the skin clear, cool and healthy.

Thousands have dried up eczema with S. S. S. Just try it. Get S. S. S. at your druggist. Ask him for the larger bottle. It's more economical.

Dope Kills Battery, Willard Storage Co. Dealer Points Out

It is the most natural thing in the world to be attracted by claims of wonderful solutions that charge batteries instantly, especially if you have had any recent trouble with that particular accessory to your radio set.

A storage battery is made of lead and lead compounds which absorb acid from the battery solution as it delivers current.

To begin with, the battery is fully charged and has a solution which contains the proper amount of acid. Because the plates absorb this acid as it discharges some slight-of-hand artists have been making a nice living by pouring more acid into it. Of course, the additional acid makes the battery operative. But soon the plates are saturated with the acid and the addition of more "dope" has no effect. The battery then must be charged. This forces the acid out of the plates and then there's the dickens to pay.

According to E. L. Goodwin, Willard Storage Battery company, dealer in East Liverpool, the battery solution becomes too strong in such cases and some of it has to be taken out and replaced with distilled water. The innocent radio fan has been palmed by the doper for acid he didn't really want, certainly didn't need and finally had to throw away. There's no secret about the dopes at all, but it is best to let only an authorized battery service station take care of storage batteries.

Ohio Power Company Offers Customer-Ownership Stock

Shares, Placed on Market at $95 and Dividend, Sold for Cash and on Easy Payments.

An interesting sidelight on the financial condition of residents of this section and their general desire to place their money in a safe investment paying substantial dividends is shown in the experiences of the employes of The Ohio Power company, who are now selling their company's preferred stock. Although the shares were offered to local people but a short time ago, a substantial amount has already been sold

The sale of preferred stock is particularly interesting because it is in line with a principle which is playing an important part in the business of public utility companies throughout the country. This new idea, commonly known as Customer-Ownership, is based on the realization that it is good business for a large concern to have the good will of its neighbors and to share its prosperity with them.

Through ownership of the preferred stock the company's customers will share in the money paid out as dividends to stockholders every three months while the company will gain through a friendlier relationship with the public.

The stock, which is priced at $95.00 and dividend a share is sold both for cash and on easy payment plan, calling for monthly payments of $10.00. It is cumulative, making it necessary for the company to pay its dividends in full before a penny is paid on the common stock and is preferred as to assets to the extent of $100.00 and dividend per share.

Dividends are paid by the company on March 1, June 1, September 1, and December 1. Those buying shares on the easy payment plan will receive interest at 5 per cent a year on the regular dividend dates until the stock is paid for, at which time they will be entitled to receive the regular dividend which, at present price of the stock, amounts to more than 6¼ per cent a year.

TWO COURTS IN SESSION HERE

Judge Walter Jones of Miami County Helping With Work.

With two branches of common pleas court in session and with court activity assured during the remainder of the September term, there is reason for believing that several hundred cases will be disposed of during the term. Three juries were in the box Monday, one in No. 1 and two in No. 2 court room. The case in No. 1 took longer to try than did the first in No. 2, and when a verdict was returned by the jury in No. 1, it was excused Monday afternoon until Tuesday. The second jury was in the box when court adjourned in No. 2 Monday afternoon.

Judge Walter D. Jones of Miami county is presiding in No. 2 court, while Judge James G. Moore is in No. 1.

The case of Oliver Patterson against Donald Jones tried to a jury in No. 2 resulted in a verdict being returned for $100 in favor of the plaintiff.

A jury in No. 1 which heard the evidence in the case of Lillian Beach against Lawrence Bailey returned a verdict for $300 in favor of the plaintiff. The plaintiff was the former wife of the defendant. They operated a restaurant in the East End, East Liverpool. The action was to recover $360 which the plaintiff claimed to have loaned the defendant when he went into business.

In the case of the Ryan Dawson Co., and Ryan Manufacturing Co., against Charles A. Smith, this action was settled out of court at the costs of the defendant. It was filed July 26, 1922.

Another settlement at the plaintiffs costs was the action of Fred Santel against John M. Smith and others, which was filed Sept. 5, 1922. This cause was also adjusted without the case going to trial.

For want of prosecution, the case of Clement Lee against Fred H. Arnold has been dismissed by Judge Moore. It was filed Feb. 8, 1923.

On the motion of the plaintiff and at his costs, the case of James C. Mcmillan against Whit Hanlin has been dismsised from the record. This also is one of the older cases on the docket, having been filed Sept. 4, 1923.

The $20,000 action filed Aug. 31, 1923 by Richard Cullen, an infant through his next friend against J. W. Cheswyn has been settled. A jury in this case was waived and there was a trial to the court. Judgment for $100 and costs was returned in favor of the plaintiff.

The case filed Aug. 4, 1923 by Abraham Burlingame against the Youngstown & Ohio River railroad Co., has also been settled. A jury was waived in this cause, there was a trial to the court and judgment for $225 in favor of the plaintiff, and a decree of foreclosure ordered by Judge Moore.

The Masonic Temple Co., of Salem, in its action against W. R. Phillips has been given a verdict of $118.25 in No. 1 court. A jury was empaneled and it returned a verdict immediately. The action was based upon an agreement to purchase stock in the plaintiff corporation.

Leave to answer has been extended until Nov. 10th to E. H. Altgouse as defendant in an action pending in common pleas court wherein John E. Smith is plaintiff. The answer in this case was to have been filed Oct. 10th.

In the apepal case of George Groscoss against Frank Mitcheson which was for a judgment for $42 rendered in a court of a justice of the peace, the court has granted leave to file an answer by Oct. 24.

ELKTON ROAD TO BE IMPROVED

Temporary improvement of the rough section of the Elkton road has been ordered by the county commissioners. Refuse from the dump banks of the American Vitrified Clay Products Co., is to be used for this purpose. The steam shovel of the county will be put to work on the banks to load trucks, and after the refuse has been leveled, the road will be rolled.

It is proposed to make a 10-foot solid roadway along this highway, which is one of the roads placed on the road improvement by the commissioners for its 1926 program. The refuse from this clay plant is known to make an excellent foundation for future surfacing. Probably two weeks will be required to repair this road between the Y. & O. tracks at Lisbon and the east end of the paved section of the Elkton road at Elkton.

Action Filed.

The sale of a car of rubber is the basis of a suit filed in common pleas by Lowenthal & Co., of Akron against Meyer Pazer of East Palestine. The petition which was filed by Attorney W. W. Beck declares that Pazer, who is a junk dealer at East Palestine failed to deliver a car of rubber bought by them, and that there is due them $3,300 for the 15,000 pounds. Interest at six per cent is asked on this claim dating from July 20th, last.

Seek Road Improvement.

A petition has been filed with the county commissioners praying for the improvement of the road leading from Duntown, a section of the West Point district, to Marcas' store. The petitioners have also agreed in their petition to donate labor or money on this road. It is claimed that this road is almost impassable in the winter and spring season. The petitioners would be satisfied if the road was given a slag surface.

Meetings Scheduled For Discussion of $950,000 Bond Issue

Attorney W. H. Vodrey is to be asked to address a meeting of Clarkson grange Wednesday night and explain the $950,000 bond issue proposed by the county commissioners for good road purposes. The Middleton township trustees will speak at this meeting and also a representative of the county commissioners.

Mr. Vodrey is to be asked to deliver the same address he did at the Knox township road meeting at North Georgetown last Saturday afternoon, at which time Attorney L. M. Kyes of East Palestine also spoke.

The grange meeting at Clarkson is to be an open one, and although grangers from neighboring townships have been invited, all others in the Clarkson district not affiliated with the grange are also asked to attend the meeting.

A meeting of Farm Bureau members is scheduled to be held at New Waterford Wednesday night at which time John McBane Kerr of Yellow Creek township, and president of the County Farm Bureau, will speak on the road bond issue. Mr. Kerr is a member of the Yellow Creek board of township trustees, and this is the first Farm Bureau meeting he has been called upon to talk about the proposed road program for next year.

Attorney L. M. Kyes of East Palestine will speak on the 1926 road program and proposed bond issue at a meeting of farmers and residents of the Homeworth district at Homeworth Tuesday night.

A road meeting is being planned by the residents of Hanover township to be held at the Hanoverton town hall, but the date has not been selected. It may be held within the next 10 days, however.

For the purpose of providing funds to pay Knox township's share of the improvement of the Harrisburg-Westville public road, extending west from Westville direct toward Alliance, the county commissioners will open bids for $20,000 at 10 o'clock the morning of Nov. 2.

The bonds will bear 5 per cent interest and will not be sold for less than par and accrued interest. After the bids for the issue have been opened, the issue will then be offered to verbal bidders.

Case Settled.

After lengthy court contests, the case of Gertrude M. Patterson against Annie Thomas has been settled out of court, according to Attorney James Pickering of Minerva, representing Mrs. Patterson.

Patterson committed suicide more than a year ago. A few days before, however, he changed the beneficiary in his insurance policy. After his death, the matter reached the courts, and went from common pleas to the court of appeals. The settlement gives the widow of Patterson the insurance money. Annie Thomas, the defendant in the case that was to come up for trial Monday is a niece.

Suit Instituted.

Sarah Jane Mitchala has filed an action in common pleas court against James L. Hanna administrator of the estate of Erbuis E. Hanna, deceased. The plaintiff claims $3,016 due her for service rendered the defendant and also money loaned him during his lifetime.

Twenty tennis courts are to be installed in Wimpleton Park, London.

Pirates and Nats Back In Smoky City For Deciding Game

By David J. Walsh.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13.—There was a slightly bullish trend to the Pittsburgh market this morning as the Pirates and Senators prepare to fare forth for the sixth game of the world series, the bulls growling deeply of an injury to Walter Johnson and the accepted fact that Dutch Ruether was a left handed gentleman or something. Ruether was the general choice as Washington pitcher today and unfortunately he was one of those wrong-handed individuals upon which the Pirates were believed to dote.

Their record was something like one left hander born a minute and another to knock him off. Yet Washington had little choice. It could pitch Alex Ferguson, a right handed young man of uncertain possibilities, or Reuther, a million dollar money pitcher with a left handed complex. The general idea was that Ruether would be the selection, Washington needing this game no more than it needs its mounment.

Victory, as a matter of fact, meant the series was over and the Senators were returned the winners for the second time in as many years. Defeat meant that the club would have to enter the seventh and final game with not the slightest assurance that Walter Johnson was ready for action.

The young man limped palpably in working out with the club yesterday and if he is no better tomorrow, Washington might just as well fold up its tent like the Arabs and silently steal away.

In brief, the thing meant that, Reuther failing tomorrow, Johnson simply had to turn up present for the final game of the Washington ball club was due to finish second in a series, it seemed to have had already won. However, Reuther was not supposed to be a push-over today.

You push Dutch Reuther over just about as readily as you push over the rock of Gibraltar, Pittsburgh's preference for left handers to the contrary notwithstanding or otherwise.

Ruether was the big "money" pitcher of the Washington outfit today. Ferguson had the reputation of having eased the Senators into the pennant but no seven-inning pitcher would do today. Stanley Harris wanted nine innings of baseball and the best way to get it was to start Dutch Reuther.

The Pittsburgh nominee was Ray Kremer, who weighed in with something of a natty performance in the third game of the series. Johnson raised him five dollars and took the pot. He just simply couldn't miss. Kremer, however, uncovered sufficient stuff to entitle him to another shot at the big money.

The sudden change of locale from Washington to Pittsburgh meant a rapid switch in the odds from 6 to 1 on Washington to 6 to 5 on the same ball club. There was not a buffalo nickel to prove it, however. The boys might flourish bank rolls in and around this series but they are careful to keep the same in the crook of their index finger.

Washington, of course, remained the public choice because it needed only one ball game to Pittsburgh's two, but the matter of Mr. Reuther being left handed and Mr. Johnson being flat footed placed an element of uncertainty upon the situation.

As a matter of fundamental fact, the only thing certain about today's game was that Stuffy McInnes would continue to play first base for the remainder of the series. He might not be able to move off the edge of a dime on defense, but the punch of his hitting is something the Pirates cannot afford to laugh at.

FUNNY GAME, THIS BASEBALL

Golf Club Pro Gives His Views On Big Series.

EDITOR'S NOTE:—One of the most interested spectators at the world's series games has been Peter Jackson, professional at the Indian Spring Golf club, just outside the capital. He saw his baseball game not many months ago when he came to the United States from a famous English course, and has become an enthusiastic convert. The following represents his impression of the sixth game yesterday.

By Peter Jackson.
(Indian Spring Golf Club Professional)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Well, as I understand it, the Washington's had them dormie three and the match now goes to the Pittsburgh course, which our lads tell me is a short layout as the yardage, with a lot of trick holes.

Yesterday's game, I should say, was a match of foozled drives and missed putts on the part of the Washingtons. There were numerous times when a solid smack or a long putt would have been very useful to the Senators, but usually some Pirate arranged a stymie or some Senator blew his chance

There was the fourth hole, for instance. The Washingtons had one run already in to square the match, and Muddy Ruel and Ossie Bluege were nicely on the green. Coveleskie missed his drive completely—fanning, he did—and there was Sam Rice, an eighty golfer and a 350 hitter, up. He hit the ball on the toe of his club and sliced it down the first base line where McInnis—a good Scotch name that—scooped it up, and the opportunity was lost. True, they got a half for the inning, but halves don't win matches.

Sam partially made up for that slice in the next inning, though, for he kissed a wind-cheater straight down the alley and brought Leibold home.

Those Pittsburgers were hitting too well off the tees yesterday for the Washingtons. When your opponent is socking 'em down the middle for 275 and 300 yards, playing his chip shots dead, and then holding out in regulation fashion, its right discouraging.

Funny game, this baseball—a long, clean put out in the middle usually don't mean much, but a half-topped one that slithers off in front of the tee and bounces crazy-like, does the business. And there seem to be a premium for knocking them out of bounds into the spectators that line the course. But it's a great game.

CUBS HOLD 3 TO 1 LEAD OVER SOX

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Chicago baseball fans were greeted by clear skies here today, under which to watch the White Sox fight with their back to the wall in a last attempt to keep the little series title from the threatening Cubs. In order to win the championship, the Sox will find it necessary to win three successive games. By virtue of a 3 to 1 win from the Sox yesterday, the Cubs boasted three games to the Sox's single victory.

The youthful Tony Kaufman pitched a wonderful game for the Cubs yesterday, holding the Sox hitless for five innings and allowing them to pass first but five times during the remainder of the game. Ted Lyons was on the mound for the Sox.

FINLEY-JONES BATTLE TONIGHT

YOUNGSTOWN, Oct. 13.—Jimmy Finley, the Louisville, Ky., battler, who will meet Jimmy Jones in the first indoor boxing show at Rayen-Wood auditorium tonight, shapes up as one of the most likely looking youngsters that Jones has been called upon to tackle in some time. Finley, a youngster who has been boxing since 1921, has had 150 fights, winning 50 of them by the K. O. route.

Alvie Miller will tackle Eddie Bowen in the eight-round semi-final. George Harris will tackle Jimmy Corbett, of Niles, in the second prelim.

Aldrich has an unpleasant habit of tightening up in the pinches. If he hadn't we might all have been taking the first train back home.

WITH SENATORS ON BASES AS THEY WON FOURTH GAME

Pitching Situation Considerably Befogged Before Sixth Game; Both Managers Would Appreciate a Day of Rain.

By Sid Mercer.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13. — Although the entire cast of the 1925 world series returned to Pittsburgh this morning for the sixth act, the demeanor of the local citizenry indicates a deplorable lack of confidence in the ability of the chastened Pirates to pull the title out of the fire by winning today and tomorrow.

Washington hopes the agony will be over today but is a little apprehensive of what might happen if the Pirates win again today and Walter Johnson is not able to pitch the seventh game.

The pitching situation is considerably befogged this morning. Another day of rain might relieve both managers of the necessity of calling on boxmen who could use another day of rest before starting the sixth game. The experts anticipate that Kremer will be McKechnie's first choice and Morrison and Yde the reserves. The Washington nomination will likely fall to Ferguson.

Kremer and Ferguson opposed each other in the Saturday game in Washington, the former going eight innings and the latter only seven, under the circumstances both should be fairly well equipped to start again today.

The pitching would be easier to dope out if Meadows and Johnson were not crippled. Meadows last night expressed the opinion that he was done for the series. His lame elbow has not responded as quickly to treatment as he hoped it would.

While the opinion prevails that Washington will win eventually, a victory for the Pirates today will be most distressing for the American league champions. That is why the Harris men are going to put everything they have into today's punch to obviate the necessity of a seventh game.

Johnson's condition may be the deciding factor, if it narrows down to one decisive game. His injury in the Sunday game was a torn thigh muscle. It stiffened him up after the game and he limped through light practice yesterday. He may work his soreness out today and he may not.

Even the threat of a lame Johnson is enough to make the Pirates worry. If they stagger through and win today, they will be on the short end tomorrow with any pitcher McKechnie may select.

OBERLIN IS NEXT FOR MOUNT UNION

ALLIANCE, Oct. 13.—Coach Thorpe used many combinations throughout the Ashland game Saturday in order to test his reserve strength for the Oberlin game on next Saturday at Oberlin. Some real strength was discovered especially in the offensive work of Fullback Armstrong with his punting and Captain Ball at tackle and Burkle at Center on the defense. All men came out of the Ashland melee without injury, so they should be in excellent shape for the Oberlin game. Some veterans have been on the semi-injured list but will be ready to start Saturday.

Oberlin will be the scene of Mount Union's migration on next Saturday. Several hundred students and city fans, headed by the Mount Union band will invade Oberlin in the hope that Mount Union will keep their slate clear at the expense of Oberlin.

They say Joe Judge hasn't been the same since he was beaned in the closing days of the season. He may be all wet at bat, but ti takes a real ball player to do an Annette Kellerman after a ball the way he did in the fourth on Carey's sock down the base line. The dive was so high he had to do the Australian crawl to first for the put out.

BUCKY STARS AS NATS WIN

Stanley Harris, Washington manager, makes a beautiful steal of third base in the seventh inning of the fourth game of the world's series, won by the Nats, 4 to 0. He performed brilliantly in the infield in the contest.

BERLENBACH SHOWS HEAVYWEIGHT FORM IN BEATING SOLOMON

Gives Jewish Heavy Nearly 20 Pounds and Has Him Out On His Feet When Referee Stops Scrap In Ninth Round of New York Scrap.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Paul Berlenbach today appeared in the light of a real threat in the heavyweight ranks in case he should ever feel called on to expand the realm of the light—heavyweight kingdom. This came as the result of his workmanlike disposal of King Solomon in the nine rounds in the closing open air program yesterday. He gave the Jewish heavyweight nearly twenty pounds.

And had him out on his feet when the referee stopped the fight.

Sid Terris, the east side flash and fought ten fast but unconvincing rounds. Terris had Bernstein down once and Sid himself slipped and fell, about at the same time he stopped a left in his stomach. Terris got the decision, his second Bernstein

Joe Celmars, of Hoboken, substituted for Johnny Dundee when illness kept the latter from meeting Babe Herman, and surprised Babe and others by carrying the Californian to a fast ten round draw. Jimmy Kelly, the Babe's manager, said he would claim Dundee's $2,500 forfeit, as well as the world featherweight title that Dundee still said was his.

Stan Harris either threw too soon or too late in his attempt to nip Cuyler off third base. Stanley had the play right in front of him on the runner going down from second; yet didn't wait long enough or too long, as the case might have been, in trying the play, for Kiki pulled up at third just as Barnhart romped all over second for a double steal.

M'CARTHY NEW CUBS' LEADER

American Association Pilot Goes to Chicago.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—The Chicago Cubs greeted a new leader today. He is Joe Vincent McCarthy, American Association maker of champion baseball teams. Rumors that McCarthy was to assume the managership of the Cubs were brought to a climax last night by the signing of a two-year contract with officials of the Cubs.

McCarthy has been in league baseball since 1907, during which time he has been with a second division team but once. He became manager of the Louisville Colonels in 1919, succeeding Patsy Flaherty, now a Cub scout.

Bluege makes a big difference. He handled five chances perfectly yesterday, which is several more than Buddy Myer undertook in his two games. The Pirates are probably big-hearted and like to see a young fellow get along.

HOME RUN HITTER IS RECOVERING

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Babe Ruth, whose illness forced him to come home from the world series games, was much improved today. He may not have to undergo an operation, as was feared.

Dr. Edward King has been treating the absess from which Ruth is suffering.

So improved was the bambino's condition today that he was making plans to leave for the Maine woods tomorrow on a hunting trip with other ball players

BULLDOGS TIE WITH HILLTOPS

The Lamborn Bulldogs played a scoreless tie yesterday at Deidrick hill with the Hilltop Athletics. The Athletics are looking for more games. Call 689-J.

The lineups:

Moon Harris apparently has the home run complex. Goose Goslin, being a jealous young fellow, probably is glad the series is going into extra innings. He likes that cracker box field in this town. But so does Joe we suppose.

'Blossom Time,' Musical Comedy Success, Booked For Oct. 21

Franz Shubert's Broadway Hit Will Make Farewell Appearance at Ceramic Theatre Next Week.

"Blossom Time", considered the most magnificent musical comedy success in years, will be presented under auspices of Messrs. Lee and J. J. Shubert for one night only, Wednesday, October 21, at the Ceramic theatre. This will be the last opportunity for playgoers to see this charming play as it is now in the course of its farewell tour, embracing the leading cities and a limited few of the smaller ones.

The company which will appear in East Liverpool is regarded as the uniformly best which has been assembled for the Franz Schubert piece. In the organization of sixty will be found such well known names as Joseph Mendelsohn, (the original New York and London Franz Schubert) Shep Camp, Gene Leontovitch, Beulah Berson, Arthur Hadley, Cuni Berti, Henry Rabke, Lillian Menken, Isabel Vernon, Betty Shapells, Kraft Walton, James Sheridan, Edward Kirby, William Kelsey, Donald Lubeck, William Webster, Marie Dantes, Ben Chashelson, Harry F. Scott, Freda Melburn and large and distinctive group of dancing girls and show girls.

The usual elaborate new Shubert production will be in vogue. An augmented orchestra will execute the beautiful score and will be under the direction of Theodore Coleman, recently borrowed by the Messrs Shubert from the Metropolitan Opera. As this is the last presentation of "Blossom Time" in this city the Ceramic management is certain that a capacity or turn-away house will be the rule.

WORLD'S SERIES SIDELIGHTS

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 13.—Earl Smith tried to go wandering about with Goslin's goat. Earl almost succeeded, Goslin only getting two hits in four times at bat.

Stan Harris and Rice decided to hold a conference at the plate during one of several Washington pinches. Friend Earl joined them. He was as welcome as cauliflower in March.

Coveleskie may have won three games for Cleveland in the 1920 series, but there is no doubt that he has lost two this year. At that, A. B. C. support should have won the first one for him.

The "experts" touted the Pirates as the heavier hitting team before the start of the series. At least, the "experts" can point to yesterday's struggle for justification, because for the first time the Pittsburgh gentlemen outsmote the Senators, 13 to 8.

STRAND OFFERS CLASSY SHOW

"Song Box Revue" "Opens Week's Engagement Here.

Lovers of musical comedy are sure of a real treat in the offering of the "Song Box Revue" company, which opened a week's engagement at the Strand Theatre, yesterday.

The bill is perhaps one of the best to appear at the playhouse so far this season. A company of 18 stars, the majority of them girls, makes up the cast.

The principal comedy role is in the hands of Bart Crawford, blackface comedian, Bret and Young, listed as specialty dancers offer a dancing skit which brought considerable applause. Another of the several vaudeville specialties, presented during the show, was an act by Vardo and Kinney, with violin and accordian instruments.

Another hit of the show was a dancing act in which the "Scandal walk", "Bowery", "Cake Walk", and "Waltz of Long ago" are presented. The favorite dance steps in Scotland, Ireland, Holland, Russia, China, United States and other lands, presented in another specialty, was also appreciated.

The chorus is made up of eight pretty girls, whose wardrobe consists of a half dozen or more changes in costumes. Stage settings and drops are also elaborate. The photoplay for the first two days of the week is "Up the Ladder" with an all-star cast.

The bill will change Wednesday and again on Friday with complete new shows on both dates.

Stuffy McInnis, who once did the Charleston in that million dollar infield of Connie Mack's, at last crashed into the game in his own right. One hit out of five efforts and a perfect day afield marked his efforts.

BEBE DANIELS AND HARRISON FORD IN THE PARAMOUNT PICTURE 'LOVERS IN QUARANTINE'

HIGHER TEACHER STANDARD IS SET

Effective July 1, 1926, higher standards must be attained by those aspiring to enter the teaching profession of West Virginia. At its meeting Friday the state board of education decided that an over-supply of teachers justified stricter requirements. Accordingly, high school graduates will not receive temporary certificates by virtue of their diplomas, but will be required to attend normal school for at least nine weeks. To obtain a first grade one-year temporary certificate the applicant must attend two summer terms of normal school, or a half year.

More than 2,000 temporary certificates were issued this year.

The state board of education concluded its work and adjourned without meeting Saturday as had been planned. However, it was decided to meet again on Nov. 6 in Huntington, probably at the Pritchard hotel, at the time of the convention of the State Education association.

DISTRICT SCHOOL ENROLLMENT 839

Grant district school enrollment totals 839 students, according to a report made today by R. L. Hoke, district superintendent and principal of the high school. This is an increase over last year of approximately 100 pupils.

The enrollment is divided as follows: Senior high school 34, junior high school 108, Newell grade rooms 358, rural schools 339.

Scarlet fever cases here are diminishing, further spread of the malady being combatted by the efforts of Dr. John B. Ahouse, county health agent, and Miss Brown, county health nurse, who were here during the past week.

Attending Ball Game.

Large number of baseball fans are in Pittsburgh today attending the sixth game of the world series between Pittsburgh and Washington. Many plan to remain over night in the event the Pirates win today and deadlock the series.

Hallowe'en Party Planned.

Final plans will be completed this week for the annual Hallowe'en party to be given by the employes of the six shops of the Homer Laughlin China company. The dance will probably be held in the Eagles hall, East Liverpool.

Soccer Team To Practice.

Homer Laughlin China soccer team plans to hold several practice sessions this week in preparation for the opening game on the Newell field Saturday with the strong New Castle club. The pottery squad has not been defeated during the present season and expect to keep the slate clean at the expense of the Pennsylvanians.

Predict Long Court Term.

The term of circuit court which opens at New Cumberland on Monday, Nov. 16, will probably extend over a period of several weeks, as in addition to the heavy list of criminal cases a large number of civil actions will be heard. The grand jury will meet Monday, Nov. 9.

Labor shifts at German coal mines now are eight hours underground and 10 hours above ground, with recesses.

During a lull in the leather business recently 200,000 hides were held in piles at Montevideo, Uruguay.

Corns on Both Feet Spoiled Pretty Mrs. Frederick's Dancing

Spent 25c and Corns Came Off in 2 Days

Fond of dancing was Mrs. Velme Frederick, 1112 High St., Ft. Wayne, Ind., "but I could take no pleasure in it," she says, "for I had corns on both feet. "My dad had used 'Blue-jay' Corn Plasters so successfully that he told me to try them. I got a package of 'Blue-jay' (six plasters for 25c) and put one on each toe. They relieved the pain at once. I wore them two or three days, then soaked my feet and both corns came right out with the plasters."

Have you ever seen "Blue-jay" Plasters—a small soft felt pad that encircles the corn and removes the shoe pressure, hence gives instant relief. It's attached to a neat adhesive strip that holds it in place on the toe. In the center, the "Blue-jay" preparation—not too much—not too little—just the right dose to loosen the corn in 48 hours. When you soak off the plaster, out comes the corn. Sometimes, not often, a stubborn corn may require a second plaster.

"Blue-jay" is made in liquid too, but we recommend the Plaster, for it goes to the right spot and nowhere else. Any liquid might run off the corn onto good skin. And you might drop too much on, or not enough.

Stop at the drug store for six safe, sure, swift "Blue-jay" Plasters, only 25c. Don't fool with uncertain remedies.
